Twentieth-century Spanish American literature to 1960 David William Foster, Daniel Altamiranda, 1997 Meets the needs of today's teachers and students Gathered to meet the upsurge of interest in Latin America this collection features major critical articles dealing with the authors and texts customarily taught in colleges and universities in the United States The articles are in English and Spanish with a predominance of the former Surveys a dynamic and exciting area of research Four Latin American writers have won the Nobel Prize for Literature Guatemalan Miquel Angel Asturias Chilean Gabriela Mistral Colombian Gabriel Garcia Marquez and Chilean Pablo Neruda Also internationally recognized are the Argentine Jorge Luis Borges the Mexican Carlos Fuentes and the Chilean Isabel Allende to name only a few Moreover the sociopolitical circumstances of the past four decades of Latin American history and the growing importance of the region have resulted in the creation of Latin American studies programs in numerous American universities All of this literary activity has inspired innumerable dissertations theses books and journal articles Explores contemporary Latin American issues and concerns In the face of such an enormous proliferation of commentary students of Latin America and its literature need a body of basic texts that will provide them an orientation in the various research areas and new schools of thought that have emerged in the field Particularly important are the essays and articles that have appeared in periodicals and other sources that Anglo American readers often find difficult to obtain Individual volumes available Vol 1 Theoretical Debates in Spanish American Literature 448 pages 0 8153 2676 9 Vol 2 Writers of the Spanish Colonial Period 456 pages 0 8153 2678 5 Vol 3 From Romanticism to Modernismo in Latin American Literature 352 pages 0 8153 2680 7 Vol 5 Twentieth Century Spanish American Literature Since 1960 416 pages 0 8153 2681 5 The Ends of Literature Brett Levinson, 2001 The Ends of Literature analyzes the part played by literature within contemporary Latin American thought and politics above all the politics of neoliberalism The why of contemporary Latin American literature is the book's overarching concern Its wide range includes close readings of the prose of Cortázar Carpentier Paz Valenzuela Piglia and Las Casas of the relationship of the Boom movement and its aftermath of testimonial narrative and of contemporary Chilean and Chicano film The work also investigates in detail various theoretical projects as they intersect with and emerge from Latin American scholarship cultural studies deconstruction psychoanalysis and postcolonial studies Latin American literature both as a vehicle of conservatism and as an agent of subversion is bound from its inception to the rise of the state Literature's nature role and status are therefore altered when the Latin American nation state succumbs to the process of neoliberalism as the too strong state dictatorship yields to the too weak state the market and as the various practices of civil society and public life are replaced by private or privatized endeavors However neither the end of literature nor the end of the state can be assumed The end of literature in Latin America is in fact the call for more literature it is the call of literature in particular that of the Boom The end of the state likewise is the demand upon this state The book then analyzes the ends in question as at once their purpose direction future and conclusion Also key to the study is the notion of transition Within much recent Latin American political discussion la transición refers to the passage from dictatorship to democracy as well as to the failure of this shift the failure of post dictatorship The author argues that the movement from literary to cultural studies while issuing from intellectual and aesthetic circles is an integral component of this same transition The thematization of the bind between these two displacements hence of Latin America's voyage into post transition forms a fundamental portion of the text

Mourning El Dorado Charlotte Rogers, 2019-06-13 What ever happened to the legend of El Dorado the tale of the mythical city of gold lost in the Amazon jungle Charlotte Rogers argues that El Dorado has not been forgotten and still inspires the reckless pursuit of illusory wealth The search for gold in South America during the colonial period inaugurated the promise of El Dorado the belief that wealth and happiness can be found in the tropical forests of the Americas That assumption has endured over the course of centuries still evident in the various modes of natural resource extraction such as oil drilling and mining that characterize the region today Mourning El Dorado looks at how fiction from the American tropics written since 1950 engages with the promise of El Dorado in the age of the Anthropocene Just as the golden kingdom was never found natural resource extraction has not produced wealth and happiness for the peoples of the tropics While extractivism enriches a few outsiders it results in environmental degradation and the subjugation displacement and forced assimilation of native peoples This book considers how the fiction of five writers Alejo Carpentier Wilson Harris Mario Vargas Llosa Ivano Vuitry and Milton Hatoum criticizes extractive practices and mourns the lost illusion of the forest as a place of wealth and happiness

Magical Realism and the History of the Emotions in Latin America Jerónimo Arellano, 2015-05-21 Iconoclastic in spirit Magical Realism and the History of the Emotions in Latin America is the first study of affect and emotion in magical realist literature Against the grain of a vast body of scholarship it argues that magical realism is neither exotic commodity nor postcolonial resistance but an art form fueled by a search for spaces of wonder in a disenchanted world Linking the rise and fall of magical realism and kindred narrative forms to the shifting value of wonder as an emotional experience this thought provoking study proposes a radical new approach to canonical novels such as One Hundred Years of Solitude Received as one of the most convincing manifestations of the turn to affect in contemporary Latin American critical thought Magical Realism and the History of the Emotions draws on affect theory the history of emotions and new materialism to reframe key questions in Latin American literature and culture

Colonial Legacies Jeremy Adelman, 2012-12-06 More than other Atlantic societies Latin America is shackled to its past This collection is an exploration of the binding historical legacies the making of slavery patrimonial absolutist states backward agriculture and the imprint of the Enlightenment with which Latin America continues to grapple. Leading writers and scholars reflect on how this heritage emerged from colonial institutions and how historians have tackled these legacies over the years suggesting that these deep encumbrances are why the region has failed to live up to liberal capitalist expectations. They also invite discussion about the political economic and cultural heritages of Atlantic colonialism through the idea that persistence is a powerful organizing framework for understanding particular kinds of historical processes.

Studies and Essays on Romance Literatures Rodica Grigore, 2025-05-17 Adopting the challenging perspective of Comparative Literature with respect to some important books of the 20th century this collection of essays embodies a symbolic journey trying to find some new and unexplored meanings of certain famous novels short stories or poems decoding images characters and plots in a particular way. Covering a wide range of writers from the Romanian poet Lucian Blaga to the Portuguese Fernando Pessoa or from the rather unknown Romanian representative of the avant garde Urmuz to the great Latin American novelists Clarice Lispector Alejo Carpentier Julio Cortázar Gabriel García Márquez or Guillermo Cabrera Infante the studies included in this volume re-read some masterpieces of Romance literatures in the attempt to highlight the deep and often hidden truth of these authors' great books. This quest also tries to metaphorically cover the distance between the two sides of the Atlantic encompassing the initiatory experience often lived both by the above mentioned writers and their characters.

Caribbean Literature in English Louis James, 2014-07-30 Caribbean Literature in English places its subject in its precise regional context. The Caribbean generally considered as one area is highly discrete in its topography race and languages including mainland Guyana the Atlantic island of Barbados the Lesser Antilles Trinidad and Jamaica whose size and history gave it an early sense of separate nationhood. Beginning with Raleigh's Discoverie of Guiana 1596 this innovative study traces the sometimes surprising evolution of cultures which shared a common experience of slavery but were intimately related to individual local areas. The approach is interdisciplinary examining the heritage of the plantation era and the issues of language and racial identity it created. From this base Louis James reassesses the phenomenal expansion of writing in the contemporary period. He traces the influence of pan Caribbean movements and the creation of an expatriate Caribbean identity in Britain and America. Britain is considered as a West Indian island created by colonization in reverse. Further sections treat the development of a Caribbean aesthetic and the repossession of cultural roots from Africa and Asia Balancing an awareness of the regional identity of Caribbean literature with an exploration of its place in world and postcolonial literatures this study offers a panoramic view that has become one of the most vital of the new literatures in English This accessible overview of Caribbean writing will appeal to the general reader and student alike and particularly to all who are interested in or studying Caribbean literatures and culture postcolonial studies Commonwealth new literatures and contemporary literature and drama

The Walker Matthew Beaumont,2020-11-10 Can you get lost in a crowd It is polite to stare at people walking past on the street What differentiates the city of daylight and the nocturnal metropolis What connects walking philosophy and the big toe Can we save the city or ourselves by taking the pavement There is no such thing as the wrong step every time we walk we are going somewhere In a series of riveting intellectual rambles Matthew Beaumont retraces a history of the walker from Charles Dickens' insomnia night rambles to wandering through the faceless windswept monuments of the neoliberal city including Edgar Allan Poe Andrew Breton H G Wells Virginia Woolf Jean Rhys and Ray Bradbury As the author shows the act of walking is one of escape self discovery disappearances and potential revolution and explores the relationship between the metropolis and its pedestrian life

Literary Landscapes of Time Jobst Welge,Juliane Tauchnitz,2022-11-07 The volume asks how the literatures of the Americas and the Caribbean present multiple or internally differentiated spaces and how these are distinguished or traversed by different temporalities The historical and post colonial experiences of these areas turns them into especially fertile ground for the exploration of the connections between landscape geography and historical temporal palimpsests as well as the specificities of literary form The contributions are dedicated to individual yet conceptually interconnected studies of staggered multiple non simultaneous temporalities in modern and contemporary literature The volume adopts a comparative perspective throughout and intends to foster the dialogue between the study of Latin American and Caribbean literatures in Spanish Portuguese French and English Therefore the individual essays are not grouped according to geographical or linguistic areas but follow a trajectory from spatiotemporal constellations of the 19th century to ruined catastrophic landscapes and the geopoetic inscriptions of time in regions The essays should appeal to all readers interested in World Literature Hemispheric Studies as well as temporal approaches to space and geography

Latin American and Iberian Perspectives on Literature and Medicine Patricia Novillo-Corvalán,2015-06-05 This is the first study to examine the representation of illness disability and cultural pathologies in modern and contemporary Iberian and Latin American literature Innovative and interdisciplinary the collection situates medicine as an important and largely overlooked discourse in these literatures while also considering the social political religious symbolic and metaphysical dimensions underpinning illness Investigating how Hispanic and Lusophone writers have reflected on the personal and cultural effects of illness it raises central questions about how medical discourses cultural pathologies and the art of healing in general are represented Essays pay particular attention to the ways in which these interdisciplinary dialogues chart new directions in the study of Hispanic and Lusophone cultures and emerging disciplines such as the medical humanities Addressing a wide range of themes and subjects including bioethics neuroscience psychosurgery medical technologies Darwinian evolution indigenous herbal medicine the rising genre of the pathography and the illness as metaphor trope the collection engages with the discourses of cultural studies gender studies disability studies comparative literature and the medical humanities This book enriches and stimulates scholarship in these areas by showing how much we still have to gain from interdisciplinary studies working at the intersections between the humanities and the sciences

Distant Relation Eoin S. Thomson, 2001-01-24 The Distant Relation breaks down the artificial division between philosophy and literature by weaving contemporary philosophic arguments through close readings of Carpentier Rulfo Paz and Garcia Marquez Thomson draws the reader into the largely uninhabited space between philosophy and literature providing new critical strategies that allow text and reader to respond to the very distance they share These strategies involve a reconceptualization of distance that recognizes the productive and affirmative nature of separation The Distant Relation will attract anyone interested in the ongoing struggle to overcome conventional interpretations of language time and identity within the broader context of philosophical trends and Spanish American studies

Comparative Cultural Studies and Latin America Sophia A. McClennen, Earl E. Fitz, 2004 The genesis of Comparative Cultural Studies and Latin America stems from the contributors conviction that given its vitality and excellence Latin American literature deserves a more prominent place in comparative literature publications curricula and disciplinary discussions The editors introduce the volume by first arguing
