Travel, Modernism and Modernity Robert Burden, 2016-03-09 Focusing on the significance of travel in Joseph Conrad E M Forster D H Lawrence Henry James and Edith Wharton Robert Burden shows how travel enabled a new consciousness of mobility and borders during the modernist period For these authors Burden suggests travel becomes a narrative paradigm and dominant trope by which they explore questions of identity and otherness related to deep seated concerns with the crisis of national cultural identity He pays particular attention to the important distinction between travel and tourism at the same time that he attends to the slippage between seeing and sightseeing between the local character and the stereotype between art and kitsch and between older and newer ways of storytelling in the representational crisis of modernism Burden argues that the greater awareness of cultural difference that characterizes both the travel writing and fiction of these expatriate writers became a defining feature of literary modernism resulting in a consciousness of cultural difference that challenged the ethnographic project of empire "Framing the Ocean, 1700 to the Present " Tricia

Cusack,2017-07-05 Before the eighteenth century the ocean was regarded as a repulsive and chaotic deep Despite reinvention as a zone of wonder and pleasure it continued to be viewed in the West and elsewhere as uninhabited empty space This collection spanning the eighteenth century to the present recasts the ocean as social space with particular reference to visual representations Part I focuses on mappings and crossings showing how the ocean may function as a liminal space between places and cultures but also connects and imbricates them Part II considers ships as microcosmic societies shaped for example by the purpose of the voyage the mores of shipboard life and cross cultural encounters Part III analyses narratives accreted to wrecks and rafts what has sunk or floats perilously and discusses attempts to recuperate plastic flotsam Part IV plumbs ocean depths to consider how underwater creatures have been depicted in relation to emergent disciplines of natural history and museology how mermaids have been reimagined as a metaphor of feminist transformation and how the symbolism of coral is deployed by contemporary artists This engaging and erudite volume will interest a range of scholars in humanities and social sciences including art and cultural historians cultural geographers and historians of empire travel and tourism Healing and the Jewish Imagination William Cutter,2007 Where Judaism and health intersect healing may begin Essential reading for people interested in the Jewish healing spirituality and spiritual direction movements this groundbreaking volume explores the Jewish tradition for comfort in times of illness and Judaism s perspectives on the inevitable suffering with which we live Pushing the boundaries of Jewish knowledge scholars teachers artists and activists examine the aspects of our mortality and the important distinctions between curing and healing Topics discussed include The Importance of the Individual Health and Healing among the Mystics Hope and the Hebrew Bible From Disability to Enablement Overcoming Stigma Jewish Bioethics Drawing from literature personal experience and the foundational texts of Judaism these celebrated thinkers show us that healing is an idea that can both soften us so that we are open to inspiration as well as toughen us like good scar tissue in order to live with the consequences of being human Contributors Rachel Adler PhD Rabbi Elliot Dorff PhD Arnold Eisen PhD Tamara Eskenazi PhD Eitan P Fishbane PhD Rabbi Arthur Green PhD Tamara M Green PhD Rabbi Peter Knobel PhD Adriane Leveen MSW PhD Louis E Newman PhD Rabbi David B Ruderman PhD David I Schulman JD Howard Silverman MD MS Albert J Winn MA Landscapes of Liminality

Dara Downey, Ian Kinane, Elizabeth Parker, 2016-11-16 Landscapes of Liminality expands upon existing notions of spatial practice and spatial theory and examines more intricately the contingent notion of liminality as a space of in between ness that avoids either essentialism or stasis It capitalises on the extensive research that has already been undertaken in this area and elaborates on the increasingly important and interrelated notion of liminality within contemporary discussions of spatial practice and theories of place Bringing together international scholarship the book offers a broad range of cross disciplinary approaches to theories of liminality including literary studies cultural studies human geography social studies and art and design The volume offers a timely and fascinating intervention which will help in shaping current debates concerning landscape theory spatial practice and discussions of liminality Emotion in Motion Mike Robinson, David Picard, 2016-05-06

What happens when tourists scream with fear shout with anger and frustration weep with joy and delight or even faint in the face of revealed beauty How can certain sites affect some tourists so deeply that they require hospitalisation and psychiatric treatment What are the inner contours of tourist experience and how does it relate to specific emotional cultures What are the consequences of the emotional cultures of tourists upon destinations How are differences in emotional culture mobilized and played out in the transnational contact zones of international tourism While many books have engaged with the structural frames of tourist practice and experience this is the first to deal with the emotional dimensions of tourism travel and contact and the ways in which they can transform tourists destinations and travel cultures through emotional engagements The book brings together an international array of scholars from anthropology psychiatry history cultural geography and critical tourism studies to explore how the movement to and through the realms of exotic people wild nature's subliminal art spirit worlds metropolitan cities and sexualised others variably provoke emotions peak experiences travel syndromes and inner dialogues The authors show how tourism challenges us to engage with concepts of self other time nature sex the body and death Through a set of ethnographic and historic cases they demonstrate that such engagements usually have little to do with the actual destination but rather are deeply anchored in personal memories repressed fears and desires and the collective imaginaries of our societies Going Abroad Rob Gordon, 2015-11-17

Increasingly students from the affluent countries are going abroad as part of their educational experience Although students see these experiences as invaluable and believe that they have learned a lot the anthropological literature suggests the opposite that travel abroad has a greater impact on the hosts than on the visitors and that indeed travel abroad far from leading to students becoming more open minded or learning about the other can reinforce their stereotypes The standards in anthropology teach humility and the ability to learn from those in the host country This short book can be read pre departure and while abroad to provide the reader the practical and philosophical tools needed to create an enriched and mind broadening experience Rites of Passage in Postcolonial Women's Writing Pauline Dodgson-Katiyo, Gina Wisker, 2010 Pauline Dodgson Katiyo is Head of Humanities at Sheffield Hallam University Her research focus is on African literature particularly Zimbabwean contemporary women s writing and postcolonial cinemas Women in Higher Education, 1850-1970 E. Lisa Panayotidis, Paul Stortz, 2017-09-19 This edited collection illustrates the way in which women s experiences of academe could be both contextually diverse but historically and culturally similar It looks at both the micro individual women and universities and macro level comparative analyses among regions and countries within regional national trans national and international contexts The contributors integrally advance knowledge about the university in history by exploring the intersections of the lived experiences of women students and professors practices of co education and intellectual and academic cultures They also raise important questions about the complementary and multidirectional flow and exchange of academic knowledge and information among gender groups across programmes disciplines and universities Historical inquiry and interpretation serve as efficacious ways with which to understand contemporary events and discourses in higher education and more broadly in community and society This book will provide important historical contexts for current debates about the numerical dominance and significance of women in higher education and the tensions embedded in the gendering of specific academic programs and disciplines and university policies missions and mandates New Jewish Baby Book (2nd Edition) Anita Diamant, 2012-02-24 The practical inspiring guide for all Jewish people expecting a baby Expanded updated and revised A complete resource to the traditions and rituals for welcoming a new child to the world and into the Jewish community and for commemorating this joyous event in family life whatever your family constellation Provides ceremonies you can copy for handouts so that guests are an even greater part of the experience Special section for interfaith families helps make the celebrations inclusive comfortable and joyous for all Ceremonies for girls as well as for boys Drawn from the wealth of mythic historic religious culinary and literary traditions that surround the arrival of a new Jewish baby and informed by contemporary insight and practice The New Jewish Baby Book describes the many ways that new parents can celebrate the arrival of a child the newest member of your extended families and a unique and precious chapter in the on going saga of the Jewish people from the Introduction My People's Prayer Book Lawrence A.
