Passion In An Improper Place:

The Dolorous Passion of Our Lord Jesus Christ Anne Catherine Emmerich, Aeterna Press, 2012 The writer of this Preface was travelling in Germany when he chanced to meet with a book entitled The History of the Passion of our Lord Jesus Christ from the Meditations of Anne Catherine Emmerich which appeared to him both interesting and edifying Its style was unpretending its ideas simple its tone unassuming its sentiments unexaggerated and its every sentence expressive of the most complete and entire submission to the Church Yet at the same time it would have been difficult anywhere to meet with a more touching and lifelike paraphrase of the Gospel narrative He thought that a book possessing such qualities deserved to be known on this side the Rhine and that there could be no reason why it should not be valued for its own sake independent of the somewhat singular source whence it emanated Aeterna Press

Public Passion Rebecca Kingston, 2011-09-13 Taking a broad historical perspective Public Passion traces the role of emotion in political thought from its prominence in classical sources through its resuscitation by Montesquieu to the present moment Combining intellectual history philosophy and political theory Rebecca Kingston develops a sophisticated account of collective emotion that demonstrates how popular sentiment is compatible with debate pluralism and individual agency and shows how emotion shapes the tone of interactions among citizens She also analyzes the ways in which emotions are shared and transmitted among citizens of a particular regime paying particular attention to the connection between political institutions and the psychological dispositions that they foster Public Passion presents illuminating new ways to appreciate the forms of popular will and reveals that emotional understanding by citizens may in fact be the very basis through which a commitment to principles of justice can be sustained
