Admissions by Design Lisa Fisher, 2016-03-29 The race to matriculate into the most prestigious university possible is killing America's students There is a better way Admissions by Design is a poignant unorthodox and thorough guide that upends the traditional paradigm of college admissions Incorporating the latest research in brain science and human development and using stories from her nearly 20 years of work with students Lisa Fisher offers students practical tools to reframe the college admissions process to one of an inspired and authentic journey toward self discovery Building from the root of the word admission meaning toward purpose and tying the college admissions process to the development of self and to emerging trends in economic development the author argues that the admissions process shouldn't be about getting into a prestigious name school but about a journey to knowing one's self heeding one's callings and identifying the right fit school that will serve as the catalyst to embracing a purpose led life Presenting facts and details about the ways in which the current system of college admissions negatively impacts students the author challenges prevailing methods and offers new ideas and solutions to reinvent the approach to college admissions to be more humanistic and student centered This practical guide challenges students to define and pursue their unique paths and offers hands on tools to help students in their process of self discovery and in identifying and applying to the right fit college

Action and Ethics in Aristotle and Hegel Gary Pendlebury, 2017-07-05 Pendlebury alleges that abstraction and rationalization have had a strong and malign influence on normative moral philosophy in the 20th century Criticizing writers such as Hare Rawls and Scanlon for pursuing a conception of moral philosophy that bears little resemblance to the way in which human beings actually think and conduct themselves Pendlebury instead suggests a Virtue Ethics inspired by Hegel's and Aristotle's accounts of action as a corrective to this trend showing that moral activity is historically and socially based and must address the formed character of individual agents This trend which began with the responses by Locke Hume and Kant to Descartes' Meditations rendered moral philosophy individualistic and psychologistic in contrast to Aristotle and Hegel's claim that man is essentially a social creature Pendlebury argues that this should be the starting point of any account and understanding of morality which roots the concept of will in the practical activity involved in being a member of an ethical community rather than an abstract metaphysical entity that is supposedly in the possession of individuals In providing a critique of modern moral philosophy from this perspective Pendlebury's line of enquiry lends much support to Virtue Ethics as exemplified in the work of Hursthouse and Slote while taking a more combative approach with those with whom he disputes In doing so he shows that serious considerations of continental philosophy highlights the richness of moral activity absent from analytical tradition which for so long has been bent on marginalizing it

Passions Mihnea Moldoveanu, Nitin Nohria, 2002-03-15 An exploration of the powerful role of anxiety ambition and envy in shaping both our individual lives and society as a whole At the heart of the human experience lies anxiety caused by the realization that the world is unknown forever eluding our control And out of this anxiety arises the master passions of ambition and envy which we repress to mask their power over our lives Discussion of the role of the emotions in our lives is not new but Mihnea Moldoveanu and Nitin Nohria go much further showing how these passions shape not only our individual lives but our social and organizational culture as well The master passions are not pretty and so we cover them with the more socially acceptable faces of reason and morality Moldoveanu and Nohria guide the reader in revealing the real impetus behind such actions as firing a friend leaving a lover or even pillaging your own people Below the rational explanation they show often lies a willingness to hurt or even destroy others to fuel our own ambitions or quench the fires of envy The authors offer intriguing thought experiments and examples from their own lives as they expose the power of the master passions Deftly weaving ideas from psychology Sigmund Freud sociology Max Weber literature William Shakespeare Albert Camus and philosophy David Hume Adam Smith Karl Marx Friedrich Nietzsche with the personal they build a strong argument that society would be much healthier if we faced the deception and self deception that pervade our lives “The” Works Of Sir Joshua Reynolds ...
