Pastoral Development Planning Oxfam Development Guidelines:

The Oxfam Handbook of Development and Relief Deborah Eade, Suzanne Williams, 1995 This slipcase of three volumes offers an expression of Oxfam's fundamental principles that everyone has the right to an equitable share in the world's resources. It analyzes policy procedure and practice in health, human rights, emergency relief, and agricultural production.

Perspectives on Pastoral Development Isobel Birch, Halima A. O. Shuria, 2001 An objective account of a major Oxfam initiative, the Wajir pastoral development project in northeast Kenya, with its distinctive emphasis on community participation. It explains how marginalized groups are developing their own pastoral associations to represent their interests and Oxfam's role in facilitating that process. It describes an integrated approach to pastoral development supporting the livelihoods of livestock keepers and those who have lost their animals, devising strategies to address drought and conflict as part of a longer term agenda for sustainable development and working to influence key decisions made by high level policy makers.

The Oxfam Handbook of Development and Relief Deborah Eade, 1995 Towards Negotiated Co-management of Natural Resources in Africa L. B. Venema, 1999 Within the field of management of natural resources, this book focuses on the various approaches of policy formulation and implementation. The question central to this book is how to co-operate with people, the various categories of residents as well as non-residents in the rural areas, in a top-down, a participatory or a contractual co-management way. On the basis of a comparative analysis of 12 case studies in the book, these three approaches are thoroughly discussed and their internal and external constraints examined. The book starts with an editorial chapter discussing the recent administrative and political developments in Africa as well as the new opportunities which they offer for policies in the field of environment and development. The question is brought up whether the recent processes of decentralization, democratization and empowerment of local organizations have indeed created new opportunities or that they have only superficially changed the political culture of the countries concerned. In the concluding chapter of the book, the approaches are contrasted to each other as logical models, each with its own potentiality and limitations. Conclusions are formulated why the top-down approach must result in improvisation to escape from failure and why the participatory approach risks to end up into a mixed balance. Special attention is given to the conditions and the prospects for the contractual or co-management approach which has been introduced into Africa only recently. Under certain conditions, this approach seems rather promising.

Eastern and Southern Africa Debby Potts, T.A.S. Bowyer-Bower, 2016-02-04 A unique and comprehensive introduction to contemporary development issues in East and Southern Africa and represents a significant departure from the often descriptive approach adopted by existing regional and development texts on African regions. Each contribution is carefully chosen to highlight the theoretical basis to development issues and the practical problems of implementing development plans in this vital subregion. Overall, this produces comprehensive and balanced coverage of historical, economic, political and social issues. The twin issues of globalisation and modernisation give the book a clear focus African Pastoralism M. A. Mohamed Salih, Ton Dietz, Abdel Ghaffar Mohamed Ahmed, 2001-07-20 Although many countries in Africa are devastated by poverty and famine and are desperately in need of aid it is generally recognised that programmes of aid and development in Africa are imposed upon local communities with little regard for their traditional values and way of life This book provides a fresh look at these intricate issues and explores the way in which farming and traditional pastoral livelihoods have strengthened rather than weakened in the face of government reforms It reveals how traditional institutions and resource management strategies within local African communities continue to endure in spite of the enormous pressure that development programs assert as pastoralists resolve to confront coercive state policies designed to privilege the interests of the wealthy and powerful elite The book introduces thirteen case studies from Botswana Ethiopia Eritrea Kenya Somalia Sudan and Uganda and various other parts of the African continent Sustainable Rural Development A. Shepherd, 1998-01-19 This book examines the paradigm shift in rural development from an industrial to an holistic approach to technology development from a technocratic to a participatory approach to management and from resource control by big organisations to local resource management It provides a broad ranging assessment of agriculture and local level institutional development and sets out a range of agendas for development practice management and policy into the twenty first century Impacts of Changing Pastoral Strategies on Environmental Resources and Livelihoods in Tanzania's Lake Victoria Basin Elliott Phillemons Niboye, 2010 Land tenure in pastoral and agro pastoral areas of Tanzania is under stress The stress emanates mainly from changing natural and demographic environments Other underlying causes are social economic and political changes In the past three to four decades both pastoral and agro pastoral areas have been experiencing rapid population increase with a national mean population growth rate estimated at 3 per cent per annum Kurian 1992 This has increased demand for cultivation lands forcing pastoralists and agro pastoralists to more marginal areas and triggering off in some cases environmental degradation process These processes are paralleled by overall climatic changes with concomitant increasing droughts The combined effect of these processes has culminated into a general decline of pastoral and agro pastoral community's welfare and increased livelihood insecurity This study explored the impacts of these changes in agro pastoral land use on the physical environment as well as livelihood and welfare of the community in Missungwi District Food Sovereignty, Agroecology and Biocultural Diversity Michel. P. Pimbert, 2017-11-01

Contestations over knowledge and who controls its production are a key focus of social movements and other actors that promote food sovereignty agroecology and biocultural diversity This book critically examines the kinds of knowledge and ways of knowing needed for food sovereignty agroecology and biocultural diversity Food sovereignty is understood here as a transformative process that seeks to recreate the democratic realm and regenerate a diversity of autonomous food systems based on agroecology biocultural diversity equity social justice and ecological sustainability It is shown that alternatives to the current model of development require radically different knowledges and epistemologies from those on offer today in mainstream institutions including universities policy think tanks and donor organizations To achieve food sovereignty agroecology and biocultural diversity there is a need to re imagine and construct knowledge for diversity decentralisation dynamic adaptation and democracy The authors critically explore the changes in organizations research paradigms and professional practice that could help transform and co create knowledge for a new modernity based on plural definitions of wellbeing Particular attention is given to institutional pedagogical and methodological innovations that can enhance cognitive justice by giving hitherto excluded citizens more power and agency in the construction of knowledge The book thus contributes to the democratization of knowledge and power in the domain of food environment and society Chapters 1 and 8 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Nomadic Peoples and Human Rights Jérémie Gilbert, 2014-03-26 Although nomadic peoples are scattered worldwide and have highly heterogeneous lifestyles they face similar threats to their mobile livelihood and survival Commonly nomadic peoples are facing pressure from the predominant sedentary world over mobility land rights water resources access to natural resources and migration routes Adding to these traditional problems rapid growth in the extractive industry and the need for the exploitation of the natural resources are putting new strains on nomadic lifestyles This book provides an innovative rights based approach to the issue of nomadism looking at issues including discrimination persecution freedom of movement land rights cultural and political rights and effective management of natural resources Jeremie Gilbert analyses the extent to which human rights law is able to provide protection for nomadic peoples to perpetuate their own way of life and culture The book questions whether the current human rights regime is able to protect nomadic peoples and highlights the lacuna that currently exists in international human rights law in relation to nomadic peoples It goes on to propose avenues for the development of specific rights for nomadic peoples offering a new reading on freedom of movement land rights and development in the context of nomadism

Traditional occupations of indigenous and tribal peoples: Emerging trends, 2000 Comprises ten case studies written by indigenous authors active in their communities Describes traditional economies and occupations and analyzes the effects of globalization and industrialization on indigenous and tribal peoples Includes proposals for development models that respect indigenous rights and preserve traditional knowledge

Green Development Bill Adams, 2008-07-30 The third edition retains the clear and powerful argument of previous editions but has been updated to reflect advances in ideas and changes in international policy Greater attention has been given to political ecology environmental risk and the environmental impacts of development

Environments and Livelihoods Koos Neefjes, 2000 This book is intended to be used to support the campaigning and lobbying work of local and international development organizations to improve the formulation and implementation of development strategies and to strengthen participatory project planning monitoring and impact assessment in poverty and environmental change

Wiping the Tears of the African Cattle Owners Solomon Haile

Mariam,2010-08-30 This book is a collective work of many professionals who were involved in all aspects of the activities during the implementation of the Pan African Rinderpest Campaign PARC The various country and regional technical reports of all the actors during those days were however compiled by the three officers who were working with AU IBAR at that time Dr Solomon Haile Mariam the chief livestock project officer CLPO of IBAR was the task team leader assisted by Dr Rene Bessin while Dr D Karuiki did most of the information compiling job Green Development William Mark Adams,2001 This new edition has been completely re written Giving a valuable analysis of the theory and practice of sustainable development it suggests that at the start of the new millennium we should think radically about the challenge of sustainability
