Love Letters Michelle Janning, 2018-06-14 In today's world of Tinder and texting do we write and save love letters anymore Are we more likely to save a screenshot of a text exchange or a box of paper letters from a lover How might these different ways to store a love letter make us feel Sociologist Michelle Janning's Love Letters Saving Romance in the Digital Age offers a new twist on the study of love letters what people do with them and whether digital or paper format matters Through stories a rich review of past research and her own survey findings Janning uncovers whether and how people from different groups including gender and age approach their love letter curatorial practices in an era when digitization of communication is nearly ubiquitous She investigates the importance of space and time showing how our connection to the material world and our attraction to nostalgia matter in actions as seemingly small and private as saving storing stumbling upon or even burning a love letter Janning provides a framework for understanding why someone may prefer digital or paper love letters and what that preference says about a person's access and attachment to powerful cultural values such as individualization taking time in a hectic world longevity privacy and keeping cherished things in a safe place Ultimately Janning contends the cultural values that tell us how romantic love should be defined are more powerful than the format our love letters take

Publishing Women's Life Stories in France, 1647-1720 Elizabeth C. Goldsmith, 2017-03-02 In this new study Elizabeth Goldsmith continues her pursuit of issues treated in her earlier books on conversation epistolary writing and the female voice in literature She examines how French women in the seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries first came to publish their private life stories in doing so she explores what the writers have to say about why they decide to write about themselves what they choose to write how they get their stories circulated and printed and what they do to defend themselves against the threat to personal reputation and credibility that was implied by such public self exposure Goldsmith scrutinizes the autobiographical writing of six women all of whom were for different reasons the objects of fairly intense publicity during their lifetime at the historical moment when the idea of publicity via the printed word was still a new concept Three of the women Jeanne des Anges Marie de l'Incarnation and Jeanne Guyon were charismatic religious figures whose writings were widely circulated The other three writers the sisters Hortense and Marie Mancini and Madame de Villegieu are more worldly but like their spiritual counterparts they undertook self publication as a form of conversation with the world and a way of participating in other forms of public discourse Publishing Women's Life Stories in France 1647-1720 considers the different forms that the life writing of these three women took autobiographies letter correspondences which in four of the six cases have never before been published trial transcripts testimonials published as part of other authors works and written self portraits that were circulated among friends Drawing on the work of Michel de Certeau on voice and communities of readers in the 17th century as well as the work of Roger Chartier and other historians of the book and print culture Goldsmith retraces the complicated networks of human interaction that underlie these early a The Secret History of Domesticity Michael McKeon, 2006-12-06 Taking English culture as its representative sample The Secret History of Domesticity asks how the modern notion of the public private relation emerged in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Treating that relation as a crucial instance of the modern division of knowledge Michael McKeon narrates its pre history along with that of its essential component domesticity This narrative draws upon the entire spectrum of English people s experience At the most public extreme are political developments like the formation of civil society over against the state the rise of contractual thinking and the devolution of absolutism from monarch to individual Subject The middle range of experience takes in the influence of Protestant and scientific thought the printed publication of the private the conceptualization of virtual publics society public opinion the market and the capitalization of production the decline of the domestic economy and the increase in the sexual division of labor The most private pole of experience involves the privatization of marriage the family and the household and the complex entanglement of femininity interiority Subjectivity and sexuality McKeon accounts for how the relationship between public and private experience first became intelligible as a variable interaction of distinct modes of being not a static dichotomy but a tool to think with Richly illustrated with nearly 100 images including paintings engravings woodcuts and a representative selection of architectural floor plans for domestic interiors this volume reads graphic forms to emphasize how susceptible the public private relation was to concrete and spatial representation McKeon is similarly attentive to how literary forms evoked a tangible sense of public private relations among them figurative imagery allegorical narration parody the author character reader dialectic aesthetic distance and free indirect discourse He also finds a structural analogue for the emergence of the modern public private relation in the conjunction of what contemporaries called the secret history and the domestic novel A capacious and synthetic historical investigation The Secret History of Domesticity exemplifies how the methods of literary interpretation and historical analysis can inform and enrich one another

Pylodet, Augusta Harriet Garrigue Leypoldt, 1901 Ghost Stories by British and American Women Lynette Carpenter, Wendy K. Kolmar, 2015-01-28 Originally published in 1998 and covering a tradition ignored by most critics this bibliography assembles and documents a large body of supernatural fiction written by women in English from the end of the 18th century to the present These stories the work of women whose literary reputations personal histories and bodies of work vary widely challenge the narrow way in which supernatural literature has traditionally been regarded they indicate a much richer and more complex set of literary responses to the supernatural than has been hitherto acknowledged The writers included range from Ann Radcliffe and the Gothic novelists to Louisa May Alcott Charlotte Gilman and Edith Wharton to such modern writers as Elizabeth Bowen Jean Rhys Muriel Spark and A S Byatt The volume will be of interest to literary and cultural historians and of particular importance to women's studies scholars Embedded Entrepreneurship:

Market, Culture, and Micro-Business in Insular Southeast Asia, 2013-07-04 Embedded Entrepreneurship examines the importance of cultural meaning in the creation and utilization of economic value Based on case studies from Thailand Malaysia Singapore and Indonesia the authors demonstrate that micro scale entrepreneurship is intertwined with prevailing conceptions moralities and habituations in the entrepreneurs social milieu More specifically the volume argues that meaning making is integral to economic opportunity that economic actors market agency is shaped by cultural experiences that entrepreneurs prototypical individualism is socially contingent and that cultural meanings channel economic value among economic and social domains Addressing core questions about embedding the authors suggest theoretical convergences between economic anthropology and economic sociology Contributors include Signe Howell Ingrid Rudie Leif Manger Olaf H Smedal Frode F Jacobsen Kristianne Ervik Anette Fagertun Lars Gjelstad Nils Hidle Anja Lillegraven Solgunn Olsen and Ingvild Solvang Life ,1927 Writing Love Katharine Ann Jensen,1995 In this compelling new addition to Sandra M Gilbert s Ad Feminam Women and Literature series Katharine Ann Jensen examines the cultural form of the love letter and its intersection with the novel in the works of seventeenth and eighteenth century French women writers Traditionally French literary history has focused on eighteenth century male writers Rousseau and Laclos as the master artists of the epistolary novel That emphasis on one century one gender and one epistolary form the novel obscures the history of women s writing in France In the seventeenth century the love letter was viewed as a feminine literary form in which a woman s passionate and emotional nature found its logical expression Such emotional writing was criticized for its structural and grammatical imperfections rendering it in the eyes of men invalid as true literary material However men often wrote under female pseudonyms composing letters of seduction and betrayal that were published as true accounts Jensen contends that men disguised their words as women s words because writing as women allowed them to experiment with narrative fiction at a time when men s writing was rigidly defined by classical rhetoric She further argues that men were able to moderate women s linguistic strengths by limiting their epistolary expertise to a social rather than literary practice thereby maintaining literature as an almost exclusively male province Jensen argues for a tradition of women s writing by examining both the love letters and novels of such writers as Desjardins Ferrand Graffigny Riccoboni and Lespinasse In her novel Les D sordres de l amour Desjardins Madame de Villedieu creates an ambitious letter writing heroine Through an analysis of the textual similarities between the heroine s letters and Desjardins s personal love letters to her unfaithful lover Jensen concludes that Desjardins rewrites her own unfortunate epistolary relationship Jensen draws similar conclusions from an examination of the personal letters of Ferrand in relation to her novel Histoire des amours de Cl ante et de B lise In order to chart the legacy of seventeenth century feminine epistolarity Jensen goes on to consider the works of eighteenth century French women writers Like Desjardins s novel Graffigny s Lettres d une P ruvienne and Riccoboni s Lettres de Mistress Fanni Butlerd present letter writing heroines who overturn the conventions of seduction and betrayal in order to claim their independence and desire to write This desire correlates to Graffigny s and Riccoboni s own writing ambitions thereby asserting the ability of women to write self consciously rather than emotionally and to create narrative fiction rather than cyclical letters of love and suffering Jensen demonstrates that these assertions constitute a significant break with seventeenth century ideas about feminine letter writing that inextricably bind women to a supposedly natural language of sexual and literary disempowerment This important and insightful book will prove a valuable addition to the libraries of scholars in French seventeenth and eighteenth century studies feminist studies epistolary fiction and novel and narrative studies

The Women with Silver Wings Katherine Sharp Landdeck, 2021-03-30 With the fate of the free world hanging in the balance women pilots went aloft to serve their nation A soaring tale in which at long last these daring World War II pilots gain the credit they deserve Liza Mundy New York Times bestselling author of Code Girls A powerful story of reinvention community and ingenuity born out of global upheaval Newsday When the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor in December 1941 Cornelia Fort was already in the air At twenty two Fort had escaped Nashville's debutante scene for a fresh start as a flight instructor in Hawaii She and her student were in the middle of their lesson when the bombs began to fall and they barely made it back to ground that morning Still when the U S Army Air Forces put out a call for women pilots to aid the war effort Fort was one of the first to respond She became one of just over 1 100 women from across the nation to make it through the Army's rigorous selection process and earn her silver wings The brainchild of trailblazing pilots Nancy Love and Jacqueline Cochran the Women Airforce Service Pilots WASP gave women like Fort a chance to serve their country and to prove that women aviators were just as skilled as men While not authorized to serve in combat the WASP helped train male pilots for service abroad and ferried bombers and pursuits across the country Thirty eight WASP would not survive the war But even taking into account these tragic losses Love and Cochran's social experiment seemed to be a resounding success until with the tides of war turning Congress clipped the women's wings The program was disbanded the women sent home But the bonds they'd forged never failed and over the next few decades they came together to fight for recognition as the military veterans they were and for their place in history
