Spoils of War in the Arab East Aziz Al-Azmeh, Harout Akdadian, Haian Dukhan, 2024-01-11 Post conflict scenarios are often proposed for Arab countries that have witnessed significant changes and civil wars Yet the plans for reconciliation transitional justice and the return of the displaced often overlook the real conditions that make these recommendations impossible This book provides a critical analysis of current post conflict frameworks for Syria and Iraq Drawing on empirical research the book shows that reconciliation and reconstruction scenarios need to be considered alongside the realities on the ground It argues that Iraq and Syria exist in a condition of conflict transformation rather than of conflict termination because the extreme changes that accompanied these countries into war continue long after the conflicts end Furthermore the chapters highlight why experts should not seek solutions in culturalist terms and ancestral enmities or rely on the wartime status quo Rather they should look to the specific military political economic and socio cultural conditions that require different solutions A critical analysis of existing post conflict frameworks their applicability and their potential outcomes in Iraq and Syria the book is a vital contribution to post conflict studies It highlights the need for new approaches to reconstruction and peacebuilding in Arab countries and points to how they should be found

The Middle Eastern Village Richard Lawless, 2023-05-31 Rapid and uneven change to the fabric of rural life is widespread in modern Middle Eastern countries Modernisation usually in the Western model has often brought major improvements in agricultural technology education and public health but has also had the effect of weakening the traditional rural economy of many villages and encouraging their growing dependence on external sources of income most notably oil remittances This collection of research on the Middle Eastern village looks at the impact on rural life and environment of such factors as the mass exodus of labour to urban centres emigration immigration environmental change and the changing role of women in rural communities particularly the wives of migrant workers who have to fill a new role in the family structure State sponsored agrarian policies have weakened the power of traditional landed interests and together with labour migration have provoked new tension and inequalities in rural society The book makes clear that the pattern of change has been highly uneven and has served to heterogenise the countryside As the oil states enter a period of recession and the likelihood of substantial return migration increases rural communities will need to make further major adjustments and the book examines the tensions this new development is likely to produce First published in 1987 Religion and Politics in Muslim Society Akbar S. Ahmed, 1983-10-28 This analysis of Muslim unrest is based on an extended case study of northwestern Pakistan Professor Ahmed examines power authority and religious status as the critical intermediary level of society that of the district or Agency which was the key unit of administration in British India Ahmed has joined his insights as anthropologist with his experience as a political agent in Waziristan to produce an innovative and detailed work The book focuses on the emergence of a mullah in Waziristan who challenges the state A religious leader's challenge of the state is not new but contemporary Muslim society's widespread concern over these conflicts reveals that the influence of religion in a traditional society undergoing modernization is greater than many scholars have assumed The author identifies three types of leaders traditional leaders usually elders representatives of the established state authority and religious functionaries From this analysis he constructs an Islamic district paradigm which he uses not only in making sense of contemporary Muslim society but also in understanding some aspects of the legacy of the colonial encounter Arab Masculinities Konstantina Isidoros, Marcia C. Arabs in America Michael Suleiman,2010-06-29 Setting the record straight about Arab American culture

Home and Homeland Linda L. Layne,2019-01-15 In this provocative examination of collective identity in Jordan Linda Layne challenges long held Western assumptions that Arabs belong to easily recognizable corporate social groups Who is a true Jordanian Who is a true Bedouin These questions according to Layne are examples of a kind of pigeonholing that has distorted the reality of Jordanian national politics In developing an alternate approach she shows that the fluid social identities of Jordan emerge from an ongoing dialogue among tribespeople members of the intelligentsia Hashemite rulers and Western social scientists Many commentators on social identity in the Middle East limit their studies to the village level but Layne s goal is to discover how the identity building processes of the locality and of the nation condition each other She finds that the tribes creates their own cultural homes through a dialogue with official nationalist rhetoric and

Jordanian urbanites while King Hussein in turn maintains the idea of the homeland in many ways that are powerfully influenced by the tribespeople The identities so formed resemble the shifting irregular shapes of postmodernist landscapes but Hussein and the Jordanian people are also beginning to use a classically modernist linear narrative to describe themselves Layne maintains however that even with this change Jordanian identities will remain resistant to all or nothing descriptions Linda L Layne is Alma and H Erwin Hale Teaching Professor of Humanities and Social Sciences in the Department of Science and Technology Studies at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Originally published in 1994 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
