Michèle M. Magill, Katherine S. Stephenson, 2003 These interviews with nine contemporary French women novelists are intended for a wide audience Students and professors of French literature will find them to be an informative complement to the texts they study The general reader curious about what women writers have to say about their lives and work will find perceptive insights into the creative process contemporary French literature and the female condition The interviewers have structured the conversations to highlight the broader issue of what it means to be a woman writer how these women came to write what contributed to their success how they maintain their careers and how they view their status as a writer These women s voices as captivating as they are diverse are nonetheless remarkably similar in the sincere passion they exhibit for writing Collectively they paint a fascinating picture of the complex world of women s writing in contemporary France II
