Memory Of Kindness Growing Up In War Torn Europe:

Memory of Kindness Gertrude Goetz, 2001-11-01 This personal account chronicles the story of a young Jewish girl growing up in Fascist and later on Nazi occupied Italy More than a personal account it is a testimony that amidst the horror and the deprivations of war kindness and humanity could prevail As seen through the eyes of a young child the book gives a brief account of the Nazi annexation of Austria the ensuing drastic measures undertaken against the Jewish community in Vienna and in the aftermath of Kristallnacht the fathers deportation to Dachau Concentration Camp In February 1939 armed with temporary entry permits to Italy and having obtained the fathers release from Dachau young Gerti and her family leave Austria giving up all their possessions and make their way to Italy and an uncertain future As foreign Jews and political refugees the family settles in Milan as wards of the Jewish community In June 1940 with Italys entry into war Gertis father is imprisoned once again and two months later interned in a remote and isolated village in central Italy It is not until 1942 that Gerti and her mother are also interned in the same rural community and reunited with their father and husband It is in this little village Castilenti where eight year old Gerti finds for the first time in her young life acceptance kindness and gestures of humanity Notwithstanding the many deprivations lack of food her mothers near fatal illness and insecurity about the familys ultimate fate Gerti finds a haven not only among the humble farmers but also among the leading fascist families in the village With the 1943 Armistice and in the wake of German occupation Gertis family is alerted by the village fascist secretary that orders had been received to have the family transferred to a collection camp in Modena for a final resettlement in Poland Aware of the dangers and the tragic fate awaiting them Gerti and her family with the fascist secretarys blessing go into hiding in the forested and mountainous areas of central Italy Living in stables suffering from the inclement weather and malnutrition the family makes its way into hiding under threat of being apprehended by the German occupying forces Liberation comes in June 1944 Gerti by now eleven years old spends the next four years in various displaced persons camps By 1949 the family had to separate once again as Gerti and her mother obtain permission to come to the United States Her father must wait another two and a half years before being able to rejoin the family in the United States Gertis first years in her new homeland were years of adjustment and hard work but they also offered the opportunity to resume a normal life and obtain an education Reminiscences of hardship and deprivations suffered while growing up are always tempered by the benevolence and compassion extended to Gerti and her family by the Italian people Per ricostruire e ricostruirsi. Astorre Mayer e la rinascita ebraica tra Italia e Israele AA. VV., 2010-07-20T00:00:00+02:00 1301 12 Dalla Maiella alle Alpi Costantino Felice, 2014-04-11T00:00:00+02:00 Sul suolo abruzzese la linea Gustav ristagna dall ottobre 1943 al giugno dell anno dopo seminando ovunque morte e distruzione Qui le popolazioni civili entro quadri geografici e storici molto peculiari vengono coinvolte nelle forme pi tipiche e atroci del secondo conflitto mondiale evacuazioni in massa bombardamenti stragi scontri all arma bianca fino alla terra bruciata Solitamente di questo scacchiere bellico nella pubblica opinione e anche nella letteratura corrente viene ricordata la battaglia di Cassino facendone così risaltare soprattutto se non esclusivamente il versante tirrenico dal lato strettamente militare come pure da quello resistenziale. Ma anche le battaglie dal Sangro a Ortona, significativamente definita la Stalingrado d'Italia che nel 1943-44 si combattono in Abruzzo sul versante adriatico sono tra le più cruente e rovinose della guerra. In questo contesto ancor prima che al Nord prende corpo un robusto movimento partigiano dai tratti originali e anticipatori la cui punta più avanzata la Brigata Maiella continuerà a combattere con gli Alleati secondo modalità proprie fino alla liberazione dell'Italia intera. L'autore ricostruisce un ricco mosaico di bande ed eventi resistenziali a cominciare dalla battaglia di Bosco Martese e dalla rivolta di Lanciano che finora la storiografia nazionale e internazionale ha scarsamente considerato. Ne escono ampiamente revisionati convincimenti che sul piano generale sembravano definitivamente acquisiti. Serrato il confronto non soltanto con le mistificanti letture d'impostazione socio antropologica o letteraria ma anche con quelle ancora più deformanti di certi revisionismi vecchi e nuovi. Partendo da uno specifico quadro regionale il libro offre uno spaccato molto variegato per diversi aspetti inedito della guerra e della Resistenza in Italia con la messa a fuoco di questioni cruciali per il ricorrente dibattito culturale sul quale si plasma l'identità della nazione.

Second-Generation Memory and Contemporary Children's Literature Anastasia Ulanowicz, 2013-09-02 Winner of the Children's Literature Association Book Award. This book visits a range of textual forms including diary novel and picturebook to explore the relationship between second generation memory and contemporary children's literature. Ulanowicz argues that second generation memory informed by intimate family relationships, textual mediation and technology is characterized by vicarious rather than direct experience of the past. As such children's literature is particularly well suited to the representation of second generation memory insofar as children's fiction is particularly invested in the transmission and reproduction of cultural memory and its form promotes the formation of various complex intergenerational relationships. Further children's books that depict second generation memory have the potential to challenge conventional Western notions of selfhood and ethics. This study shows how novels such as Lois Lowry's The Giver 1993 and Judy Blume's Starring Sally J. Freedman as Herself 1977 both of which feature protagonists who adapt their elders' memories into their own mnemonic repertoires implicitly reject Cartesian notions of the unified subject in favor of a view of identity as always already social, relational and dynamic in character. This book not only questions how and why second generation memory is represented in books for young people but whether such representations of memory might be considered radical or conservative. Together these analyses address a topic that has not been explored fully within the fields of children's literature, trauma and memory studies and Holocaust studies.
