National Civic Review No 3 Fall 2003:

National Civic Review, No. 3, Fall 2003 Michael R. McGrath, 2003-11-05      National Civic Review, Volume 92, No. 3, Fall 2003 NCR., 2003      Civic Education in the Twenty-First Century Donald M. Gooch, Michael T. Rogers, 2015-09-18

Imagine an America where politicians governmental institutions schools new technologies and interest groups work together to promote informed engaged citizens Civic Education in the Twenty First Century brings together scholars from various disciplines to show how such a United States is possible today Inspired by Alexis de Tocqueville s analysis of American democracy in the early 1800s this edited volume represents a multidimensional evaluation of civic education in its new and varied forms While some lament a civics crisis in America today Civic Education in the Twenty First Century raises hope that we can have an informed and active citizenry We find the activities of a number of politicians government institutions schools and interest groups as promising developments in the struggle to educate and engage Americans in their democracy New technologies and new innovations in civic education have laid the foundation for a revitalized American civic ecology With Civic Education in the Twenty First Century we call for the United States to make these practices less isolated and more common throughout the country The volume is broken into three major sections First there are four chapters exploring the history and philosophical debates about civic education particularly with respect to its role in America s educational institutions Then the second section provides seven groundbreaking inquiries into how politicians and political institutions can promote civic education and engagement through their routine operations As some examples this section explores how politicians through campaigns and judiciaries through community programs enhance civic knowledge and encourage civic engagement This section also explores how new technologies like the Internet and social media are increasingly used by government institutions and other entities to encourage a more politically informed and engaged citizenry Finally the third section contains six chapters that explore programs and practices in higher education that are enhancing civic education engagement and our knowledge of them From the virtual civics campus of Fort Hayes State to citizens academies throughout the country this section shows the possibilities for schools today to once again be civics actors and promoters

Engaging Strangers Daniel J. Monti Jr., 2013 Partisans on both the left and right wings of America s theory class and political spectrum believe we re in trouble big trouble The economy is limping along Inequality has reached unprecedented levels And we seem to be on the verge of being overwhelmed by immigrants who don t look and act anything like our grandparents did much less the men and women who founded our country Angry scared disengaged and distrustful when we aren t openly antagonistic toward each other Americans can t figure out who we are as a people and openly fret about our best days being behind us To make matters worse our political system the one place we re supposed to be able to work on behalf of a broader public good with people who aren t like us appears even more broken than these other parts of our culture There s some unexpected good news however and it s coming from one of the last places in America you d expect different people to be getting along

Boston Bostonians well known for their unwelcoming and sometimes violent treatment of newcomers and unwillingness to find common ground with people deemed outsiders aren't acting broken or taking their resentments out on each other these days They've turned instead to calmer ways of talking about each other and treating each other in public Far from being disconnected and afraid people in Boston are better connected and more respectful of each other and their city is better organized and more orderly than at any time in its long and storied history Bostonians have learned to get along with the strangers among them in ways their ancestors never knew or expected the rest of us would be willing to entertain much less master They have their civic act together Engaging Strangers explores how the people of Boston have learned to practice a more congenial and respectful set of civic virtues In this book the author provides a model for civic conduct for the rest of America to study and follow

Contemporary American Federalism Joseph F. Zimmerman, 2009-07-01 Traces the development of the American federal system of government focusing principally on the shifting balance of powers between the national government and the states

Speak Softly and Carry a Big Stick J. H. Snider, 2005 Broadcasters have always been coddled by politicians and Speak Softly explains how and why J H Snider tells the story with the rigor of a scholar the doggedness of an investigative reporter and the zeal of a reformer Paul Taylor Executive Vice President Pew Research Center J H Snider offers an extremely comprehensive and well documented look behind the curtain at how the National Association of Broadcasters drives its national legislative agenda This is must reading for not only political scientists but for all who are interested in media policy and how it gets made in Washington Chellie Pingree President and CEO Common Cause This astute book is a first rate work of original scholarship It also provides an unsettling description of broadcasters policy influence When their own interests are involved broadcasters cannot be trusted to act in the way they demand of all others in society Readers will no doubt question whether J H Snider's recommended solution is a practical one But no reader will question his call for new measures Thomas E Patterson Bradlee Professor of Government and the Press Harvard University Having played a role in the mad cap drama of telecommunications legislation Snider documents I can tell you he has captured the essence of the machinations strange bedfellows and almost single minded righteous self interest that drives the telecommunications debate Like it or not this is how the power game is really played Stephen R Effros Former President 1976-1999 Cable Telecommunications Association Speak Softly documents the broadcast industry's striking influence on public policy including the landmark Telecommunications Act of 1996 As Congress gears up to re-write the Act J H Snider's analysis is particularly timely Kevin Werbach Professor The Wharton School University of Pennsylvania

Uniting America Norton Garfinkle, Daniel Yankelovich, 2008-10-01 In Uniting America some of the country's most prominent social thinkers among them Francis Fukuyama Daniel Yankelovich Amitai Etzioni Alan Wolfe Uwe Reinhardt and Thomas E Mann reject the myth of polarization On topics ranging from the war on terrorism health care economic policy and Social Security to religion diversity and immigration the authors argue that there are sensible centrist solutions that are more in keeping with prevailing public sentiment and that would better serve the national interest On issue after issue the authors show how the conventional framing of the debate in Washington has misled Americans creating a series of false dilemmas and forcing choices between two extremes at the expense of more balanced and pragmatic policy solutions based on enduring American values Uniting America provides a blueprint for a fresh approach to American politics grounded in moderation pragmatism and the shared values that unite Americans Libraries Beyond Their Institutions Rita Pellen, William Miller, 2014-06-03 Discover collaborative possibilities for your library beyond mere memberships in bibliographic utilities Libraries Beyond Their Institutions Partnerships That Work illustrates the remarkable range of cooperative activities in which libraries are engaged in order to provide the best possible service Increasingly librarians recognize the need to link their institutions to the world around them as part of their obligation to enhance the integration of digital information not only for students in academic settings but also throughout all levels of society An excellent companion and complement to Libraries Within Their Institutions Creative Collaborations Haworth from the same editors this unique book examines the variety of ways librarians work with community organizations government agencies professional organizations minority communities and city governments in their efforts to serve not just students in academic settings but all of society Libraries Beyond Their Institutions Partnerships That Work reflects the growing understanding of the key role played by libraries in the development of civil society This unique book examines the variety of possibilities for collaborations outside institutions including the ways librarians function in a variety of other campus settings such as writing centers teaching excellence centers and academic departments in support of teaching learning and research partnerships with graduate school and information resources management to preserve theses and dissertations electronically promoting civic partnerships initiating a campus wide information literacy resource and partnering with government agencies to form a data literacy program Libraries Beyond Their Institutions Partnerships That Work provides practical information on collaborative training programs to develop baseline competencies in academic libraries to support data services the Chicano Latino Network and the Community Digital Initiative developing an international presence through digital resource sharing successful models of statewide library consortia technology based partnerships promoting K 20 information literacy collaborations between the United States Patent and Trademark Office and patent and trademark depository libraries PTDL the development of AgEcon Search an alternative method of delivering research results Libraries Beyond Their Institutions Partnerships That Work is an invaluable resource for librarians working in academic school special and public settings and for library science faculty and students The Changing Faces of Journalism Barbie Zelizer, 2009-05-07 The Changing Faces of Journalism Tabloidization Technology and Truthiness brings together an array of top scholars who consider how contemporary journalism has wrestled with its changing parameters and who address how notions of tabloidization technology and truthiness have altered our understanding of journalism Citizen Participation in Global

Environmental Governance Richard Worthington, Mikko Rask, Lammi Minna, 2013-11-12 On one day in 2009 in thirty eight countries around the world 4 000 ordinary citizens gathered to discuss the future of climate policy This project WWViews was the first ever global democratic deliberation an attempt to enable ordinary people to reach informed decisions on and impact the global policy process This book which analyzes the experiences and lessons from this ground breaking event marks the beginning of a new kind of democratic politics providing practical lessons on how to increase the impact of global deliberation projects within the media and on official policy processes The authors explore important themes for participatory approaches from the local to the global the role of deliberation within global governance methodology and practice participant selection policy impacts engaging the media how policy culture affects deliberation uptake capacity building and knowledge transfer process evaluation content and argumentation analysis gender race and class aspects The global aims of the WWViews project along with the opportunity to evaluate the same process in different national and cultural contexts makes this a hugely valuable and informative study for all those interested in democratic deliberation and environmental governance from the small to the international scale
