The National Portrait Gallery, Vol. 1 (Classic Reprint) Lionel Cust, 2019-01-20. Excerpt from The National Portrait Gallery Vol 1: The Illustrated Catalogue of the National Portrait Gallery may be considered as a fitting sequel to the Illustrated Catalogue of the National Gallery published by Messrs Cassell and Company in 1899. The National Portrait Gallery was founded in 1856 and was at first housed in temporary premises at 29 Great George Street Westminster. In 1869 the collection was removed to the eastern portion of the Long Building at South Kensington where it remained until the autumn of 1885 when, owing to increased danger from fire, the collection was transferred on temporary loan to the Science and Art Department at the Bethnal Green Museum. Although this was intended to be but a temporary measure, no steps were taken to provide this interesting collection with a permanent home or seemed at all likely to be taken until May 1889 when William Henry Alexander Esq of Shipton Andover Hants generously offered to build a National Portrait Gallery at his own expense. This offer having been accepted by Her Majesty's Government, a site was allotted in St Martin's Place in the rear of the National Gallery and the new building commenced in October 1890. The new Gallery was completed in April 1895. Mr Alexander contributing to its cost and Her Majesty's Government. The collection was then moved into the new building and the Gallery opened to the public on Saturday April 4th 1896. Troide, 1991-02-01 The years 1774 77 saw Fanny Burney s increasing occupation with Evelina which she finally completed and presented to the publisher Thomas Lowndes Like her novel the journals and letters of this period reveal her artistic powers as she continues to sketch characters with economy and precision and create convincing narratives out of the events of her life Among the more memorable figures she meets at her father s London house are the noble savage Omai the first Tahitian brought back to England the famed explorer James Abyssinian Bruce who returned from Africa with tales of natives who ate raw flesh and Prince Aleksei Orlov of Russia who had Czar Peter III murdered in order to permit Peter s wife Catherine the Great to ascend the throne Other notable figures include Dr Samuel Johnson and the great singer Lucrezia Agujari admired by Mozart Also in these pages the usually diffident Miss Burney takes charge of her destiny by rebuffing her suitor Thomas Barlow who has wealth education good looks and the vehement approval of most of her family but whom she finds a total bore The journals and letters of Fanny Burney are an invaluable source for anyone interested in the social and literary history of late eighteenth and early nineteenth century England Lars Troide has supported the texts with thorough and detailed annotations
