Nationalists And Nomads Essays On Francophone African Literature And Culture:

Nationalists and Nomads Christopher L. Miller, 1998 How does African literature written in French change the way we think about nationalism colonialism and postcolonialism How does it imagine the encounter between Africans and French And what does the study of African literature bring to the fields of literary and cultural studies Christopher L Miller explores these and other questions in Nationalists and Nomads Miller ranges from the beginnings of francophone African literature which he traces not to the 1930s Negritude movement but to the largely unknown virulently radical writings of Africans in Paris in the 1920s to the evolving relations between African literature and nationalism in the 1980s and 1990s Throughout he aims to offset the contemporary emphasis on the postcolonial at the expense of the colonial arguing that both are equally complex with powerful ambiguities Arguing against blanket advocacy of any one model such as nationalism or hybridity to explain these ambiguities Miller instead seeks a form of thought that can read and recognize the realities of both identity and difference

Nation-Building, Propaganda, and Literature in Francophone Africa Dominic Thomas, 2002-11-19 The relationship between literature the state is examined in this discussion of Francophone African literature Dominic Thomas considers the case of the Congo where the recent transition to democracy was in part inspired by the works of Sony Labou Tansi Henri Lopes Emmanuel Dongala among others The Contemporary Francophone African Intellectual Natalie Edwards, 2013-07-29 The Contemporary Francophone African Intellectual examines the issues with which the contemporary African intellectual engages the fields s he occupies her his residence and perspective and her his relations with the State and the people In an increasingly economically deprived Africa in which some states are ruled by dictators what chances do people have of becoming intellectuals using their critical faculties to challenge hegemony enacting the transformative power of ideas in a public forum Do intellectuals who remain in Africa run the risk of being swallowed into a vortex of hagiography What is the responsibility of the intellectual in the face of an event such as the Rwandan genocide What influence does religion have upon the contemporary intellectual s work Is migration one of the only paths available for African intellectuals a number of whom have been critiquing their continent from within Europe This volume focuses on the intellectual s engagement across literature philosophy journalism and cultural criticism It contains studies of established writers and philosophers as well as new voices An African writer and public intellectual describes her own experience in and out of Africa in one chapter a Philosophy Professor discusses his intellectual trajectory in another Overall this timely volume which includes analysis of the work of intellectuals from North East West and Central Africa problematizes our current understandings of the intellectual legacy of Africa and opens up new avenues into this understudied area How Strange the Change Marc Caplan, 2011-09-14 In this book Marc Caplan argues that the literatures of ostensibly marginal modern cultures are key to understanding modernism Caplan undertakes an unprecedented comparison of nineteenth century Yiddish literature and twentieth century Anglophone and Francophone African literature and reveals unexpected similarities between them These literatures were created under imperial regimes that brought with them processes of modernization that were already well advanced elsewhere Yiddish and African writers reacted to the liberating potential of modernity and the burdens of imperial authority by choosing similar narrative genres typically reminiscent of early modern European literatures the picaresque the pseudo autobiography satire and the Bildungsroman Both display analogous anxieties toward language caught as they were between imperial global languages and stigmatized native vernaculars and between traditions of writing and orality Through comparative readings of narratives by Reb Nakhman of Breslov Amos Tutuola Yisroel Aksenfeld Cheikh Hamidou Kane Isaac Meyer Dik Camara Laye Mendele Moykher Sforim Wole Soyinka Y Y Linetski and Ahmadou Karouma Caplan demonstrates that these literatures belated relationship to modernization suggests their potential to anticipate subsequent crises in the modernity and post modernity of metropolitan cultures This in turn leads him to propose a new theoretical model peripheral modernism which incorporates both a new understanding of periphery and center in modernity and a new methodology for comparative literary criticism and theory

Forms of Fanonism Reiland Rabaka, 2010-03-08 When Frantz Fanon's critiques of racism sexism colonialism capitalism and humanism are brought into the ever widening orbit of Africana critical theory something unprecedented in the annals of Africana intellectual history happens five distinct forms of Fanonism emerge Forms of Fanonism Frantz Fanon's Critical Theory and the Dialectics of Decolonization is discursively distinguished from other engagements of Fanon's thought and texts insofar as it is the first study to consciously examine his contributions to Africana Studies and critical theory or rather the Africana tradition of critical theory Forms of Fanonism identifies and intensely analyzes Fanon's contributions to the deconstruction and reconstruction of Africana Studies radical politics and critical social theory In highlighting his unique solutions to the problems of racism sexism colonialism capitalism and humanism five distinct forms of Fanonism materialize These five forms of Fanonism allow contemporary critical theorists to innovatively explore the ways in which his thought and texts can be dialectically put to use in relieving the wretched experience of this generation's wretched of the earth Critics can also apply these forms to deconstruct and reconstruct Africana Studies radical politics and critical social theory using their anti imperialist interests Throughout Forms of Fanonism Reiland Rabaka critically dialogues with Fanon incessantly asking his corpus critical questions and seeking from it crucial answers This book in short solemnly keeps with Fanon's own predilection for connecting critical theory to revolutionary praxis by utilizing his thought and texts as paradigms and points of departure to deepen and develop the Africana tradition of critical theory

The Racial Discourses of Life Philosophy Donna V. Jones, 2010-03-05 In the early twentieth century the life philosophy of Henri Bergson summoned the lan vital or vital force as the source of creative evolution Bergson also appealed to intuition which focused on experience rather than discursive thought and scientific cognition Particularly influential for the literary and political Negro movement of the 1930s which opposed French colonialism Bergson's life philosophy formed an appealing alternative to Western modernity

decried as mechanical and set the stage for later developments in postcolonial theory and vitalist discourse Revisiting narratives on life that were produced in this age of machinery and war Donna V Jones shows how Bergson Nietzsche and the poets Leopold Senghor and Aim C saire fashioned the concept of life into a central aesthetic and metaphysical category while also implicating it in discourses on race and nation Jones argues that twentieth century vitalism cannot be understood separately from these racial and anti Semitic discussions She also shows that some dominant models of emancipation within black thought become intelligible only when in dialogue with the vitalist tradition Jones s study strikes at the core of contemporary critical theory which integrates these older discourses into larger critical frameworks and she traces the ways in which vitalism continues to draw from and contribute to its making Singular Performances Michael Syrotinski,2002 Francophone African writing is often concerned with questions of subjectivity and narrative agency and it is this focus Michael Syrotinski takes as his point of departure in Singular Performances Using the work of V Y Mudimbe as a major theoretical reference Syrotinski sets up a number of original dialogues between francophone African literature African philosophy literary theory postcolonial studies cinema cultural studies and history to arrive at the notion of a performative reinscription of subjectivity Singular Performances covers a wide range of francophone African writers each of whom is read within a broader theoretical context related to African subjectivity Mudimbe and the philosophical subject Aoua K ita and autobiography Bernard Dadi and ethnographic irony Ousmane Sembene and Tierno Mon nembo and the cinematic imagination V ronique Tadjou and Werewere Liking and the female writing subject and Sony Labou Tansi and the spectral subject In this skillful interdisciplinary weaving together of contemporary theory and literature the focus on the francophone African subject allows for a richer appreciation of the texture and rhetoric of the language of the texts themselves What emerges from this study is the subject understood not as a single homogenized entity but as a plural celebration of singular francophone African subjectivities The Oxford History of the Novel in English Simon Gikandi,2016-10-03 Why did the novel take such a long time to emerge in the colonial world And what cultural work did it come to perform in societies where subjects were not free and modes of social organization diverged from the European cultural centers where the novel gained its form and audience Answering these questions and more Volume 11 The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean since 1950 explores the institutions of cultural production that exerted influence in late colonialism from missionary schools and metropolitan publishers to universities and small presses How these structures provoke and respond to the literary trends and social peculiarities of Africa and the Caribbean impacts not only the writing and reading of novels in those regions but also has a transformative effect on the novel as a global phenomenon Together the volume s 32 contributing experts tell a story about the close relationship between the novel and the project of decolonization and explore the multiple ways in which novels enable readers to imagine communities beyond their own and thus made this form of literature a compelling catalyst for cultural transformation The authors show that even as the novel grows in Africa and the Caribbean as a mark of the elites mastery of European form it becomes the essential instrument for critiquing colonialism and for articulating the new horizons of cultural nationalism Within this historical context the volume examines works by authors such as Chinua Achebe Nadine Gordimer George Lamming Jamaica Kincaid V S Naipaul Zoe Wicomb J M Coetzee and many others

Postcolonial Thought in the French Speaking World Charles Forsdick, David Murphy, 2022-04-01 In the late 1990s Postcolonial Studies risked imploding as a credible area of academic enquiry Repeated anthologization and an overemphasis on the English language literatures led to sustained critiques of the field and to an active search for alternative approaches to the globalized and transnational formations of the post colonial world In the early twenty first century however postcolonial began to reveal a new openness to its comparative dimensions French language contributors to postcolonial debate such as Édouard Glissant and Abdelkebir Khatibi have recently risen to greater prominence in the English speaking world and there have also appeared an increasing number of important critical and theoretical texts on postcolonial issues written by scholars working principally on French language material It is to such a context that this book responds Acknowledging these shifts this volume provides an essential tool for students and scholars outside French departments seeking a way into the study of Francophone colonial postcolonial debates At the same time it supplies scholars in French with a comprehensive overview of essential ideas and key intellectuals in this area

Race on Display in 20th- and 21st-century France Katelyn E. Knox, 2016 Race on Display in 20th and 21st Century France argues that the way France displayed its colonized peoples in the twentieth century continues to inform how minority authors and artists make immigrants and racial and ethnic minority populations visible in contemporary France

To Be Free and French Lorelle Semley, 2017-07-10 The Haitian Revolution may have galvanized subjects of French empire in the Americas and Africa struggling to define freedom and Frenchness for themselves but Lorelle Semley reveals that this event was just one moment in a longer struggle of women and men of color for rights under the French colonial regime Through political activism ranging from armed struggle to literary expression these colonial subjects challenged and exploited promises in French Republican rhetoric that should have contradicted the continued use of slavery in the Americas and the introduction of exploitative labor in the colonization of Africa They defined an alternative French citizenship which recognized difference particularly race as part of a universal French identity Spanning Atlantic port cities in Haiti Senegal Martinique Benin and France this book is a major contribution to scholarship on citizenship race empire and gender and it sheds new light on debates around human rights and immigration in contemporary France Senegal Abroad Maya Angela Smith,2019-03-05

Senegal Abroad explores the fascinating role of language in national transnational postcolonial racial and migrant identities Capturing the experiences of Senegalese in Paris Rome and New York it depicts how they make sense of who they are and how they fit into their communities countries and the larger global Senegalese diaspora Drawing on extensive interviews with a wide range of emigrants as well as people of Senegalese heritage Maya Angela Smith contends that they shape their identity as they purposefully switch between languages and structure their discourse The Senegalese are notable Smith suggests both in their capacity for movement and in their multifaceted approach to language She finds that although the emigrants she interviews express complicated relationships to the multiple languages they speak and the places they inhabit they also convey pleasure in both travel and language Offering a mix of poignant funny reflexive introspective and witty stories they blur the lines between the utility and pleasure of language allowing a more nuanced understanding of why and how Senegalese move Exile and Nomadism in French and Hispanic Women's Writing Kate Averis,2017-07-05

Women in exile disrupt assumptions about exile belonging home and identity For many women exiles home represents less a place of belonging and more a point of departure and exile becomes a creative site of becoming rather than an unsettling state of errancy Exile may be a propitious circumstance for women to renegotiate identities far from the strictures of home appropriating a new freedom in mobility Through a feminist politics of place displacement and subjectivity this comparative study analyses the novels of key contemporary Francophone and Latin American writers Nancy Huston Linda Le Malika Mokeddem Cristina Peri Rossi Laura Restrepo and Cristina Siscar to identify a new nomadic subjectivity in the lives and works of transnational women today Postcolonial Paradoxes in French Caribbean Writing Jeannie Suk,2001-05-17

This book is the first major study of French Caribbean literature in light of the concept of postcoloniality Postcolonial theory debates have developed in the anglophone domain and have not as yet referred prominently to francophone literature Jeannie Suk investigates how the literature of Martinique and Guadeloupe provides a kaleidoscopic view of the paradoxes at the heart of postcoloniality Through subtle and provocative readings of Aim C saire Edouard Glissant Maryse Condé Baudelaire Freud and others she illuminates how the development of French Caribbean literature and debates about ngritude antillanité and créolité contribute to theories of in betweenness and incompleteness central to postcolonial modes In each chapter lively and detailed analyses of literary and critical texts reveal connections between key thematic conceptual rhetorical and psychic issues that form the interface of Caribbean and postcolonial concerns The first part paves theoretical ground focusing on readings of two seminal texts C saire s Cahier d un retour au pays natal and Glissant s Discours antillais the second part concentrates on Maryse Condé's exemplary work. Lucidly articulating the overlap and interplay of the distance of oceanic crossing, the discontinuities of allegorical signification and the gap at the heart of trauma, Suk probes the paradoxical dynamic of impossible yet inevitable returns in space, time and the psyche. She shows how literal and metaphorical crossings both produce and impede history and representation. The result is a new framework for understanding the intersection of postcolonial psychoanalytic, deconstructive and French Caribbean problems in a language attentive to improbable recurrences across theories and registers. Postcolonial Paradoxes is a major contribution to criticism and theory of interest to scholars and students of postcolonialism, Caribbean and African diaspora literature, French literature and psychoanalysis.

The Tongue-Tied Imagination Tobias Warner, 2019-03-05 Winner 2021 African Literature Association First Book Award. Should a writer work in a former colonial language or in a vernacular? The language question was one of the great intractable problems that haunted postcolonial literatures in the twentieth century, but it has since acquired a reputation as a dead end for narrow nationalism. This book returns to the language question from a fresh perspective. Instead of asking whether language matters, The Tongue Tied Imagination explores how the language question itself came to matter. Focusing on the case of Senegal, Warner investigates the intersection of French and Wolof. Drawing on extensive archival research and an understudied corpus of novels, poetry and films in both languages, as well as educational projects and popular periodicals, the book traces the emergence of a politics of language from colonization through independence to the era of neoliberal development. Warner reads the francophone works of well-known authors such as Léopold Senghor, Ousmane Sembène, Mariama B. and Boubacar Boris Diop alongside the more overlooked Wolof language works with which they are in dialogue. Refusing to see the turn to vernacular languages only as a form of nativism, The Tongue Tied Imagination argues that the language question opens up a fundamental struggle over the nature and limits of literature itself. Warner reveals how language debates tend to pull in two directions: first they weave vernacular traditions into the normative patterns of world literature, but second they create space to imagine how literary culture might be configured otherwise. Drawing on these insights, Warner brilliantly rethinks the terms of world literature and charts a renewed practice of literary comparison.

Colonial Continuities and Decoloniality in the French-Speaking World Sarah Arens, Nicola Frith, Jonathan Lewis, Rebekah Vince, 2024-02-06. This volume pays tribute to the work of Professor Kate Marsh (1974-2019), an outstanding scholar whose research covered an extraordinarily wide range of interests and approaches encompassing the history of empire, literature, politics and cultural production across the Francophone world from the eighteenth to the twenty-first century. Each of the chapters within engages with a different aspect of Marsh's interest in French colonialism and the entanglements of its complex afterlives, whether it be her interest in the longevity of imperial rivalries, loss and colonial nostalgia, exoticism and the female body, decolonization and the ends of empire, the French colonial imagination, the policing of racialized bodies or anti-colonial activism and resistance. As well as reflecting the geographical and intellectual breadth of

Marsh's research the volume demonstrates how her work continues to resonate with emerging scholarship around decoloniality transcolonial mobilities and anti colonial resistance in the Francophone world From French India to Algeria and from the Caribbean to contemporary France this collection demonstrates the persistent relevance of Marsh's scholarship to the histories and legacies of empire while opening up conversations about its implications for decolonial approaches to imperial histories and the future of Francophone Postcolonial Studies
