Memories of Africa Toyin Falola,2023-03-24 2023 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title Memories of Africa Home and Abroad in the United States suggests a new lens for viewing African Diaspora studies the experiences of African memoirists who live in the United States The book shows how African Diaspora memoirs beautifully and grippingly depict the experiences of African migrants over time through political social and cultural spheres In reading African Diaspora memoirs from the transatlantic slave trade period to the present a reader can understand the complexity of the African migrant legacy and evolution Author Toyin Falola argues that memoirs are significant not only in their interpretation of events conveyed by the memoirists but also in demonstrating how interpersonal and human the stories told can be Memoirs are powerful

because they are emotionally captivating and because important themes and events circulate around a particular person in this case the memoirist Undoubtedly a memoir is significant because it can teach anyone about a part of the human experience even if the facts are not described without bias Through this sort of narrative the reader cannot help but enter into the memoirist's mind and therefore feel more empathy for them In doing so the reader can feel what the memoirist feels and see what the memoirist sees as clearly as is humanly possible In this way the historical events and life lessons become tangible and poignantly real to the reader

Forgiving the Boundaries Terry Caesar, 1995 Caesar attempts to historicize the sustaining interplay between romanticism and travel writing but also emphasizes that his understanding of American travel writing has more to do with narrative form epistemology and cultural inheritance than particular historical shapings

Black is the Journey, Africana the Name Maboula Soumahoro, 2021-09-23 In this highly original book

Maboula Soumahoro explores the cultural and political vastness of the Black Atlantic where Africa Europe and the Americas were tied together by the brutal realities of the slave trade and colonialism Each of these spaces has its own way of reading the Black body and the Black experience and its own modes of visibility invisibility silence and amplification of Black life By weaving together her personal history with that of France and its abiding myth of color blindness Maboula Soumahoro highlights the banality and persistence of structural racism in France today and shows that freedom will be found in the journey and movement between the sites of the Atlantic triangle Africana is the name of that freedom How can we build and reflect on a collective diasporic identity through a personal journey What are the limits and possibilities of this endeavor when the personal journey is that of oft erased bodies and stories de humanized lives and when Black populations in Africa the Americas and Europe identify and misidentify with each other their sensibilities shaped by the particular locales in which their lives unfold This book makes an important intellectual contribution to contemporary public conversations and theoretical inquiry into race racism blackness and identity today as it probes and questions the academic methodologies that have functioned as structures of exclusion

At Home In Diaspora Wendy W. Walters, Although he never lived in Harlem Chester Himes commented that he experienced a sort of pure homesickness while creating the Harlem set detective novels from his self imposed exile in Paris Through writing Himes constructed an imaginary home informed both by nostalgia for a community he never knew and a critique of the racism he left behind in the United States Half a century later Michelle Cliff wrote about her native Jamaica from the United States articulating a positive Caribbean feminism that at the same time acknowledged Jamaica's homophobia and color prejudice In At Home in Diaspora Wendy Walters investigates the work of Himes Cliff and three other twentieth century black international writers Caryl Phillips Simon Njami and Richard Wright who have lived in and written from countries they do not call home Unlike other authors in exile those of the African diaspora are doubly displaced first by the discrimination they faced at home and again by their life abroad Throughout Walters suggests that in the absence of a recoverable land of origin the idea of diaspora comes to represent a home that is not singular or exclusionary In this way writing in exile is much more than a literary performance it is a profound political act Wendy W Walters is assistant professor of literature at Emerson College

Afrocentrism Stephen Howe, 1999-08-17 For centuries racist colonial and Eurocentric bias has blocked or distorted knowledge of Africans their histories and cultures resulting in a counter mythology claiming the innate superiority of African descended peoples In this provocative study historian Stephen Howe challenges this Afrocentric rewriting of African history 16 photos Copyright Libri GmbH All rights reserved

The American Adrenaline Narrative Kristin J. Jacobson, 2020-06-01 The American Adrenaline Narrative considers the nature of perilous outdoor adventure tales their gendered biases and how they simultaneously promote and hinder ecological sustainability To explore these themes Kristin J Jacobson defines and compares adrenaline narratives by a range of American authors published after the first Earth Day in 1970 a time frame selected as a watershed moment for the contemporary American environmental movement The forty plus years since that day also mark the rise in the popularity and marketing of many things as extreme including sports jobs travel beverages gum makeovers laundry detergent and even the environmental movement itself Jacobson maps the American eco imagination via adrenaline narratives grounding them in the traditional literary practice of close reading analysis and in ecofeminism She surveys a range of popular and lesser known primary texts by American authors including best selling books such as Jon Krakauer's Into Thin Air and Aron Ralston's Between a Rock and a Hard Place and lesser known texts such as Patricia C McCairen's Canyon Solitude Eddy L Harris's Mississippi Solo and Stacy Allison's Beyond the Limits She also discusses such narratives as they appear in print and online articles and magazines feature length and short films television shows amateur videos social networking site posts fiction advertising and blogs Jacobson contends that these stories constitute a distinctive genre because unlike traditional nature travel and sports writing adrenaline narratives sustain heightened risk or the element of the extreme within a natural setting Additionally these narratives provide important insight into the American environmental imagination's connection to masculinity and adventure knowledge that helps us grasp the current climate crisis and how narrative understanding provides a needed intervention
