Other Things The Aardvark Signed:

Black Magic Woman Justin Gustainis, 2008-01-07 Occult investigator Quincey Morris and his consultant white witch Libby Chastain are hired to free a family from a deadly curse that appears to date back to the Salem witch trials. Fraught with danger, the trail finds them stalking the mysterious occult underworlds of Boston, San Francisco, New Orleans, and New York, searching out the root of the curse. After surviving a series of terrifying attempts on their lives, the two find themselves drawn inexorably towards Salem itself and the very heart of darkness.

Black Lion One Donald E. Auten, 2022-11-22 An exciting look at what it takes to command a US Navy Fighter Squadron. This historical biography of John Monroe Hawk Smith, Navy fighter pilot, is a gripping account of valor, sacrifice, and adventure during one of the most tumultuous periods in carrier aviation. Hawk, having completed a stunning tour as commanding officer of TOPGUN, received orders to a frontline F-14 Tomcat squadron, VF-213, the Black Lions. Hawk joined the Black Lions prior to their March 1979 deployment. Several critical factors portended to a most arduous workup period and deployment; there were issues lurking. But Hawk was a man who did not shy away from a challenge. Soon the Lions would have opportunities to show their colors. These included the first ever Fighter Derby at NAS Miramar, California; the World Cup for naval fighter squadrons; and Constant Peg, a highly classified Black Program that exposed aircrews to the capabilities of Soviet fighters. Aviation enthusiasts and historians will be captivated by the historical fidelity and descriptive air combat engagements, amused by the perpetual mirth of TACAIR aviators, and inspired by lessons of leadership that apply to all walks of life.

Scrundle: A Historical Novel Alison Lynde, 2012-06-18 Three interlaced stories filled with music, murder, fire, and fraud, erratically controlled by a narrator, comprise Scrundle: A Historical Novel. In 1348, as the Black Death spreads in Europe, musicians who play a massive instrument called the Scrundle are caught between two feuding barons. One captures them, and the other burns the instrument on the advice of a peasant who believes it to be a symbol of pestilence and religious corruption. Two musicians escape to tell the tale in a manuscript or MS. One baron is banished for the destruction, while the other's widow builds Scrundle Hall in Cambridge, bequeathing the MS to the College. In 1659, Joshua Mayne, descendent of the banished baron and a Fellow of the College, plans to translate the MS and recreate the instrument. Ejected for heretical beliefs, he murders the College librarian, steals the MS, and covers his tracks by setting fire to the College. He escapes to his family home, where his unpolished translation remains in the family library. By 2000, the last of the Mayne family has refounded the College and intends to bequeath the family library to it. A musicology Fellow steals the Scrundle MS and other valuable items prior to cataloguing. Meanwhile, a television archaeological team has been invited to excavate the College foundations. It arrives when the library is finally delivered, unearths the bones of the murdered librarian, and tries to explain the original fire, even as another is about to ignite.
