The book is semi-autobiographical and recounts the adventures of a refined youth among coarse and brutal sailors and the seedier areas of Liverpool. Melville wrote Redburn in less than ten weeks. While one scholar describes it as arguably his funniest work, scholar F. O. Matthiessen calls it the most moving of its author's books before Moby-Dick.

Wellingborough: as you are going to sea, suppose you take this shooting jacket of mine along; it's just the thing; take it, it will save the expense of another. You see it's quite warm, fine long skirts, stout horn buttons, and plenty of pockets. Out of the goodness and simplicity of his heart, thus spoke my elder brother to me upon the eve of my departure for the seaport. And Wellingborough he added: since we are both short of money, and you want an outfit, and I have none to give you, may as well take my fowling piece along and sell it in New York for what you can get. Nay, take it, it's of no use to me now; I can't find it in powder any more. I was then but a boy. Some time previous, my mother had removed from New York to a pleasant village on the Hudson River, where we lived in a small house in a quiet way Sad disappointments in several plans which I had sketched for my future life the necessity of doing something for myself united to a naturally roving disposition had now conspired within me to send me to sea as a sailor
