The New Theory of Reference P. Humphreys, J.H. Fetzer, 2012-12-06 On January 20th 22nd and 29th 1970 Saul Kripke delivered three lectures at Princeton University They produced something of a sensation In the lectures he argued amongst other things that many names in ordinary language referred to objects directly rather than by means of associated descriptions that causal chains from language user to language user were an important mechanism for preserving reference that there were necessary a posteriori and contingent a priori truths that identity relations between rigid designators were necessary and argued more tentatively that materialist identity theories in the philosophy of mind were suspect Interspersed with this was a considerable amount of material on natural kind terms and essentialism As a result of these lectures and a related 1971 paper Identity and Necessity Kripke 1971 talk of rigid designators Hesperus and Phosphorus meter bars gold and H₂O and suchlike quickly became commonplace in philosophical circles 2 and when the lectures were published under the title Naming and Necessity in the collection The Semantics of Natural Language Davidson and Harman 1972 that volume became the biggest seller in the Reidel later Kluwer list The cluster of theses surrounding the idea that a relation of direct reference 2 exists between names and their referents is now frequently referred to as The 3 New Theory of Reference
