It having been frequently stated in print that the book called Lavengro was got up expressly against the popish agitation in the years 1850 51 the author takes this opportunity of saying that the principal part of that book was written in the year 43 that the whole of it was completed before the termination of the year 46 and that it was in the hands of the publisher in the year 48 And here he cannot forbear observing that it was the duty of that publisher to have rebutted a statement which he knew to be a calumny and also to have set the public right on another point dealt with in the Appendix to the present work more especially as he was the proprietor of a review enjoying however undeservedly a certain sale and reputation But take your own part boy For if you don t no one will take it for you With respect to Lavengro the author feels that he has no reason to be ashamed of it In writing that book he did his duty by pointing out to his country people the nonsense which to the greater part of them is as the breath of their nostrils and which if indulged in as it probably will be to the same extent as hitherto will within a very few years bring the land which he most loves beneath a foreign yoke he does not here allude to the yoke of Rome Instead of being ashamed has he not rather cause to be proud of a book which has had the honour of being rancorously abused and execrated by the very people of whom the country has least reason to be proud p iv
