Egyptian Cultural Identity in the Architecture of Roman Egypt (30 BC-AD 325) Youssri Ezzat Hussein Abdelwahed,2015-02-06 This volume considers the relationship between architectural form and different layers of identity assertion in Roman Egypt It stresses the sophistication of the concept of identity and the complex yet close association between architecture and identity States of Dispossession Zerrin Özlem Biner,2020-01-17 The military conflict between the Kurdistan Workers Party PKK and the Turkish Armed Forces has endured over the course of the past three decades Since 1984 the conflict has claimed the lives of more than 45 000 civilians militants and soldiers as well as causing thousands of casualties and disappearances It has led to the displacement of millions of people and caused the forced evacuation of nearly 4 000 villages and towns Suspended periodically by various cease fires the conflict has been a significant force in shaping many of the ethnic social and political enclaves of contemporary Turkey where contradictory forms of governance have been installed across the Kurdish region In States of Dispossession Zerrin zlem Biner traces the violence of the protracted conflict in the Kurdish region through the lens of dispossession By definition dispossession implies the act of depriving someone of land property and other belongings as well as the result of such deprivation Within the fields of Ottoman and contemporary Turkish studies social scientists to date have examined the dispossession of rights and property as a technique for governing territory and those citizens living at its margins States of Dispossession instead highlights everyday experiences in an attempt to understand the persistent and intangible effects of dispossession Biner examines the practices and discourses that emerge from local memories of unspoken irresolvable histories and the ways people of differing religious and ethnic backgrounds live with the remains of violence that is still unfolding She explores the implicit knowledge held by ordinary people about the landscape and the built environment and the continuous struggle to reclaim rights over dispossessed bodies and places

Old-House Journal ,2003-03 Old House Journal is the original magazine devoted to restoring and preserving old houses For more than 35 years our mission has been to help old house owners repair restore update and decorate buildings of every age and architectural style Each issue explores hands on restoration techniques practical architectural guidelines historical overviews and homeowner stories all in a trusted authoritative voice The Ottoman House S. Ireland,1998-12-01 Seemingly contradictory ideas of privacy and community dominate Ottoman cities While houses are internally divided to guard female modesty behind a frontage studded with peep holes streets in cities like Amasya are often bridged by first floor passageways between different houses This book contains 17 papers by architects and archaeologists looking at how the Ottoman house was structured how it has varied over time and space and how surviving examples are faring in a world of breeze block construction Although the examples discussed are all Near Eastern and mostly from Turkey the revelations this book contains about structuring principles will make it a valuable companion to understanding architectural relics from all over the Ottoman Empire
