Sacred Landscape:

Sacred Landscapes in Antiquity Ralph Haussler, Gian Franco Chiaia, 2020-07-31 From generation to generation people experience their landscapes differently Humans depend on their natural environment it shapes their behavior while it is often felt that deities responsible for both natural benefits and natural calamities such as droughts famines floods and landslides need to be appeased We presume that in many societies lakes rivers rocks mountains caves and groves were considered sacred Individual sites and entire landscapes are often associated with divine actions mythical heroes and etiological myths Throughout human history people have also felt the need to monumentalize their sacred landscape But this is where the similarities end as different societies had very different understandings beliefs and practices The aim of this new thematic appraisal is to scrutinize carefully our evidence and rethink our methodologies in a multi disciplinary approach More than 30 papers investigate diverse sacred landscapes from the Iberian peninsula and Britain in the west to China in the east They discuss how to interpret the intricate web of ciphers and symbols in the landscape and how people might have experienced it We see the role of performance ritual orality textuality and memory in people s sacred landscapes A diachronic view allows us to study how landscapes were rewritten adapted and redefined in the course of time to suit new cultural political and religious understandings not to mention the impact of urbanism on people s understandings A key question is how was the landscape manipulated transformed and monumentalized especially the colossal investments in monumental architecture we see in certain socio historic contexts or the creation of an alternative humanmade seemingly non natural landscape with perfectly astronomically aligned buildings that define a cosmological order Sacred Landscapes therefore aims to analyze the complex links between landscape religiosity and society developing a dialectic framework that explores sacred landscapes across the ancient world in a dynamic holistic contextual and historical perspective Creating the Sacred Landscape

Darius Liutikas, 2025-05-19 This book explores the enduring significance of sacred landscapes in an increasingly globalized world with a particular focus on the Christian sacred landscape and its connection to pilgrimage and rituals Drawing on the latest research it examines the interplay between global societal changes and historical traditions offering a rich analysis of how sacred spaces shape and reflect cultural and social identities Through a multidisciplinary lens encompassing cultural geography anthropology sociology of tourism and religious geography the book illuminates the role of pilgrimage in fostering community identity and preserving historical continuity By comparing sacred sites and practices across diverse cultural contexts it provides readers with a deeper understanding of their universal and localized meanings This work also offers a comprehensive historical perspective tracing the evolution of sacred landscapes over time and across regions Accessible and thought provoking it invites readers from various disciplines to engage with the cultural social and spiritual dimensions of these powerful spaces Sacred Landscape Meron Benvenisti, 2000-03-01 As a young man Meron Benvenisti often accompanied his father a distinguished geographer when the elder Benvenisti traveled through the Holy Land charting a

Hebrew map that would rename Palestinian sites and villages with names linked to Israel's ancestral homeland. These experiences in Benvenisti's youth are central to this book and the story that he tells helps explain how during this century an Arab landscape physical and human was transformed into an Israeli Jewish state. Benvenisti first discusses the process by which new Hebrew nomenclature replaced the Arabic names of more than 9 000 natural features villages and ruins in Eretz Israel Palestine his name for the Holy Land thereby defining it as a land of Jews and Arabs. He then explains how the Arab landscape has been transformed through war destruction and expulsion into a flourishing Jewish homeland accommodating millions of immigrants. The resulting encounters between two peoples who claim the same land have raised great moral and political dilemmas which Benvenisti presents with candor and impartiality. Benvenisti points out that five hundred years after the Moors left Spain there are sufficient landmarks remaining to preserve the outlines of Muslim Spain. Even with sustained modern development the ancient scale is still visible. Yet a Palestinian returning to his ancestral landscape after only fifty years would have difficulty identifying his home. Furthermore Benvenisti says the transformation of Arab cultural assets into Jewish holy sites has engendered a struggle over the signposts of memory essential to both peoples. Sacred Landscape raises troublesome questions that most writers on the Middle East avoid. The now buried Palestinian landscape remains a symbol and a battle standard for Palestinians and Israelis. But it is Benvenisti's continuing belief that Eretz Israel Palestine has enough historical and physical space for the people of both nations and that it can one day be a shared homeland. Celtic Sacred Landscapes Nigel Pennick, 2000 This book aims to show us the holy sites of Britain Ireland and mainland Europe through Celtic eyes which means that it inevitably takes a somewhat spiritual mind body and spirit tone. That said it offers a fascinating introduction to oral traditions of Celtic religion and its ties to the landscape. The Sacred Landscape, 1988

Geographies of Religious Spaces and Sacred Landscapes Darius Liutikas, 2025-07-15 This illuminating book explores the pivotal role of sacred landscapes in today's globalized world analysing the latest research of how political social and historical factors influence their creation preservation and transformation. It examines the significance of sacred landscapes in shaping social identity and community history providing valuable insights into their rich heritage and evolving traditions. Human Development in Sacred Landscapes Lutz KÃ Åppel, Vassiliki Pothou, 2015 Holy Landscape is a term frequently used to describe a multidimensional phenomenon. What this actually comprises is hard to define. Precisely this question is addressed in this volume. The holy landscape depends on people's Weltanschauung and is influenced by their respective culture and ethos. It is not just a question of religious buildings and rituals nor is a mere matter of explicating terms such as pure and impure magic and myths; it is about an expressive space in which the ceremony and mood of rites and cults take place. The contributions also deal with the emergence and continuing development of the term holy landscape and the changing expressions of religious mood. The Human Landscape Geeti Sen, Ashis Banerjee, 2001 This Book Is Located Within The Contemporary Discourse Of Human Geography Ecology And The Cultural Landscape.
