A Nation in Making Sir Surendranath Banerjea, 1925      Elizabeth Adam's Progressive Humanist Non-Nationalist Universal-Nation-Making Means (Second Edition) Istvan Adorjan, 2018-11-21 Besides presenting her humanist principles their introduction in her art and diffusion this book discloses those information puzzles relative to the ethnical and the national secret political organizations which the Hungarian actress in Romania Elizabeth Adam 1947 2014 in her original name Erzsébet D M introduced codedly hid in her art and partly because of which she was in several states marginalized persecuted in secret and then forbidden from practicing her profession      War, Revolution, and Nation-making in Lithuania, 1914-1923 Tomas Balkelis, 2018 In this book Tomas Balkelis explores how the Lithuanian state was created and shaped by the Great War from its onset in 1914 to the last waves of violence in 1923 As the very notion of independent Lithuania was constructed during the war violence is seen as an essential part of the formation of Lithuanian state nation and identity War was much more than simply the historical context in which the tectonic shift from empire to nation state took place It transformed people policies institutions and modes of thought in ways that would continue to shape the nation for decades after the conflict subsided In telling the story of the post WWI conflict in Lithuania War Revolution and Nation Making in Lithuania 1914 1923 focuses on the soldiers and civilians involved in the conflict rather than the strategies and acts of politicians generals or diplomats The volume's two main themes are the impact of military social and cultural mobilizations on the local population and different types of violence that were so characteristic of the region throughout the period The actors in this story are people displaced by war and mobilized for war refugees veterans volunteers peasant conscripts POWs paramilitary fighters and others who took to guns not diplomacy to assert their power This is the story of how their lives were changed by war and how they shaped the society that emerged after war      Tonic to the Nation: Making English Music in the Festival of Britain Nathaniel G. Lew, 2016-07-01 Long remembered chiefly for its modernist exhibitions on the South Bank in London the 1951 Festival of Britain also showcased British artistic creativity in all its forms In Tonic to the Nation Nathaniel G Lew tells the story of the English classical music and opera composed and revived for the Festival and explores how these long overlooked components of the Festival helped define English music in the post war period Drawing on a wealth of archival material Lew looks closely at the work of the newly chartered Arts Council of Great Britain for whom the Festival of Britain provided the first chance to assert its authority over British culture The Arts Council devised many musical programs for the Festival including commissions of new concert works a vast London Season of almost 200 concerts highlighting seven centuries of English musical creativity and several schemes to commission and perform new operas These projects were not merely directed at bringing audiences to hear new and old national music but to share broader goals of framing the national repertory negotiating between the conflicting demands of conservative and progressive tastes and using music to forge new national definitions in a changed post war world      The Making of the English Nation (B.C. 55-1135

A.D.) Sir Charles Grant Robertson,1906      Natives Making Nation Andrew Canessa,2011-08-01 In Bolivia today the ability to speak an indigenous language is highly valued among educated urbanites as a useful job skill but a rural person who speaks a native language is branded with lower social status Likewise chewing coca in the countryside spells inferior indian but in La Paz jazz bars it s decidedly cool In the Andes and elsewhere the commodification of indianness has impacted urban lifestyles as people co opt indigenous cultures for qualities that emphasize the uniqueness of their national culture This volume looks at how metropolitan ideas of nation employed by politicians the media and education are produced reproduced and contested by people of the rural Andes people who have long been regarded as ethnically and racially distinct from more culturally European urban citizens Yet these peripheral natives are shown to be actively engaged with the idea of the nation in their own communities forcing us to re think the ways in which indigeneity is defined by its marginality The contributors examine the ways in which numerous identities racial generational ethnic regional national gender and sexual are both mutually informing and contradictory among subaltern Andean people who are more likely now to claim an allegiance to a nation than ever before Although indians are less often confronted with crude assimilationist policies they continue to face racism and discrimination as they struggle to assert an identity that is more than a mere refraction of the dominant culture Yet despite the language of multiculturalism employed even in constitutional reform any assertion of indian identity is likely to be resisted By exploring topics as varied as nation building in the 1930s or the chuqila dance these authors expose a paradox in the relation between indians and the nation that the nation can be claimed as a source of power and distinct identity while simultaneously making some types of national imaginings unattainable Whether dancing together or simply talking to one another the people described in these essays are shown creating identity through processes that are inherently social and interactive To sing to eat to weave In the performance of these simple acts bodies move in particular spaces and contexts and do so within certain understandings of gender race and nation Through its presentation of this rich variety of ethnographic and historical contexts Natives Making Nation provides a finely nuanced view of contemporary Andean life

A Nation in Making Sir Surendranath Banerjea,1927      Trials of Nation Making Brooke Larson,2004-01-19 This book offers the first interpretive synthesis of the history of Andean peasants and the challenges of nation making in the four republics of Colombia Ecuador Peru and Bolivia during the turbulent nineteenth century Nowhere in Latin America were postcolonial transitions more vexed or violent than in the Andes where communal indigenous roots grew deep and where the Indian problem seemed so daunting to liberalizing states Brooke Larson paints vivid portraits of Creole ruling elites and native peasantries engaged in ongoing political and moral battles over the rightful place of the Indian majorities in these emerging nation states In this story indigenous people emerge as crucial protagonists through their prosaic struggles for land community and ethnic identity as well as in the upheaval of war rebellion and repression in rural society This book raises broader issues about the interplay of liberalism racism and ethnicity in the formation of exclusionary republics without
