It provides a broad overview of the existing literature and introduces specific innovative aspects about the impact of inequality and redistribution on growth when growth is driven by human or physical capital investments, as well as the impact of technological progress and accumulation on the distribution of earnings. There is a special focus on the role of social comparison, redistributive taxation, and new information technologies for the relationship between inequality and growth. The analytical part of the book mainly consists of endogenous growth models. Investing Today for the World of Tomorrow Deutsche Bundesbank, 2012-12-06 Investment is crucial to the development of a nation's economy and welfare. In contrast to the situation in the United States, investment activity in Europe has been quite modest over the past few years. This volume gathers together a number of papers by prominent researchers in the field of investment. It provides an overview of recent developments in this area and presents new empirical findings on the determinants and implications of the investment process in European countries. Among the topics examined are the role played by taxation, uncertainty, and the financial systems, as well as the relevance of corporate governance to the investment process. Two chapters are dedicated to infrastructure investment and foreign direct investment. This book examines the core associated problems of tax payment and collection in the context of transition from a centrally planned economy to a market economy.
