National Deconstruction:

National Deconstruction David Campbell, How did Bosnia once a polity of intersecting and overlapping identities come to be understood as an intractable ethnic problem David Campbell pursues this question and its implications for the politics of community democracy justice and multiculturalism through readings of media and academic representations of the conflict in Bosnia National Deconstruction is a rethinking of the meaning of ethnic nationalist violence and a critique of the impoverished discourse of identity politics that crippled the international response to the Bosnian crisis Rather than assuming the preexistence of an entity called Bosnia Campbell considers the complex array of historical statistical cartographic and other practices through which the definitions of Bosnia have come to be These practices traverse a continuum of political spaces from the bodies of individuals and the corporate body of the former Yugoslavia to the international bodies of the world community Among the book's many original disclosures arrived at through a critical reading of international diplomacy is the shared identity politics of the peacemakers and paramilitaries Equally significant is Campbell's conclusion that the international response to the Bosnian war was hamstrung by the poverty of Western thought on the politics of heterogeneous communities Indeed he contends that Europe and the United States intervened in Bosnia not to save the ideal of multiculturalism abroad but rather to shore up the nationalist imaginary so as to contain the ideal of multiculturalism at home By bringing to the fore the concern with ethics politics and responsibility contained in more traditional accounts of the Bosnian war this book is a major statement on the inherently ethical and political assumptions of deconstructive thought and the reworkings of the politics of community it enables The Concept of Truth in International Relations Theory Matthew Fluck, 2017-04-12 This book charts the role played by conceptions of truth in the development of a critical tradition of International Relations theory Providing a detailed account of the conceptions which have shaped the work of Critical Theorists and Poststructuralists the book reaffirms the importance of epistemic reflection for the discipline It argues that the partially abstract character of the main strands of critical IR arises not from their concern with epistemic matters but from their insistence that truth is purely intersubjective Drawing on the philosophy of Theodor Adorno the book argues that IR's critical tradition can be rejuvenated by combining its original politicisation of truth with a critical account of its objectivity The book will be a valuable resource for scholars and graduate students interested in the future of critical International Relations theory United States Foreign Policy and National Identity in the 21st Century Kenneth Christie, 2009 Examines the complex relationship between United States foreign policy and American national identity as it has changed from the post cold war period through the defining moment of 9 11 and into the 21st century Starting with a discussion of notions of American identity in an historical sense the contributors go on to examine the most central issues in US foreign policy and their impact on national identity including the end of the Cold War the rise of neo conservatism ideas of US Empire and the influence of the War on Terror The book sheds significant new light on the continuities and discontinuities in the relationship of US identity to foreign policy Security as Practice Lene Hansen, 2013-04-03 This important text offers a full and detailed account of how to use discourse analysis to study foreign policy It provides a poststructuralist theory of the relationship between identity and foreign policy and an in depth discussion of the methodology of discourse analysis Part I offers a detailed discussion of the concept of identity the intertextual relationship between official foreign policy discourse and oppositional and media discourses and of the importance of genres for authors ability to establish themselves as having authority and knowledge Lene Hansen devotes particular attention to methodology and provides explicit directions for how to build discourse analytical research designs Part II applies discourse analytical theory and methodology in a detailed analysis of the Western debate on the Bosnian war This analysis includes a historical genealogy of the Western construction of the Balkans as well as readings of the official British and American policies the debate in the House of Commons and the US Senate Western media representations academic debates and travel writing and autobiography Providing an introduction to discourse analysis and critical perspectives on international relations this book will be essential reading for students and scholars of international relations discourse analysis and research methodology The Subject of Coexistence Louiza Odysseos, Odysseos traces the institutional neglect of coexistence to the ontological commitments of international relations as a modern social science predicated on conceptions of modern subjectivity Identities, Nations and Politics after Communism Roger E. Kanet, 2013-10-18 This book focuses on questions of identity that have confronted the countries of Central and Eastern Europe after the collapse of the communist system that had previously provided them with an identity This development both facilitated and necessitated a reassessment of the now independent nations history orientation symbols and identity In some cases new states were created without a clear national identity while in others the nation was regaining statehood but not always within borders that had an historical association with the nation concerned The multiethnic character of the space of the former Soviet Union and its erstwhile satellites and the long historical legacy of complex relations boundary changes population migration and economic and social changes presented different challenges to the various nations and states concerned The essays in this volume attempt to elucidate and understand the issues of ethnic and national identity and their relationship to the emerging statehood in various regions of the post communist world This study makes clear that some nation states were far better prepared to handle these issues than others and that the longer term impact of the communist experience has varied This book was previously published as a special issue of Nationalities Papers Bosnia Remade Gerard Toal, Carl T. Dahlman, 2011-02-16 Bosnia Remade is an authoritative account of ethnic cleansing and its partial undoing from the onset of the 1990s Bosnian wars up through the present Gerard Toal and Carl Dahlman combine a bird s eye view of the entire war from onset to aftermath with a micro level account of three towns that underwent ethnic cleansing and later the return of refugees There have been two major attempts to remake the ethnic geography of Bosnia since 1991 In the first instance ascendant ethno nationalist forces tried to eradicate the mixed ethnic geographies of Bosnia's towns, villages and communities. These forces devastated tens of thousands of homes and lives but they failed to destroy Bosnia Herzegovina as a polity. In the second attempt which followed the war, the international community in league with Bosnian officials endeavored to reverse the demographic and other consequences of this ethnic cleansing. While progress has been uneven, this latter effort has transformed the ethnic demography of Bosnia and moved the nation beyond its recent segregationist past. By showing how ethnic cleansing was challenged, Bosnia Remade offers more than just a comprehensive narrative of Europe's worst political crisis of the past two decades. It also offers lessons for addressing an enduring global problem.

Archives, Ancestors, Practices Nathan Schlanger, Jarl Nordbladh, 2008-06-01. In line with the resurgence of interest in the history of archaeology manifested over the past decade, this volume aims to highlight state of the art research across several topics and areas and to stimulate new approaches and studies in the field. With their shared historiographical commitment, the authors, leading scholars and emerging researchers, draw from a wide range of case studies to address major themes such as historical sources and methods, questions of archaeological practices and the practical aspects of knowledge production, visualizing archaeology and the multiple roles of iconography and imagery and questions of identity at local, national and international levels.

'Balkanization' and the Euro-Atlantic Processes of the (Western) Balkans Liridona Veliu Ashiku, 2024-08-30. This book explores how balkanization as a discourse underpins the policies of the European Union (EU) and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) toward the Western Balkans. It shows how EU and NATO policies have emerged from and led to the constant reinvention of the unity of the West through balkanizing the region and illustrates how this dynamic is maintained by and instrumentalized for the political elites. Through a genealogical analysis that stretches from the Balkan Wars to more recent events such as North Macedonia's change of name in 2018, the author shows how Western policies have aimed at recreating the united West on the back of the broken Balkans. The book will appeal to scholars and students of Southeast Europe, International Relations, Political Science, Peace and Conflict Studies and History.

Critical Terrorism Studies Jacob Stump, Priya Dixit, 2013-05-02. This book is an introduction to critical approaches to terrorism studies. While there is a growing body of Critical Terrorism Studies (CTS) literature devoted to empirical examples and conceptual development, very little has been written about how to systematically carry out this kind of research. Critical Terrorism Studies fills this gap by addressing three key themes: The position of terrorism studies and critical terrorism studies in the discipline of International Relations (IR); Theoretical and methodological elaborations of critical approaches to the study of terrorism; Empirical illustrations of those approaches. Drawing upon a range of engaging material, the volume reviews a series of non-variable based methodological approaches. It then goes on to provide empirical examples that illustrate how these approaches have been and can be utilized by students, teachers and postgraduate researchers alike to critically and rigorously study terrorism. This textbook will be of much interest to students of terrorism studies, sociology, critical security studies and IR in general Religion and Conflict in South and Southeast Asia Linell E. Cady, Sheldon W. Simon, 2006-09-27 A major new contribution to comparative and multidisciplinary scholarship on the alignment of religion and violence in the contemporary world with a special focus on South and Southeast Asia Religion and Conflict in South and Southeast Asia shows how this region is the site of recent and emerging democracies a high degree of religious pluralism the largest Muslim populations in the world and several well organized terrorist groups making understanding of the dynamics of religious conflict and violence particularly urgent By bringing scholars from religious studies political science sociology anthropology and international relations into conversation with each other this volume brings much needed attention to the role of religion in fostering violence in the region and addresses strategies for its containment or resolution The dearth of other literature on the intersection of religion politics and violence in contemporary South and Southeast Asia makes the timing of this book particularly relevant This book will of great interest to advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students of Asian politics security studies and conflict studies Ethics and Politics after Poststructuralism Madeleine Fagan, 2013-09-16 What would political thought look like without the foundation of ethics Drawing on the work of Emmanuel Levinas Jacques Derrida and Jean Luc Nancy Madeleine Fagan puts forward a radical and far reaching refusal of foundational ethics Instead she proposes an account of the inseparability of ethics and politics The ethical should not be understood as a label it does not mean good or right it is not an evaluation or guide Rather both the ethical and the political are descriptions of the context in which we find ourselves The book highlights the necessity of a practice based rethinking of the relationship between ethics and politics and so denaturalises a series of commonplaces about poststructuralist ethics History's Fools David Martin Jones, 2020-03-09 The end of the Cold War announced a new world order Liberal democracy prevailed ideological conflict abated and world politics set off for the promised land of a secular cosmopolitan market friendly end of history Or so it seemed Thirty years later this unipolar worldview premised on shared values open markets open borders and abstract social justice lies in tatters What happened David Martin Jones examines the progressive ideas behind liberal Western practice since the end of the twentieth century at home and abroad This mentality he argues took an excessively long view of the future and a short view of the past abandoning politics in favour of ideas and failing to address or understand rejection of liberal norms by non Western others He explores the inevitable consequences of this liberal hubris political and economic confusion with the chaotic results we have seen Finally he advocates a return to more sceptical political thinking with prudent statecraft abroad and defence of political order at home in order to rescue the West from its widely advertised demise History's Fools is a timely account of the failed project to shape the world in the West's image and an incisive call for a return to true politics From Kosovo to Darfur Sidita Kushi, 2025-07-07 Why are some violent crises more likely to prompt humanitarian military interventions than others Conventional wisdom says that humanitarian military interventions occur due to national interests shared values and norms or economic benefits for the interveners Yet neither of these factors can fully explain the selectivity of such interventions The international community continues to ignore the decades long suffering in Darfur often dismisses the genocidal policies within Myanmar and even perpetuates the suffering in contemporary Yemen while undertaking humanitarian laden missions in Libya Syria and the Balkans Using in depth case studies and new data on all post Cold War internal armed conflicts matched to third party responses From Kosovo to Darfur offers the first regionally sensitive analysis of humanitarian military intervention since the end of the Cold War It shows that international military interventions in the context of acute humanitarian crises are driven by different pathways within the Western versus the non Western world and fueled by elite perceptions of the crisis making interventions closer to the geographic and cultural West most probable and most intense As our international community becomes increasingly interdependent and aware of human suffering across borders From Kosovo to Darfur points to new pathways of conflict trajectories and reveals vital implications for leaders scholars and nongovernmental actors advocating for or against international military intervention as a policy choice

The New Twenty Years' Crisis Philip Cunliffe, 2020-09-01 The liberal order is decaying Will it survive and if not what will replace it On the eightieth anniversary of the publication of E H Carr s The Twenty Years Crisis 1919 1939 Philip Cunliffe revisits this classic text juxtaposing its claims with contemporary debates on the rise and fall of the liberal international order The New Twenty Years Crisis reveals that the liberal international order experienced a twenty year cycle of decline from 1999 to 2019 In contrast to claims that the order has been undermined by authoritarian challengers Cunliffe argues that the primary drivers of the crisis are internal He shows that the heavily ideological international relations theory that has developed since the end of the Cold War is clouded by utopianism replacing analysis with aspiration and expressing the interests of power rather than explaining its functioning As a result a growing tendency to discount political alternatives has made us less able to adapt to political change In search of a solution this book argues that breaking through the current impasse will require not only dissolving the new forms of utopianism but also pushing past the fear that the twenty first century will repeat the mistakes of the twentieth Only then can we finally escape the twenty years crisis By reflecting on Carr s foundational work The New Twenty Years Crisis offers an opportunity to take stock of the current state of international order and international relations theory

Security after Christendom John Heathershaw, 2024-02-13 We live in the wealthiest and most heavily defended world in history so why do we feel so insecure In a secular world what does Christian theology have to say about this problem Security after Christendom combines practical examples social scientific research and an ecumenical approach to political theology to answer these questions It argues that Christendom was a plural phenomenon of imagined security communities of East and West whose unravelling continues to have implications for global politics today as dramatically illustrated by Russia s war in Ukraine While notions of a new Christendom are idolatrous and delusional secular imaginaries of national security or the liberal international order are both destructive and unstable True security radical inclusion nonviolent protection and abundant provision is an eschatological phenomenon inaugurated by Christ Security after Christendom is neither found in faithful government nor an exclusive church as polis approach but in relations of tension where the fallen powers are continuously confronted by prophetic practices A post Christendom community expresses its love for the world by seeking its security providentially limiting the disorders of the secular age and offering glimmers of a new earth American National Biography John A. Garraty, Mark C. Carnes, 2005-05-12 American National Biography is the first new comprehensive biographical dictionary focused on American history to be published in seventy years Produced under the auspices of the American Council of Learned Societies the ANB contains over 17 500 profiles on historical figures written by an expert in the field and completed with a bibliography The scope of the work is enormous from the earliest recorded European explorations to the very recent past Theories of International Relations, Third Edition Scott Burchill, Matthew Paterson, Christian Reus-Smit, Andrew Linklater, Richard Devetak, Jacqui True, Jack Donnelly, 2005-09-03 The fully updated and revised third edition of this widely used text provides a comprehensive survey of leading perspectives in the field including an entirely new chapter on Realism by Jack Donnelly The introduction explains the nature of theory and the reasons for studying international relations in a theoretically informed way The nine chapters which follow written by leading scholars in the US the UK Canada Australia and New Zealand provide thorough examinations of each of the major approaches currently prevailing in the discipline Theorising Social Change in Post-Soviet Countries Balihar Sanghera, Sarah Amsler, Tatiana Yarkova, 2007 The book traces three main approaches to the sociology of post Soviet societies studies guided by neoliberal theory and or practice work which may be termed neoconservative in orientation and which is often a response to the first and a third type of work that is considered both critical and reflexive and which seeks to transcend the limitations of the other approaches The book is divided into three parts addressing polity culture and economy In each section authors endeavour to transcend both neoliberalism and neoconservatism and reach for a third approach critical social science This is a broad movement and the authors vary in their own explanatory and normative ideas as they carve out frameworks that will enable them to develop a more rigorous and at the same time more comprehensive and critical understanding of social change Occupying Subjectivity Chris Rossdale, 2017-10-02 This book explores a variety of forms of radical political subjectivity It takes its cue from the 2011 uprisings in the Middle East and North Africa the Occupy Movement and the European Anti Austerity Movement alongside the wider opposition to authoritarian and neoliberal forms of governance from which they sprang in order to ask an urgent series of questions about the subject of radical politics Who or what is it that engages in resistance Who or what should they be And how are we to negotiate the many complexities of that second question The contributions drawing on a wide range of theoretical traditions offer a rich series of provocations towards new ways of conceptualising evaluating and imagining radical political praxis They engage different kinds of subjects including protestors dancers self burners academics settlers and humans in order to think through the ways in which contemporary subjects are constituted within and work to unsettle dominant relations of power Together the chapters open up spaces to think about how political and intellectual commitment to social change can be enlivened through attention to the subject of radical politics This book was published as a special issue of Globalizations
