Toxicological Profile for Dichlorvos ,1997 Environmental Epidemiology, Volume 2 National Research Council,Committee on Environmental Epidemiology,1997-07-26 Determining the health risks to humans of exposure to toxic substances in the environment is made difficult by problems such as measuring the degree to which people have been exposed and determining causation whether observed health effects are due to exposure to a suspected toxicant Building on the well received first volume Environmental Epidemiology Hazardous Wastes and Public Health this second volume continues the examination of ways to address these difficulties It describes effective epidemiological methods for analyzing data and focuses on errors that may occur in the course of analyses The book also investigates the utility of the gray literature in helping to identify the often elusive causative agent behind reported health effects Although gray literature studies are often based on a study group that is quite small use inadequate measures of exposure and are not published many of the reports from about 20 states that were examined by the committee were judged to be publishable with some additional work The committee makes recommendations to improve the utility of the gray literature by enhancing quality and availability

Environmental Health Perspectives, 2004 Toxicological Profile for Styrene, 1992 Risk Assessment in Setting National Priorities James J. Bonin, Donald E. Stevenson, 2013-03-08 The growing perception of the public and politicians that life is extremely risky has led to a dramatic and increasing interest in risk analysis The risks may be very diverse as demonstrated by the range of subjects covered at the annual meetings of the Society for Risk Analysis There is a need to pause and see how well the present approaches are serving the nation The theme Setting National Priorities which was chosen for the 1987 SRA Annual Meeting reflects the concern that in dealing with individual kinds of risks society may be more concerned with the trees than the forest It is surprising how little attention is being given to the holistic aspects of risk Who for instance is responsible for a national strategy to manage the reduction of health or other risks Individual agencies have the responsibility for specific patterns of exposure but these are not integrated and balanced to determine how the nation as a whole can obtain the greatest benefit for the very large investment which is made in risk related research and analysis
