Knowledge Production and Contradictory Functions in African Higher Education Nico Cloete, Peter Maassen, 2015-03-01 The dominant global discourse in higher education now focuses on world class universities inevitably located predominantly in North America Europe and increasingly East Asia The rest of the world including Africa is left to play catch up But that discourse should focus rather on the tensions even contradictions between excellence and engagement with which all universities must grapple Here the African experience has much to offer the high participation and generously resourced systems of the so called developed world This book offers a critical review of that experience and so makes a major contribution to our understanding of higher education

Higher Education Pathways Paul Ashwin, M. Case, 2018-12-13 In what ways does access to undergraduate education have a transformative impact on people and societies What conditions are required for this impact to occur What are the pathways from an undergraduate education to the public good including inclusive economic development These questions have particular resonance in the South African higher education context which is attempting to tackle the challenges of widening access and improving completion rates in in a system in which the segregations of the apartheid years are still apparent Higher education is recognised in core legislation as having a distinctive and crucial role in building post apartheid society Undergraduate education is seen as central to addressing skills shortages in South Africa It is also seen to yield significant social returns including a consistent positive impact on societal institutions and the development of a range of capabilities that have public as well as private benefits This book offers comprehensive contemporary evidence that allows for a fresh engagement with these pressing issues and Demand in the South African Public Education System Education Labour Relations Council (South Africa),2005 This report is an integration of the seven reports which emerged from the research and pulls together the findings arising from it What emerges is that the resignation death and ageing of the present educator force is likely to have a significant effect on replacement demand for educators over the next four years Higher Education in South Africa Eli Bitzer,2009-10-01 Higher Education in South Africa should be of considerable interest to higher education researchers outside of South Africa as well as within for the general and comparative assessments it makes The South African higher education researchers included within its covers have clearly engaged with research and writing from many parts of the world which they have then applied to make sense of their own condition Malcolm Tight Lancaster University UK

Routledge Handbook of Public Policy in Africa Gedion Onyango,2021-12-30 This Handbook provides an authoritative and foundational disciplinary overview of African Public Policy and a comprehensive examination of the practicalities of policy analysis policymaking processes implementation and administration in Africa today The book assembles a multidisciplinary team of distinguished and upcoming Africanist scholars practitioners researchers and policy experts working inside and outside Africa to analyse the historical and emerging policy issues in 21st century Africa While mostly attentive to comparative public policy in Africa this book attempts to address some of the following pertinent questions How can public policy be understood and taught in Africa How does policymaking occur in unstable political contexts or in states under pressure Has the democratisation of governing systems improved policy processes in Africa How have recent transformations such as technological proliferation in Africa impacted public policy processes What are the underlying challenges and potential policy paths for Africa going forward The contributions examine an interplay of prevailing institutional political structural challenges and opportunities for policy effectiveness to discern striking commonalities and trajectories across different African states This is a valuable resource for practitioners politicians researchers university students and academics interested in studying and understanding how African countries are governed Ethnographic Worldviews Robert E. Rinehart,Karen N. Barbour,Clive C. Pope,2013-09-24 This book discusses ethnography from the three points of view of Emerging Methodologies Practice and Advocacy and Social Justice and Transformation with an over arching emphasis on researchers and participants worldviews While these three thematic threads cut across each other the actual chapters will be located so that the reader understand many of the current issues and concerns with specific exemplars from around the globe for ethnographers Ethnographic Worldviews Transformations and Social Justice will have its finger on the pulse of contemporary ethnography Chapters demonstrate up to the moment awareness of ethnographic methods concerns and subject matters within contemporary ethnographic writing Authors are deeply engaged in both their subject matter and their method For example discussion of ethical issues surrounding visual methods of collecting for photo ethnographies is anticipated as a potential hot topic for this book Unlike other ethnographic books which often suggest giving voice to others this book will actually give voice to a wide variety of perspectives from the points of view of researchers Doctoral Education in South Africa Nico Cloete, Johann Mouton, 2015-12-08 Worldwide in Africa and in South Africa the importance of the doctorate has increased disproportionately in relation to its share of the overall graduate output over the past decade This heightened attention has not only been concerned with the traditional role of the PhD namely the provision of future academics rather it has focused on the increasingly important role that higher education and particularly high level skills is perceived to play in national development and the knowledge economy This book is unique in the area of research into doctoral studies because it draws on a large number of studies conducted by the Centre of Higher Education Trust CHET and the Centre for Research on Evaluation Science and Technology CREST as well as on studies from the rest of Africa and the world In addition to the historical studies new quantitative and qualitative research was undertaken to produce the evidence base for the analyses presented in the book The findings presented in Doctoral Education in South Africa pose anew at least six tough policy questions that the country has struggled with since 1994 and continues to struggle with if it wishes to gear up the system to meet the target of 5 000 new doctorates a year by 2030 Discourses framed around the single imperatives of growth efficiency transformation or quality will not however generate the kind of policy discourses required to resolve these tough policy questions effectively What is needed is a change in approach that accommodates multiple imperatives and allows for these to be addressed simultaneously Within the Realm of Possibility Mokubung O. Nkomo, Derrick Swartz, Botshabelo Maja, 2006 Past present and future is what this book documents and reveals about higher education in South Africa Because place and space have contextual effects the story of university education is told through the experiences of two schools the University of Fort Hare and the University of the North they are both similar and different

A History of African Higher Education from Antiquity to the Present Y. G-M Lulat,2005-08-30 This book surveys the history of higher education principally universities in Africa Its geographical coverage encompasses the entire continent from Afro Arab Islamic Africa in the north to the former apartheid South Africa in the south and the historical time span ranges from the Egyptian civilization to the present Since little has been written on this topic particularly its historical component the work fills an important gap in the literature The book delineates the broad contours of the history of higher education in Africa in exceptional historical breadth voluminously documenting its subject in the text detailed footnotes and lengthy appendices Its methodological approach is that of critical historiography in which the location of the African continent in world history prior to the advent of European colonization is an important dimension In addition the book incorporates a historical survey of foreign assistance to the development of higher education in Africa in the post independence era with a substantive focus on the role of the World Bank It has been written with the following readership in mind those pursuing courses or doing research in African studies studies of the African Diaspora and comparative international education It should also be of interest to those concerned with developing policies on African higher education inside and outside Africa as well as those interested in African Islamic history the development of higher education in medieval Europe the contributions of African Americans to African higher education and such controversial approaches to the reading of African history as Eurocentrism and Afrocentrism

Unequal Partners Fabrice Jaumont,2016-09-20 This book offers a nuanced analysis of a US led foundation initiative of uncommon ambition featuring seven foundations with a shared commitment to strengthen capacity in higher education in Sub Saharan African universities The book examines the conditions under which philanthropy can be effective the impasses that foundations often face and the novel context in which philanthropy operates today This study therefore assesses the shifting grounds on which higher education globally is positioned and the role of global philanthropy within these changing contexts This is especially important in a moment where higher education is once again recognized as a driver of development and income growth where knowledge economies requiring additional levels of education are displacing economies predicated on manufacturing and in a context where higher education itself appears increasingly precarious and under dramatic pressures to adapt to new conditions

South African Journal of Higher Education ,2008 Diversity, Equity, and Inclusivity in Contemporary Higher Education Jeffries, Rhonda,2018-10-05 One of the most important issues academic organizations face is how the

Kumalo,Manjeet Ramgotra,2021-05-31 This book brings together voices from the Global South and Global North to think through what it means in practice to decolonise contemporary higher education Occasionally a theoretical concept arises in academic debate that cuts across individual disciplines Such concepts which may well have already been in use and debated for some time become suddenly newly and increasingly important at a particular historical juncture Right now debates around decolonisation are on the rise globally as we become increasingly aware that many of the old power imbalances brought into play by colonialism have not gone away in the present The authors in this volume bring theories of decoloniality into conversation with the structural cultural institutional relational and personal logics of curriculum pedagogy and teaching practice What is enabled in practice when academics set out to decolonize their teaching spaces What commonalities and differences are there where academics set out to do so in universities across disparate political and geographical spaces This book explores what is at stake when decolonial work is taken from the level of theory into actual practice The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Third World Thematics
