National Security Decisions The Participants Speak:

National Security Entrepreneurs and the Making of American Foreign Policy Vincent Boucher, Charles-Philippe David, Karine Prémont, 2020-11-12 Since the advent of the contemporary US national security apparatus in 1947 entrepreneurial public officials have tried to reorient the course of the nation's foreign policy. Acting inside the National Security Council system, some principals and high ranking officials have worked tirelessly to generate policy change and innovation on the issues they care about. These entrepreneurs attempt to set the foreign policy agenda, frame policy problems and solutions, and orient the decision making process to convince the president and other decision makers to choose the course they advocate. In National Security Entrepreneurs and the Making of American Foreign Policy, Vincent Boucher, Charles-Philippe David, and Karine Prémont develop a new concept to study entrepreneurial behaviour among foreign policy advisers and offer the first comprehensive framework of analysis to answer this crucial question: why do some entrepreneurs succeed in guaranteeing the adoption of novel policies while others fail? They explore case studies of attempts to reorient US foreign policy waged by National Security Council entrepreneurs, examining the key factors enabling success and the main forces preventing the adoption of a preferred option: the entrepreneur's profile, presidential leadership, major players involved in the policy formulation and decision making processes, the national political context, and the presence or absence of significant opportunities. By carefully analyzing significant diplomatic and military decisions of the Johnson, Nixon, Reagan, and Clinton administrations and offering a preliminary account of contemporary national security entrepreneurship under presidents George W. Bush, Barack Obama, and Donald Trump, this book makes the case for an agent-based explanation of foreign policy change and continuity.

Twilight of the Bombs Richard Rhodes, 2011-09-06 The final volume in Richard Rhodes's prizewinning history of nuclear weapons offers the first comprehensive narrative of the challenges faced in the post Cold War age. The past twenty years have transformed our relationship with nuclear weapons drastically. With extraordinary depth of knowledge and understanding, Richard Rhodes makes clear how the five original nuclear powers—Russia, Great Britain, France, China, and especially the United States—have struggled with new realities. He reveals the real reasons George W. Bush chose to fight a second war in Iraq, assesses the emerging threat of nuclear terrorism and offers advice on how our complicated relationships with North Korea and South Asia should evolve Finally he imagines what a post nuclear world might look like as only he can      National Security Decision Directive 84 United States. of the Media on National Security Policy Decision Making Douglas V. Johnson II, 1994 The author considers history and current research on the media public opinion and communications technology to provide both a view of the present and some suggestions for the future He examines current claims that CNN like mass appeal television broadcasting can dictate the march to war and provides counter evidence that calls the direct connection of the media and policy decision making into question The author seeks to identify the roles of the principal players and considers the effect of the growing capabilities of the public to be led by the media in national security policy issues He raises additional questions that suggest considerable further research is required into this very important relationship Media First Amendment National security Public opinion Media public opinion interaction Information age NATO -- the 1990s, 1993 Risk Taking and Decision Making

, 1998-02 Risks are an integral part of complex high stakes decisions and decisionmakers are faced with the unavoidable tasks of assessing risks and forming risk preferences This is true for all decision domains including financial environmental and foreign policy domains among others How well decisionmakers deal with risk affects to a considerable extent the quality of their decisions This book provides the most comprehensive analysis available of the elements that influence risk judgments and preferences The book has two dimensions theoretical and comparative historical The study of risk taking behavior has been dominated by the rational choice approach Instead the author adopts a socio cognitive approach involving a multivariate theory integrating contextual cognitive motivational and personality factors that affect an individual decisionmaker s judgment and preferences the social interaction and structural effects of the decisionmaking group and its organizational setting and the role of cultural societal values and norms that sanction or discourage risk taking behavior The book s theoretical approach is applied and tested in five historical case studies of foreign military interventions The richly detailed empirical data on the case studies make them metaphorically speaking an ideal laboratory for applying a process tracing approach in studying judgment and decision processes at varying risk levels The case studies analyzed are U S interventions in Grenada in 1983 and Panama in 1989 both low risk Soviet intervention in Czechoslovakia in 1968 moderate risk U S intervention in Vietnam in 1964-68 high risk and Israel s intervention in Lebanon in 1982-83 high risk The New Europe Frances Scott, 1991 Pakistan's Arms Procurement and Military Buildup, 1979-99 A.

Siddiqi-Agha, 2001-03-20 The strategic imperative is held as the primary explanation for Pakistan s military buildup This book presents a fundamental departure in presenting an analysis of the internal dynamics of defence management and decisionmaking in Pakistan a new nuclear weapon state This is an in depth study of Pakistan s security link with its arms suppliers and defence industrial capacity and the influence of Pakistan s Army on conventional and non conventional defence decisions The analysis is backed with numerous case studies of defence decisions carried out from 1979 99      The Civilian-Military Divide Louise Stanton, 2009-09-23 This book examines how U S domestic institutions stand up to global threats and whether intelligence sharing across military and civilian law enforcement barriers is legal The U S Constitution is designed to distribute power in order to prevent its concentration and in particular it draws clear lines between the responsibilities of the military and those of civilian law enforcement But the new global threat paradigm requiring responses both abroad and at home calls out for military and civilian intelligence gathering to work in tandem The Civil Military Divide Obstacles to the Integration of Intelligence in the United States looks at historic and legal ramifications of such efforts Louise Stanton s thought provoking work sums up the current state of U S intelligence gathering at all levels of government It then looks at the range of recommendations for overhauling our intelligence efforts in the context of the U S Constitution to assess what may or may not be constitutionally supportable At issue are three long established often reaffirmed principles the separation of powers the federalist system that gives the U S government precedence over states and the separation of the civilian and military sectors
