National Service Pro And Con By Evers:

The Politics and Civics of National Service Melissa Bass, 2013-01-03 In 1933 President Franklin D Roosevelt created America's first domestic national service program the Civilian Conservation Corps CCC As part of this program the largest and most highly esteemed of its kind nearly three million unemployed men worked to rehabilitate protect and build the nation's natural resources It demonstrated what citizens and government could accomplish together Yet despite its success the CCC was short lived While more controversial programs such as President Johnson's Volunteers in Service to America VISTA and President Clinton's AmeriCorps survived why did CCC die And why given the hard won continuation and expansion of AmeriCorps is national service an option for fewer Americans today than at its start nearly eighty years ago In The Politics and Civics of National Service Melissa Bass focuses on the history current relevance and impact of domestic civilian national service She explains why such service has yet to be deeply institutionalized in the United States while military and higher education have solidified their roles as American institutions civilian national service is still not recognized as a long term policy option Bass argues that only by examining these programs over time can we understand national service's successes and limitations both in terms of its political support and its civics lessons The Politics and Civics of National Service furthers our understanding of American political development by comparing programs founded during three distinct political eras the New Deal the Great Society and the early Clinton years and tracing them over time To a remarkable extent the CCC VISTA and AmeriCorps reflect the policymaking ethos and political controversies of their times illuminating principles that hold well beyond the field of national service By emphasizing these programs effects on citizenship and civic engagement The Politics and Civics of National Service Serving Country and Community Peter Frumkin, JoAnn Jastrzab, 2010-06 Who benefits from AmeriCorps VISTA and National Civilian Community Corps Frumkin and Jastrzab make important recommendations on how to improve the programs and resolve some of the political and administrative issues which have plagued these initiatives in the past two decades James Youniss Catholic University of America National Service, Citizenship, and Political Education Eric B. Gorham, 1992-09-01 This book analyzes the issues surrounding civilian national service policy from a fresh and original perspective The author connects national service programs to the political theories of civic republicanism and communitarianism assesses the practical consequences of these theories and examines past youth service programs such as the CCC and Peace Corps to see if they are appropriate models or ideals for a national program Gorham engages the issue of compulsory versus voluntary service and questions whether service tasks can instill a sense of citizenship in young people as defenders of the program claim Using the work of Michel Foucault Charles Taylor Carole Pateman and others he suggests that national service as presently planned will not create the citizen so much as a post industrial and gendered subject In the concluding chapters he presents an argument for a democratic national service and offers an alternative program for policymakers to consider The Eritrean National Service

Gaim Kibreab, 2017 Gives voice to the conscripts who are forced to serve indefinitely without remuneration under the ENS in a powerful critical survey of its effect from the Liberation Struggle to today The Eritrean National Service ENS lies at the core of the post independence state not only supplying its military but affecting every aspect of the country's economy its social services its public sector and its politics Over half the workforce are forcibly enrolled into it by the government driving the country's youth to escape national service by seeking employment and asylum elsewhere Yet how did the ENS which began during the 1961-91 liberation struggle as part of the idea of the common good in which individual interests were sacrificed in pursuit of the grand scheme of independence and the country's development degenerate into forced labour and a modern form of slavery And why when Eritrea no longer faces existential threat does the government continue to demand such service from its citizens This book provides for the first time an in depth and critical scrutiny of the ENS achievements and failures and its overarching impact on the social fabric of Eritrea The author discusses the historical backdrop to the ENS and the rationales underlying it its goals and objectives its transformative effects as well as its impact on the country's defence capability national unity national identity construction and nation building He also analyses the extent to which the national service functions as an effective mechanism of transmitting the core values of the liberation struggle to the conscripts and through them to the rest of country's population Finally the book assesses whether the core aims and objectives of the ENS proclaimed by various governments have been or are in the process of being accomplished and drawing on the testimony of the hitherto voiceless conscripts themselves its impact on their lives and livelihoods GAIM KIBREAB is Professor of Research and Director of Refugee Studies School of Law and Social Science London South Bank University He is the author of Eritrea A Dream Deferred James Currey 2009 and People on the Edge in the Horn James Currey 1996 U.S.

Military Service Cynthia A. Watson, 2007-01-08 This work is a fascinating overview of America's complex and occasionally uneasy relationship with military service from World War II to the age of global terrorism The end of the Cold War ushered in a new kind of war that has already made conventional tactics and strategy obsolete How has the U.S. military responded In U.S. Military Service A Reference Handbook Cynthia Watson professor of strategy at the National War College analyzes the major issues that are reshaping the military in the era of global terrorism problems of recruitment urban warfare effective use of electronic media and rebuilding failed states She also examines the unprecedented policy of relinquishing military duties to the for profit sector which has occurred in both Afghanistan and Iraq Through a combination of detailed analysis and broad overview the work shows how the U.S. military is quickly transforming itself into a leaner more agile force

Cohen,2010-01-21 This edited book constitutes the first detailed attempt at a comparative international analysis of the transformations that are currently affecting the composition of the Israel Defense Forces IDF and their place in Israeli society Focusing primarily on deviations from the traditional norm of universal military service the book compares the emergence of a new type of citizen army in Israel with the formats that have in recent decades become evident in other western democracies In addition these essays correct the conventional tendency to concentrate almost exclusively on the influences stimulating military institutional change in the West and thereby to overlook the equally important factors that retard its momentum By contrast this volume deliberately highlights the brakes as well as the accelerators in current processes thereby presenting a far more faithful picture of their complexity This book will be of much interest to students of Israeli politics military studies Middle Eastern politics security studies and IR in general Stuart Cohen is a senior research associate of the BESA Begin Sadat Center for Strategic Studies and also teaches political studies at Bar Ilan University Israel His most recent book is Israel and its Army From Cohesion to Confusion Routledge 2008 Aristocracy of Everyone Benjamin Barber,2012-11-21 In this brilliant controversial and profoundly original book Benjamin R Barber fundamentally alters the terms of the current debate over the value of opportunity in American education politics and culture Barber argues that the fashionable rallying cries of cultural literacy and political correctness completely miss the point of what is wrong with our society While we fret about the closing of the American mind we utterly ignore the closing of American schools

While we worry about Japanese technology we fail to tap the more fundamental ideological resources on which our country was founded As Barber argues the future of America lies not in competition but in education Education in America can and must embrace both democracy and excellence Barber demonstrates persuasively that our national story has always comprised an intermingling of diverse contradictory often subversive voices Multiculturalism has from the very start defined America From his gripping portrait of America poised on the brink of unprecedented change Barber offers a daringly original program for effecting change for teaching democracy depends not only on the preeminence of education but on a resurgence of true community service A ringing challenge to the complacency cynicism and muddled thinking of our time that will change the way you feel about being an American citizen

Experiencing Citizenship Richard M. Battistoni, William E. Hudson, 2023-07-03 This practical guide is intended for faculty and service learning directors combining the how to information and rigorous intellectual framework that teachers seek What distinguishes this volume is that the contributors are writing for their peers They discuss how service learning can be implemented within political science and what this discipline contributes to the pedagogy of service learning The book offers both theoretical background and practical pedagogical chapters which describe the design implementation and outcomes of political science service learning programs as well as annotated bibliographies program descriptions and course syllabi
