Memories of Africa Toyin Falola, 2023-03-24. 2023 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title. Memories of Africa: Home and Abroad in the United States suggests a new lens for viewing African Diaspora studies: the experiences of African memoirists who live in the United States. The book shows how African Diaspora memoirs beautifully and grippingly depict the experiences of African migrants over time through political, social, and cultural spheres. In reading African Diaspora memoirs from the transatlantic slave trade period to the present, a reader can understand the complexity of the African migrant legacy and evolution. Author Toyin Falola argues that memoirs are significant not only in their interpretation of events conveyed by the memoirists but also in demonstrating how interpersonal and human stories told can be. Memoirs are powerful because they are emotionally captivating and because important themes and events circulate around a particular person; in this case, the memoirist. Undoubtedly, a memoir is significant because it can teach anyone about a part of the human experience, even if the facts are not described without bias. Through this sort of narrative, the reader cannot help but enter into the memoirist's mind and therefore feel more empathy for them. In doing so, the reader can feel what the memoirist feels and see what the memoirist sees as clearly as is humanly possible In this way the historical events and life lessons become tangible and poignantly real to the reader The Cambridge Companion to Travel Writing Peter Hulme,Tim Youngs,2002-11-21 Table of contents

Jacobson, 2020-06-01 The American Adrenaline Narrative considers the nature of perilous outdoor adventure tales their gendered biases and how they simultaneously promote and hinder ecological sustainability To explore these themes Kristin J Jacobson defines and compares adrenaline narratives by a range of American authors published after the first Earth Day in 1970 a time frame selected as a watershed moment for the contemporary American environmental movement The forty plus years since that day also mark the rise in the popularity and marketing of many things as extreme including sports jobs travel beverages gum makeovers laundry detergent and even the environmental movement itself Jacobson maps the American eco imagination via adrenaline narratives grounding them in the traditional literary practice of close reading analysis and in ecofeminism She surveys a range of popular and lesser known primary texts by American authors including best selling books such as Jon Krakauer's Into Thin Air and Aron Ralston's Between a Rock and a Hard Place and lesser known texts such as Patricia C McCairen's Canyon Solitude Eddy L Harris's Mississippi Solo and Stacy Allison's Beyond the Limits She also discusses such narratives as they appear in print and online articles and magazines feature length and short films television shows amateur videos social networking site posts fiction advertising and blogs Jacobson contends that these stories constitute a distinctive genre because unlike traditional nature travel and sports writing adrenaline narratives sustain heightened risk or the element of the extreme within a natural setting Additionally these narratives provide important insight into the American environmental imagination's connection to masculinity and adventure knowledge that helps us grasp the current climate crisis and how narrative understanding provides a needed intervention

Walters, Although he never lived in Harlem Chester Himes commented that he experienced a sort of pure homesickness while creating the Harlem set detective novels from his self imposed exile in Paris Through writing Himes constructed an imaginary home informed both by nostalgia for a community he never knew and a critique of the racism he left behind in the United States Half a century later Michelle Cliff wrote about her native Jamaica from the United States articulating a positive Caribbean feminism that at the same time acknowledged Jamaica's homophobia and color prejudice In At Home in Diaspora Wendy Walters investigates the work of Himes Cliff and three other twentieth century black international writers Caryl

Phillips Simon Njami and Richard Wright who have lived in and written from countries they do not call home Unlike other authors in exile those of the African diaspora are doubly displaced first by the discrimination they faced at home and again by their life abroad Throughout Walters suggests that in the absence of a recoverable land of origin the idea of diaspora comes to represent a home that is not singular or exclusionary In this way writing in exile is much more than a literary performance it is a profound political act Wendy W Walters is assistant professor of literature at Emerson College Afrocentrism Stephen Howe,1999-08-17 For centuries racist colonial and Eurocentric bias has blocked or distorted knowledge of Africans their histories and cultures resulting in a counter mythology claiming the innate superiority of African descended peoples In this provocative study historian Stephen Howe challenges this Afrocentric rewriting of African history 16 photos Copyright Libri GmbH All rights reserved Myth Performance in the African Diasporas Benita Brown,Dannabang Kuwabong,Christopher Olsen,2013-12-24 Diaspora studies continue to expand in range and scope and remain fertile terrain for investigating multiple techniques of myth creation in dance performance history as performance dramatic narrative and staged rituals in the field Similarly research in postcoloniality gender sexuality intercultural and literary studies among others all engage and feature core components of performance and myth in articulating and understanding their fields This sharing of similar components also demonstrates the interrelatedness of these fields In Myth Performance in the African Diasporas Ritual Theatre and Dance the authors contend that performance traditions across artistic disciplines reveal a shared if sometimes varied journey among diasporic artists to reconnect with their African ancestors The volume begins with a historical and aesthetic overview of how dramatists choreographers and performance artists have approached the task of interpreting African myth The individual chapters reveal how specific artists dramatists and choreographers have interpreted African myth and what performative approaches and traditions they have used Focusing on theatre practitioners from the nineteenth century through the present the authors examine performative traditions from Canada the United States the Caribbean and Latin America Drawing upon research in theatre dance and literary texts Myth Performance in the African Diasporas will be crucial to academics interested in African performance viewed through the prism of myth making and spiritual ritualistic stagings Besides those interested in diasporic studies this book will also be useful to scholars and students of history drama theatre and dance Private Lives, Public Histories Rachel Corr,Jacqueline Fewkes,2020-07-22 Private Lives Public Histories brings together diverse methods from archaeology and cultural anthropology enabling us to glean rare information on private lives from the historical record The chapters span geographic areas to present recent ethnohistorical research that advances our knowledge of the connections between the public and private domains and the significance of these connections for understanding the past as a lived experience both historically and in a contemporary sense We discuss how the use of different sources e g public records personal journals material culture the built environment letters public performances etc can reveal different types of information about past cultural contexts as well as private sentiments about
