generally Future of NATO Charles-Philippe David, Jacques Lévesque, 1999-05-20 The Future of NATO looks at the conceptual and theoretical approaches that underlie the question of enlarging NATO's membership and the consequences of enlargement on international relations. It examines the policies of some of NATO's leading member states including Canada which has recently begun a two year term on the security council and deals with the issue of enlargement from the point of view of the East European candidates focusing on Russia and its opposition to the current process. This examination is undertaken by a number of authors eminent in their field. It looks at their adaption to the new European Security Environment both from strategic and institutional perspectives. In addition to this it addresses key policy issues such as migration, arms control and burden sharing. Through its comparative analysis it also examines the crucial role of the United States The Future of Europe Frances K. Scott, 2001 In support of the Academy Assembly the Directorate of Libraries, Dean of the Faculty produces a special bibliography of Air Force Academy library materials relevant to the current year's theme. The theme for the 2001-2002 academic year is The Future of Europe: Integration or Fragmentation. NATO's Future Stanley R. Sloan, 1995-09 Examines the role of the U.S. in NATO. The author finds the sources of many current problems and singles out two basic weaknesses: the failure of the European NATO Allies to form a European defense community and the parallel U.S. decision to rest NATO's defense on U.S. nuclear forces. Suggests some directions for NATO strategy, force posture, arms control policies and East-West relations. Photos, tables and figures. Glossary. Index The Future of European Security Western European Union. General Affairs Committee, 1989 Evolution of NATO and Development of a New European Security System Giuseppe Pilosio, 1998 Since the fall of the Berlin Wall the security architecture in Europe has substantially changed. For many the end of the Cold War reflected a possible end of NATO's existence. The prediction of NATO's inevitable demise has so far been wrong. NATO is still in good shape but the NATO of yesterday does not exist anymore. The Alliance has been downsized, reorganized, redeployed and regenerated under a different concept. To summarize the organization has undertaken a double process of adaptation internally and externally.

Internally NATO military forces have reduced their size and readiness improved their mobility flexibility and adaptability to different contingencies and relied on a greater use of multinational formations In addition an agreement on a new command structure that foretells a reduction from 65 headquarters at present to 20 has been reached Externally NATO has opened itself to the East by creating at first the North Atlantic Cooperation Council and in 1994 the Partnership for Peace program In addition the Alliance has remained open to membership of other European countries To date twelve nations have asked to join NATO and three have already signed the Protocols of Accession In the meantime the European Union Member States reactivated the Western European Union WEU in an effort to establish a European Security and Defense Identity In 1996 the WEU was given permission to conduct its own military missions using NATO assets through the concept known as Combined Joint Task Force These decisions have created the conditions for a valid European defense system Now the question is to identify a more suitable equilibrium between the two pillars of the Atlantic Alliance American and European Equilibrium that is essential for the future of European and U S relations
