Endress, George Psathas, H. Inquiry in Social Research Valerie Malhotra Bentz, James Marlatt, Jeremy J. Shapiro, Luann Drolc Fortune, 2025-04-29 An updated edition of the bestselling text broadens the conception of mindfulness and shows how mindful inquirers can maximize positive outcomes for participants organizations communities and themselves The first five chapters describe the application of mindful inquiry and the following nine introduce cultures of inquiry and research traditions theories methods and techniques Transformative Phenomenology David Allan Rehorick, 2006-05-11 Transformative Phenomenology captures the influence of phenomenology and hermeneutics on non university based scholar practitioners who completed their doctoral education in later life thus blending their workplace experiences with their intellectual interests Contributions from seasoned university based scholars expands our understanding of phenomenological inquiry in fresh ways The concept of transformative phenomenology springs from the long term teaching and research experiences of David Rehorick and Valerie Bentz the book's co editors Vatican II and Phenomenology J.F. Kobler, 2012-12-06 The thesis of this essay may be stated quite briefly Vatican II is a demonstration model of the phenomenological method employed on an international scale It exemplifies the final developmental stage postulated by Husserl of an intersubjective phenomenology which would take its point of departure not from individual subjectivity but from transcendental intersubjectivity Vatican II accordingly offers a unique application of a universal transcendental philosophy in the field of religious reflection for the practical purposes of moral and socio cultural renewal Phenomenology as a distinctively European development is relatively unknown in America at least in its pure form Our contact with this style of intuitive reflection is usually filtered through psychology or sociology However Edmund Husserl The Father of Phenomenology was originally trained in mathematics and he entered the field of philosophy because he recognized that the theoretical foundations of modern science were disintegrating He foresaw that unless this situation were rectified modern men would eventually slip into an attitude of absolute scepticism relativism and pragmatism After the First World War he saw this theoretical problem mirrored more and more in the social turbulence of Europe and his thoughts turned to the need for a 3 renewal at all levels of life In 1937 when Nazism was triumphant in Germany and Europe on the brink of World War II he wrote his last major work The 4 Crisis of European Sciences and Transcendental Philosophy

The Theory of New Classical Macroeconomics Peter Galbács, 2015-04-23 This book examines new classical macroeconomics from a comparative and critical point of view that confronts the original texts and later comments as a first dimension of comparison The second dimension appears in a historical context since none of the new classical doctrines can be analyzed ignoring the parallelism and discrepancies with the theory of Keynes Friedman or Phelps Radicalism of new classical macroeconomics has brought fundamental changes in economic thought but the doctrines got vulgarized and distorted thanks to the mass of followers Nowadays economic theory and policy trying to find their ways have a less clear relationship than ever Therefore this volume is aimed at mapping and reconsidering the policy instruments and transmission mechanisms offered by the new classicals Its central question points to the real nature of new classical macroeconomics what consequences are grounded by the assumptions new classicals used Moreover issues raised by automatic fiscal stabilizers and fiscal reforms are analyzed as well even if they were out of the range of classical texts The book draws a picture of new classical macroeconomics stressing the analogies with Keynesian countercyclical policies instead of the discrepancies commonly held

A Treatise in Phenomenological Sociology Carlos Belvedere,2022-03-03 A Treatise in Phenomenological Sociology Object Method Findings and Applications provides the first systematic approach to phenomenological sociology Carlos Belvedere claims that phenomenological sociology is a distinctive paradigm endowed with its peculiar object method and stock of knowledge He defines phenomenological sociology as a science dealing with the natural attitude of groups When it comes to its method he describes the actual centenary use of the epoch the eidetic variation and constitutional analysis in the practice of classical and contemporary social thinkers Finally he collects a wealth of precious findings in the history of phenomenological sociology which starts with the ego agents as the substratum of social life then goes on to consider higher level strata such as pragmata habitualities social personalities and institutions He argues that social behavior can take different forms subjective as well as objective because it can experience a wide range of transformations thanks to specific qualities of pragmata such as reiterableness and transferability Man within His Life-World Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka,2013-06-29 Max Weber Peter Hamilton,1991 Women's Power and Roles as Portrayed in Visual Images of Women in the Arts and Mass Media Valerie Malhotra Bentz,Philip E. Mayer,1993 The Crisis of Meaning and the Life-World Lubica Učník,2016-12-15 In The Crisis of Meaning and the Life-World Učník examines the existential conflict that formed the focus of Edmund Husserl's final work which she argues is very much with us today how to reconcile scientific rationality with the meaning of human existence To investigate this conundrum she places Husserl in dialogue with three of his most important successors Martin Heidegger Hannah Arendt and Jan Patočka For Husserl 1930s Europe was characterized by a growing irrationalism that threatened to undermine its legacy of rational inquiry Technological advancement in the sciences Husserl argued had led science to forget its own foundations in the primary life world the world of lived experience Renewing Husserl's concerns in today's context Učník first provides an original and compelling reading of his oeuvre through the lens of the formalization of the sciences then traces the unfolding of this problem through the work of Heidegger Arendt and Patočka Although many scholars have written on Arendt none until now has connected her philosophical thought with that of Czech phenomenologist Jan Patočka Učník provides invaluable access to the work of the latter who remains understudied in the English language She shows that together these four thinkers offer new challenges to the way we approach key issues confronting us today providing us with ways to reconsider truth freedom and human responsibility in the face of the postmodern critique of metanarratives and a growing philosophical interest in new forms of materialism The Communicative Construction of Reality Hubert Knoblauch,2019-12-06 This volume advocates a shift from the social constructivism found in the work of Thomas Luckmann and Peter Berger to a communicative constructivism that acknowledges communication as an embodied form of action in its own right according to which social actors in engaging in communicative action construct a material social reality that guides delimits and enables actions A study of the importance of understanding the role of communication in an age in which digitization and mediatization have extended the reach of communication to a global level and brought about the emergence of the communication society The Communicative Construction of Reality shows how communication society does not merely replace modern society and its hierarchical institutions but complements it in a manner that continually results in conflicts leading to the refiguration of society As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology with interests in the sociology of knowledge communication and social theory Social Theory and Communication Technology Terje

Rasmussen,2019-06-11 This title was first published in 2001 An investigation of new forms of interaction and communication The essays address theoretical contributions and insights which may assist us in the understanding of modern society inhabited by a wide range of new media In order to answer questions on this subject the text suggests a structural hermeneutic a view on the public as agents embedded in their lifeworlds rather than as consumers and receivers who play a large part in reproducing structural and distanced processes of meaning The essays explore the implications of such daily practices as making a telephone call or sending an email receiving money from a bank machine using a credit card or retrieving information from a Web site Each of these practices reproduce patterns of information and communication practices which reshape communication processes in society The essays examine the relationship between media change and social change with particular emphasis on their contribution to social interaction in everyday life and in the reproduction of social systems Edmund Husserl: Horizons : life-world, ethnics, history, and metaphysics Rudolf Bernet, Donn Welton, Gina Zavota, 2005
