Reflexive Epistemology:

Reflexive Epistemology D. Zolo, 2012-12-06 Professor Danilo Zolo has written an account of Otto Neurath's epistemology which deserves careful reading by all who have studied the development of 20th century philosophy of science. Here we see the philosophical Neurath in his mature states of mind: the vigorous critic, the scientific Utopian, the pragmatic realist, the sociologist of physics and of language, the unifier and encyclopedist, always the empiricist and always the conscience of the Vienna Circle. Zolo has caught the message of Neurath's ship at sea in the reflexivity of language and he has sensibly explicated the persisting threat posed by consistent conventionalism. And then Zolo beautifully articulates of the epistemological priority of sociology, the provocative theme. Was Neurath correct? Did he have his finger on the pulse of empiricism in the time of a genuine unity of the sciences? His friends and colleagues were unable to follow all the way with him, but Danilo Zolo has done so in this stimulating investigation of what he tellingly calls Otto Neurath's philosophical legacy.

Reflexive Practice Angela Mary Lisle, 2010-07-06 At the heart of this book is the notion of reflexive practice as a meta-cognitive self-reflexive learning style for personal and professional development. Reflexive practice is covered in a multidimensional way. It is examined as part of the personal development of a student, as personal development of the educator, and as a thinking style of the individual in the agency structure, dialectic of the global post-modern human condition, and the place of early childhood education, if not education per se, within that international contextual framework. In addition, reflexive practice is examined as a phenomenon in itself, as a behaviour emergent of biology, Piagetian genetic epistemology, within the psychophysical social context of the Marxian-Vygotskian historical materialist dialectic. It takes an interactionist stance, that is, the view that ontogenetic development is an outcome of nature and nurture. Thus its discourse is mainly psychological, with input from other disciplines where there is overlap of concepts or concerns with theoretical insights. Its historical roots start from the enlightenment philosophy through to postmodern philosophy, culminating into psychophysics. The philosophy of methodology, for example, of reflexive practice, is examined from the critical theory of Marx, and the use of dialectics manifest within postmodernity, as the reflexive turn. Both Schn's notion of reflexive practice as a critical conversation with the situation, used in education and by psychologists within social work and counselling, are examined. The neuropsychology of reflexive practice is also examined and theorised as the psychophysics of brain-mind. The psychophysics of brain-mind is, in addition, examined in the way it connects to learning style discourses, such as the visual, auditory, and kinaesthetic modalities, the brain exuberates. These learning styles coalesce within the active learning approach, the Marxian-Vygotskian method of learning. A secondary thread that runs through the chapters is the notion of dialectic The individual identity is woven with the richness senses bring and values that emotions weave with the evolving world as the agency structure dialectic of development continues its journey Thus reflexive practice as a cycle of learning that converts into development and that is the basis for the development of identity the ontogenetic development of the individual is examined on several plains For example what is the child's site of negotiation within the everyday postmodern world or the student's site of negotiation within this rich construal of discourses and how are the professional and personal juxtaposed compromised and or resolved Reflexive practice as a critique of practice and search for truths within one's social context is catalyst for agency and truth of one's real place within the human condition to bring about emancipation Identity formation as a social psychological phenomenon is political as well as cultural and geographically located In terms of polity does parliament stand as guardian to practices within education and social welfare or is it but one influence inside the elaborate arena of negotiation In the present economic climate as western societies embrace their margins the bounded nations and othernesses twinned sites of local and local with global changes of emergencies bubble up in a glowing spectra the UK is but one physicality of many as all that is solid melts into air Marx Economic 1890 The final encounter may well be one of total eclipse or a unified glorification as global capitalism struggles for its feet hovering beneath its own carriage on a blanket of air without the support of the industrial base Money paper alone will not support the march of capitalist accumulation As inflation rises and gross national product falls mindful of the fact that debit accounts are debt in the guise of growth without anything but words on paper to support them

Epistemologies and Ethics in Adult Education and Lifelong Learning Richard G. Bagnall, Steven Hodge, 2022-02-17 This book presents and advocates for a framework of competing epistemologies and conceptions of ethics as a way of understanding modernist lifelong learning These epistemologies are grounded in a recognition of the normative nature of knowledge that informs lifelong learning each being framed by a different account of the sort of knowledge that is most valued and therefore foregrounded in lifelong learning policy provision and engagement informed by the epistemology Each epistemology is also characterised by its constituent conception of ethics Four such epistemologies and conceptions of ethics are here recognised as having been important in the lifelong learning movement to date disciplinary developmental emancipatory and design The authors argue that assumptions about knowledge and moral positions constitute a powerful but not well understood feature of such arguments awareness of these assumptions and positions could serve to powerfully advance the overall understanding of what is at stake in lifelong learning and adult education at all levels

Ethnographies of Deservingness Jelena Tošić, Andreas Streinzer, 2022-08-12 Claims around who deserves what and why moralise inequality in the current global context of unprecedented wealth and its ever more selective distribution Ethnographies of Deservingness explores this seeming paradox and the role of moralized assessments of distribution by reconnecting disparate discussions in the anthropology of migration economic anthropology and political anthropology This edited collection provides a novel and

Free Will and Epistemology Robert Lockie, 2018-01-11 In the first in depth study of the transcendental argument for decades Free Will and Epistemology defends a modern version of the famous transcendental argument for free will that we could not be justified in undermining a strong notion of free will as a strong notion of free will is required for any such process of undermining to be itself epistemically justified By arguing for a conception of internalism that goes back to the early days of the internalist externalist debates it draws on work by Richard Foley William Alston and Alvin Plantinga to explain the importance of epistemic deontology and its role in the transcendental argument It expands on the principle that ought implies can and presents a strong case for a form of self determination With references to cases in the neuroscientific and cognitive psychological literature Free Will and Epistemology provides an original contribution to work on epistemic justification and the free will debate

Bourdieu in International Relations Rebecca Adler-Nissen, 2013 This book rethinks the key concepts of International Relations by drawing on the work of Pierre Bourdieu The last few years have seen a genuine wave of publications promoting sociology in international relations Scholars have suggested that Bourdieu's vocabulary can be applied to study security diplomacy migration and global environmental politics Yet we still lack a systematic and accessible analysis of what Bourdieu inspired IR might look like This book provides the answer It offers an introduction to Bourdieu's thinking to a wider IR audience challenges key assumptions which currently structure IR scholarship and provides an original theoretical restatement of some of the core concepts in the field The book brings together a select group of leading IR scholars who draw on both theoretical and empirical insights from Bourdieu Each chapter covers one central concept in IR Methodology Knowledge Power Strategy Security Culture Gender Norms Sovereignty and Integration The chapters demonstrate how these concepts can be reinterpreted and used in new ways when exposed to Bourdieusian logic Challenging key pillars of IR scholarship Bourdieu in International Relations will be of interest to critical theorists and scholars of IR theory
