Rome Life In The Nineteen Fifties And Sixties:

American Artists in Postwar Rome Peter Benson Miller, 2025-01-09 Drawing on unpublished archival sources this book reconstitutes the experiences of a wide range of American artists critics and writers working in Rome in a charged environment of Cold War cosmopolitanism After the Second World War American artists flocked to Rome in record numbers even as the United States shored up Italy as a bulwark against the spread of Communism While the market for modern art in Rome was less vigorous as those in Paris and New York numerous galleries artist run spaces and other institutions acted as important catalysts making Rome an international artistic hub The city attracted now canonical figures Lee Bontecou Philip Guston Robert Rauschenberg Paul Thek and Cy Twombly along with less well known artists such as Eugene Berman Gene Charlton Carlyle Brown Peter Chinni William Congdon Claire Falkenstein Marcia Hafif John Heliker James Leong Beverly Pepper and Laura Ziegler among many others Rather than focusing on institutions and diplomatic relationships the book centres the experience of artists and also addresses Rome s gay subculture and the role of female artists during the period eschewing traditional narratives of the male cultural ambassador Through case study based investigation Peter Benson Miller explores the reciprocal relationships between American modernist artists and Italian artists in postwar Rome and reveals how these artists perceived Rome as less constrained by the demands of a national school and as an alternative to New York This congenial creative atmosphere yielded new pictorial forms developed in tandem with or absorbed from like minded Italian artists engaging the city and its multiple layers of history from antiquity to the profound trauma inflicted by the recent conflict The book also establishes the entangled social networks galleries exhibitions and institutions sustaining their work and providing entrance into local artistic circles Focusing on a series of specific exchanges this study contributes to our understanding American modernism in an international context

Popular High Culture in Italian Media, 1950–1970 Emma Barron, 2018-08-20 When Mona Lisa smiled enigmatically from the cover of the Italian magazine Epoca in 1957 she gazed out at more than three million readers As Emma Barron argues her appearance on the cover is emblematic of the distinctive ways that high culture was integrated into Italy s mass culture boom in the 1950s and 1960s a period when popular appropriations of literature fine art and music

became a part of the rapidly changing modern Italian identity Popular magazines ran weekly illustrated adaptations of literary classics Television brought opera from the opera house into the homes of millions Readers wrote to intellectuals and artists such as Alberto Moravia Thomas Mann and Salvatore Quasimodo by the thousands with questions about literature and self education Drawing upon new archival material on the demographics of television audiences and magazine readers this book is an engaging account of how the Italian people took possession of high culture and transformed the modern Italian identity

The Holiday Makers Richard K. Popp,2012-05-16 Between the 1930s and 1960s the spread of new transportation networks and the democratization of paid vacations struck many observers as a sign that tourism was growing into a folkway of modern American life Easy mobility and free time lay at the heart of this idealized vision and vacations were seen as a ritualized expression of the movement and egalitarianism that characterized midcentury modernity The Holiday Makers tells the story of how advertisers sold tourist travel in popular magazines during this era transforming consumer culture in the process

Josephus, Paul, and the Fate of Early Christianity F. B. A. Asiedu,2019-03-01 Flavius Josephus the priest from Jerusalem who was affiliated with the Pharisees is our most important source for Jewish life in the first century His notice about the death of James the brother of Jesus suggests that Josephus knew about the followers of Jesus in Jerusalem and in Judaea In Rome where he lived for the remainder of his life after the Jewish War a group of Christians appear to have flourished if 1 Clement is any indication Josephus however says extremely little about the Christians in Judaea and nothing about those in Rome He also does not reference Paul the apostle a former Pharisee who was a contemporary of Josephus s father in Jerusalem even though according to Acts Paul and his activities were known to two successive Roman governors procurators of Judaea Marcus Antonius Felix and Porcius Festus and to King Herod Agrippa II and his sisters Berenice and Drusilla The knowledge of the Herodians in particular puts Josephus s silence about Paul in an interesting light suggesting that it may have been deliberate In addition Josephus s writings bear very little witness to other contemporaries in Rome so much so that if we were dependent on Josephus alone we might conclude that many of those historical characters either did not exist or had little or no impact in the first century Asiedu comments on the state of life in Rome during the reign of the Emperor Domitian and how both Josephus and the Christians who produced 1 Clement coped with the regime as other contemporaries among whom he considers Martial Tacitus Pliny the Younger and others did He argues that most of Josephus s contemporaries practiced different kinds of silences in bearing witness to the world around them Consequently the absence of references to Jews or Christians in Roman writers of the last three decades of the first century including Josephus should not be taken as proof of their non existence in Flavian Rome

When Memory Speaks Jill Ker Conway,2011-06-08 J ill Ker Conway one of our most admired autobiographers author of

The Road from Coorain and True North looks astutely and with feeling into the modern memoir the forms and styles it assumes and the strikingly different ways in which men and women respectively tend to understand and present their lives In a narrative rich with evocations of memoirists over the centuries from Jean Jacques Rousseau and George Sand to W E B Du Bois Virginia Woolf Frank McCourt and Katharine Graham the author suggests why it is that we are so drawn to the reading of autobiography and she illuminates the cultural assumptions behind the ways in which we talk about ourselves Conway traces the narrative patterns typically found in autobiographies by men to the tale of the classical Greek hero and his epic journey of adventure She shows how this configuration evolved in memoirs into the passionate romantic struggling against the conventions of society into the frontier hero battling the wilderness into self made men overcoming economic obstacles to create an invention or a fortune or more recently into a quest for meaning for an understandable past for an ethnic identity In contrast she sees the designs that women commonly employ for their memoirs as evolving from the writings of the mystics such as Dame Julian of Norwich or St Teresa of Avila about their relationship with an all powerful God As against the male autobiographer s expectation of power over his fate we see the woman memoirist again and again believing that she lacks command of her destiny and tending to censor her own story Throughout Conway underlines the memoir s magic quality of allowing us to enter another human being s life and mind and how this experience enlarges and instructs our own lives
