The Unknown Europe James R. Payton, 2021-11-03. The fascinating history of Eastern Europe includes highs of soaring cultural achievement and lows of almost unimaginable repression. But we in the West don't know much about Eastern Europe or its history; this book helps us see why. We got interested when the region became a threat during the Cold War, but what we learned focused on the Communist period after World War II, not Eastern Europe itself or its deep history, a history that continues to live in the hearts of its peoples. James Payton offers an accessible treatment of the history of the region, an opportunity to learn about Eastern Europeans as they are. He overviews that story from pre-history to the present, examining eleven turning points that profoundly shaped Eastern European history. His treatment considers the backgrounds to the turning points, the events, and the long-lasting impacts they had for the various Eastern European nations. This helps us understand how Eastern Europeans themselves see their history, the long haul over the centuries with the influence and impact of events of the sometimes distant past shaping how they see themselves, their neighbors, and their place in the world.

The Colour of Our Future Xolela Mangcu, 2015-07-01. South Africa is ready for a new vocabulary than can form the basis for a national consciousness which recognises racialised identities while affirming that as human beings we are much more than our racial, sexual, class, religious, or national identities. The Colour of Our Future makes a bold and ambitious contribution to the discourse on race. It addresses the tension between the promise of a post-racial society and the persistence of racialised identities in South Africa, which has historically played itself out in debates between the 'I don't see race' of non-racialism and the 'I'm proud to be black' of black consciousness. The chapters in this volume highlight the need for a race-transcendent vision that moves beyond the festival of negatives embodied in concepts such as non-racialism, non-sexism, anti-colonialism, and anti-apartheid. Steve Biko's notion of a joint culture is the scaffold on which this vision rests; it recognises that a race-transcendent society can only be built by acknowledging the constituent elements of South Africa's EuroAfricanAsian heritage. The distinguished authors in this volume have, over the past two decades, used the democratic space to insert into the public domain new conversations around the intersections of race and the economy, race and the state, race and the environment, race and ethnic difference, and race and higher education. Presented here is some of their most trenchant and yet still evolving thinking.
