

A colorful illustration depicting a scene from 'The Tale of Peter Rabbit'. In the foreground, Peter Rabbit, a brown rabbit wearing a blue jacket and blue shoes, is running along a light-colored path. He has a surprised or fleeing expression. To his right, a large, leafy green bush is laden with ripe red strawberries and small white flowers. In the background, Mr. McGregor, an elderly man with a long white beard, wearing a green coat and brown shoes, is running towards Peter. He holds a pitchfork in his right hand and has a determined, chasing expression. The garden is filled with various plants, including a large green tree on the left and a smaller tree on the right. In the distance, a small green-roofed house is visible on a hill. The sky is blue with a few white clouds. The overall style is a classic children's book illustration with bold outlines and a vibrant color palette.

Newcastle-upon-Tyne public libraries. Catalogue of the books in the juvenile lending department William John Haggerston, 1887 A Tale of a Tub Jonathan Swift, 1920 The Kent Coast Arthur D. Lewis, 1911 Little Peter (Christmas Tale) Lucas Malet, 2019-06-03 The pine forest is a wonderful place The pine trees stand in ranks like the soldiers of some vast army side by side mile after mile in companies and regiments and battalions all clothed in a sober uniform of green and grey But they are unlike soldiers in this that they are of all ages and sizes some so small that the rabbits easily jump over them in their play and some so tall and stately that the fall of them is like the falling of a high tower And the pine trees are put to many different uses They are made into masts for the gallant ships that sail out and away to distant ports across the great ocean Others are sawn into planks and used for the building of sheds for the rafters and flooring and clap boards and woodwork of our houses for railway sleepers and scaffoldings and hoardings Others are polished and fashioned into articles of furniture Turpentine comes from them which the artist uses with his colours and the doctor in his medicines which is used too in the cleaning of stuffs and in a hundred different ways While the pine cones and broken branches and waste wood make bright crackling fires by which to warm ourselves on a winter s day But there is something more than just this I should like you to think about in connection with the pine forest for it like everything else that is fair and noble in nature has a strange and precious secret of its own Hob's excursion, a humorous tale [in verse].
