Europe on the Path to Self-Destruction Jack L. Schwartzwald, 2022-07-19 Between the years 1815 and 1945 Europe achieved unrivaled global dominance only to see it shattered by two world wars This frenetic rise and fall was attended by immense societal change In 1815 Europe remained largely agricultural and dependent upon horsepower By 1945 the power of the atom had been unleashed Two industrial revolutions occurred in the interim the first founded upon coal iron and steam the second upon oil steel electricity and internal combustion The implications for humanity were profound This concise yet comprehensive study is divided into three sections In section one the map of Europe emerges in its modern visage as unrestrained nationalist fervor gives rise to an assemblage of new nation states In section two the continent attains global hegemony as massive industrialization fuels a mad scramble for colonial markets and raw materials In section three a cauldron of national ethnic and class hatreds spawn the rise of totalitarianism and the overthrow of European hegemony in two calamitous world wars By tracing the events and undercurrents of this vital period in European history this book offers trenchant insights for the lay reader and the student of history alike German Thought and International Relations R. Shilliam, 2009-03-26 A fundamental question for IR is whether the value system of liberalism can be universalized or if in fact the illiberal reality of international politics systematically rules out such a universalisation The book addresses this issue by focusing on the rise and fall of a specific liberal project supported by influential German intellectuals History, 1975 A Comparative History of Commerce and Industry, Volume II David E. the intersection of societal discourse and practice and analyses textbook knowledge in the context of its production conditions as well as debates within society Focusing particularly on textbook production M ller s study critically questions the common assumption that textbooks are produced in a top down model and calls for this premise to be relativised It also shows how many different actors contend to define knowledge about Africa within the education sector Ultimately this book traces the spectrum of what is considered utterable in regard to knowledge about Africa and shows how certain knowledge corpora have become prominent and others marginalised Austria, Prussia and Germany, 1806-1871 John
