14 July – 2 September 2001

'Look at me: Fashion and Photography in Britain 1960 to the present'

Admission free

'Look at me: Fashion and Photography in Britain 1960 to the present' opens at Milton Keynes Gallery on 14 July. It includes work by 36 photographer, many leading figures in the genre of fashion photography. It also examines the ways in which a wider range of photographers, some documentary and some editorial, have used clothes as icons of expression. The significance of the magazine page and the fashion spread are acknowledged, and material from documentary archives is incorporated.

Photographs by Cecil Beaton, Norman Parkinson, Terence Donovan, Helmut Newton, Nick Knight, Juergen Teller and 2000Turner Prize winner Wolfgang Tillmans are included in the show. Visitors can re-examine fashion and photography from the Swinging Sixties to the Cool Nineties. Although separated by thirty years, these decades have many similarities - the current fascination with the fusion of fashion, design, music, film and art recurs in both.

Look at me, is a British Council exhibition, curated by Val Williams and Brett Rogers. MK G is the only venue in the UK for this exhibition, at the conclusion of its successful international tour.

Fashion at the Edge Caroline Evans,Caroline Edwards,2003-01-01 Caroline Evans analyses the work of experimental designers the images of fashion photographers and the spectacular fashion shows that developed in the final decade of the twentieth century to arrive at a new understanding of fashion s dark side and what it signifies Drawing on a variety of literary and theoretical perspectives from Marx to Benjamin Evans argues that fashion plays a leading role in constructing images and meanings during periods of rapid change She shows persuasively that fashion stands at the very centre of the contemporary where it voices some of Western culture s deepest concerns The British Journal of Photography ,2005

A Companion to Photography Stephen Bull, 2020-02-03 The study of photography has never been more important. A look at today's digital world reveals that a greater number of photographs are being taken each day than at any other moment in history. Countless photographs are disseminated instantly online and more and more photographic images are earning prominent positions and garnering record prices in the rarefied realm of top art galleries. Reflecting this dramatic increase in all things photographic, A Companion to Photography presents a comprehensive collection of original essays that explore a variety of key areas of current debate around the state of photography in the twenty-first century. Essays are grouped and organized in themed sections including photographic interpretation, markets, popular photography, documents, and fine art, and provide comprehensive coverage of the subject. Representing a diversity of approaches, essays are written by both established and emerging photographers and scholars as well as various experts in their respective areas. A Companion to Photography offers scholars and professional photographers alike an essential and up-to-date resource that brings the study of contemporary photography into clear focus.

ECSM2016-Proceedings of the 3rd European Conference on Social Media Christine Bernadas, Delphine Minchella, 2016-06-21

The Rise of the Stylist Philip Clarke, 2024-07-25 The Rise of the Stylist examines the social factors that contributed to the stylist becoming a key role in fashion image making. The 1980s stylist is presented as a cultural intermediary and auteur, as commercial compass and avant-garde innovator. Focusing on London from 1980 to 1990, Philip Clarke draws on oral history interviews with the young creatives who were involved in the specific subcultural scenes, educational environments, and new modes of publishing that informed a unique moment in British cultural life. By documenting the history of the stylist in fashion and dress, as well as their contribution to fields such as food photography and car manufacture, this study looks beyond the style press and bridges the gap between production and promotion. The Rise of the Stylist defines the specific nature of the stylist's role in relation to that of other creative occupations and locates discussion of styling within the context of postmodern society, where political shifts, technological developments, and changing attitudes in all fields of cultural production are reflected in the manufacture and dissemination of fashion.

Photography: A Critical Introduction Liz Wells, 2015-01-30 Photography: A Critical Introduction was the first introductory textbook to examine key debates in photographic theory and place them in their social and political contexts, and is now established as one of the leading textbooks in its field. Written especially for students in higher education and for introductory college courses, this fully revised edition provides a coherent introduction to the nature of photographic seeing. Individual chapters cover key debates in photographic theory and history; Documentary photography and photojournalism; Personal and popular photography; Photography and the human body; Photography and commodity culture; Photography as art. This revised and updated fifth edition includes new case studies on topics such as materialism and embodiment, the commodification of human experience, and an extended discussion of landscape as genre. 98 photographs and images featuring work from Bill Brandt, Susan Derges, Rineke Dijkstra, Fran Herbello, Hannah Hoch, Karen Knorr, Dorothea Lange,
