Looking For Poetry Tras La Poesa:

Looking for Poetry Ulises Carrión,1973      absence of clutter Paul Stephens,2020-03-24 An exploration of minimal writing texts generally shorter than a sentence as complex powerful literary and visual works In the 1960s and 70s minimal and conceptual artists stripped language down to its most basic components the word and the letter Barbara Kruger Jenny Holzer Carl Andre Lawrence Weiner and others built lucrative careers from text based art Meanwhile poets and writers created works of minimal writing visual texts generally shorter than a sentence One poem by Aram Saroyan reads in its entirety eyeeye In absence of clutter Paul Stephens offers the first comprehensive account of minimal writing arguing that it is equal in complexity and power to better known more commercial text based art Minimal writing Stephens writes can be beguilingly simple on the surface but can also offer iterative reading experiences on multiple levels from the fleeting to the ponderous absence of clutter for example the entire text of a poem by Robert Grenier is both expressive and self descriptive Stephens first sets out a theoretical framework for reading and viewing minimal writing and then offers close readings of works of minimal writing by Saroyan Grenier Norman Pritchard Natalie Czech and others He reverse engineers recent works by Jen Bervin Craig Dworkin and Christian B k that draw on molecular biology and explores print on demand books by Holly Melgard code poetry by Nick Montfort Twitter based work by Allison Parrish and the use of Instagram by Hans Ulrich Obrist and Saroyan Text it seems is becoming ever more prevalent in visual art meanwhile poems are getting shorter When reading has become scanning a screen and writing tapping out a text absence of clutter invites us to reflect on how we read see and pay attention      Non-literary Fiction Esther Gabara,2022-12-02 Non literary Fiction examines contemporary art produced in Latin America in reaction to the growing tide of neoliberalism with its purging of specific social ethnic and racial meanings Over decades military juntas throughout South and Central America often supported by the US have brutally restricted freedom of movement and speech and caused whole segments of their populations to disappear Gabara shows how many Latin American artists since the late 1950s have strategically positioned their art as fictions in response to the social death and unspeakable violence that undergirds their experience By fictions Gabara means a kind of art that encourages a beholder or participant to create the work s meaning for herself out of her own experience thus engaging in fabulation She brings together artists working across Latin America in diaspora and in the US to offer a pathway out of the nationalistic frameworks that generally attend Latin American studies Mexican art Brazilian art etc She builds a case regarding nonliterary fictions through nuanced readings of works by many artists from famous ones such as Lygia Clark H lio Oiticica and Francis Al s to emerging artists Abraham Cruzvillegas Amalia Pica and Chemi Rosado Seijo to Latinx artists such as Asco Raphael Monta ez Ortiz and Ruben Ortiz Torres engaging work within the political frameworks of Brazil Mexico Argentina Chile Colombia Cuba Puerto Rico and the US      Looking for poetry Ulises Bogard Carrión,1996      Getty Research Journal No. 2 Thomas W. Beyond Human Tara Daly, 2019-02-15 In the Andes indigenous knowledge systems based on the relationships between different beings both earthly and heavenly animal and plant have been central to the organization of knowledge since precolonial times The legacies of colonialism and the continuance of indigenous cultures make the Andes a unique place from which to think about art and social change as ongoing and as encompassing more than an exclusively human perspective Beyond Human revises established readings of the avant gardes in Peru and Bolivia as humanizing and historical By presenting fresh readings of canonical authors like Cesar Vallejo Jos Mar a Arguedas and Magda Portal and through analysis
