Lookout Cartridge:

Lookout Cartridge Joseph McElroy, 2003-11-25 With Lookout Cartridge Joseph McElroy established a reputation as one of contemporary fiction's foremost innovators and deft observers into the fissures of modern society. It is a novel of dazzling intricacy absorbing suspense and the highest ambition to redeem the great claim of paranoia on the American psyche. In trying to figure out just who is so threatened by an innocent piece of cinema verité filmed in collaboration with a friend Cartwright finds himself at the heart of a mystery stretching from New York and London to Corsica and Stonehenge. With each new fact he gathers both the intricacy of the syndicate arrayed against him and what his search will cost him become alarmingly clear. Writing and Destablization in Joseph McElroy's Lookout Cartridge Isabelle Johnston, 1998

Scenes of Nature, Signs of Men Tony Tanner, 1989-08-25 This book is about the relationship of the American writer to his land and language to the scene and the sign to the natural landscape and the inscriptions imposed upon it by men. Among the questions considered in the first section of the book are how does American Romantic writing differ from European what are the peculiar problems faced by the American artist and what roles does he adopt to tackle them what kind of writing results when authors as different as Henry Adams and Mark Twain lament the vanishing of an earlier America or when Adams and Henry James review their complex relationship to their homeland or when W D Howells and Stephen Crane seek to define their themes in a specifically American setting. The second section of the book examines similar concerns in a number of contemporary writers notably Thomas Pynchon John Barth Donald Barthelme John DeLillo and William Gass. The Art of Excess Tom LeClair, 1989 Information Multiplicity John Johnston, 1998-05-08 With the birth of information theory and cybernetics in the late 1940s and early 1950s writes John Johnston a decisive step was taken toward the immense technological transformation of the world into coded bits of information and machinic assemblages. Beginning with Thomas Pynchon's The Crying of Lot 49 the novels that have reflected this transformation have similarly assembled disparate bits of information and narrative into fictions saturated with data and transcribed clips from media such as motion pictures television recordings and computer files. Realism having thus fractalized into high speed collage thought itself is redefined from the High Modernist stream of consciousness into what the machine psychologist Daniel Dennett refers to as multiple drafts or circuits operating concurrently in the human brain. In a series of close readings Johnston traces how this viral influx of information into human consciousness has been replicated in works by Thomas Pynchon Gravity's Rainbow and Vineland Joseph McElroy Lookout Cartridge William Gaddis J R Don DeLillo Libra and William Gibson Necromancer. From John Johnston's Introduction Information multiplicities are profoundly corrosive of older cultural forms and identities dissolving both subjects and objects alike into systems processes and nodes in the circuits and flow of information exchange. But they also bring about new kinds of energy and even strange new forms of artificial life. Contemporary culture or more specifically what is called postmodern techno or cyberculture is a restructuring process that can similarly be described as an artifactual space created when information re structures modern or traditional culture in order to make it a better habitat for information

Topologies of Fear in Contemporary Fiction Scott McClintock, 2015-07-21 The central concern of the book is the impact of global terror networks and state counterterrorism on twentieth century fiction A unique contribution of this book is the comparative approach as opposed to the single author focus of most of the edited collections on terrorism in literature

A Philosophical Autofiction Spencer Golub, 2019-01-04 This is a book about what becomes of the truth when it succumbs to generational memory loss and to the fictions that intervene to cause and fill the gaps It is a book about the impossibility of writing an autobiography when there is a prepossessing cultural and familial we interfering with the I and an I that does not know itself as a self except metastatically as people and characters it has played but not actually been A highly original combination of close readings and performative autobiography this book takes performance philosophy to an alternative next step by having its ideas read back to it by experience and through assorted fictions It is a philosophical thought experiment in uncertainty whose literary theatrical and cinematic trappings illustrate and finally become what this uncertainty is the thought experiment having become the life that was that came before and that outlives the I am National Identities and Post-Americanist Narratives Donald E. Pease, 1994 National narratives create imaginary relations within imagined communities called national peoples But in the American narrative alongside the nexus of belonging established for the national community the national narrative has represented other peoples women blacks foreigners the homeless from whom the property of nationness has been removed altogether and upon whose differences from them the national people depended for the construction of their norms Dismantling this opposition has become the task of post national Post Americanist narratives bent on changing the assumptions that found the national identity This volume originally published as a special issue of boundary 2 focuses on the process of assembling and dismantling the American national narrative sketching its inception and demolition The contributors examine various cultural political and historical sources colonial literature mass movements epidemics of disease mass spectacle transnational corporations super weapons popular magazines literary texts out of which this narrative was constructed and propose different understandings of nationality and identity following in its wake Contributors Jonathan Arac Lauren Berlant Robert J Corber Elizabeth Freeman Kathryn V Lingberg Jack Matthews Alan Nadel Patrick O Donnell Daniel O Hara Donald E Pease Ross Posnock John Carlos Rowe Rob Wilson The Soft Machine David Porush, 2018-05-15 The Soft Machine originally published in 1985 represents a significant contribution to the study of contemporary literature in the larger cultural and scientific context David Porush shows how the concepts of cybernetics and artificial intelligence that have sparked our present revolution in computer and information technology have also become the source for images and techniques in our most highly sophisticated literature postmodern fiction by Barthelme Barth Pynchon Beckett Burroughs Vonnegut and others With considerable skill Porush traces the growth of the metaphor of the machine as it evolves both technologically and in literature of the twentieth century He describes the birth of cybernetics gives one of the clearest accounts for a lay audience of its major concepts and shows the growth of philosophical resistance to the mechanical model for human intelligence and communication which cybernetics promotes a model that had grown increasingly influential in the previous decade The Soft Machine shows postmodern fiction synthesizing the inviting metaphors and concepts of cybernetics with the ideals of art a synthesis that results in what Porush calls cybernetic fiction alive to the myths and images of a cybernetic age

Postmodern Sublime Joseph Tabbi, 2018-05-31 Focusing on works by Norman Mailer Thomas Pynchon Joseph McElroy and Don DeLillo Joseph Tabbi finds that a simultaneous attraction to and repulsion from technology has produced a powerful new mode of modern writing the technological sublime Facing Texts Heide Ziegler, 2013-07-22 This selection of fiction by many of America's best writers each coupled with a distinguished critic's response is designed to defy the chronological secondariness of critical interpretation During the creation of this book the majority of the contributions chosen by the writers themselves were as yet unpublished providing an unmediated encounter between author and critic Every reader extends what editors authors and critics have begun by adding to the imaginary space in which all texts may be woven together This process serves as metaphor for the changing nature of any latter day encounter with one's own literary tradition The interfacing of texts not only illuminates the fiction and the relationship of fiction to critics but also informs our conceptions of text criticism and fiction itself

The Environmental Unconscious in the Fiction of Don DeLillo Elise A. Martucci, 2007 This book presents an ecocritical reading of DeLillo's novels in an attempt to mediate between the seemingly incompatible influences of postmodernism and environmentalism Martucci argues that although DeLillo is responding to and engaging with a postmodern culture of simulacra and simulation his novels do not reflect a postmodernist theory of the end of nature Rather his fiction emphasizes the lasting significance of the natural world and alerts us to the dangers of destroying it In order to support this argument Martucci examines DeLillo's novels in the context of traditional American literary representations of the environment especially through the lens of Leo Marx's discussion of the conflict between technology and nature found in traditional American literature She demonstrates that DeLillo's fiction explores the way in which new technologies alter perceptions and mediate reality to a further extent than earlier technologies however she argues that he keeps the material world at the forefront of his novels thereby illuminating the environmental implications of these technologies Through close readings of Americana The Names White Noise and Underworld and discussions of postmodernist and ecocritical theories this project engages with current criticism of DeLillo postmodernist fiction and environmental criticism

The Post-Modern Aura Charles Newman, 1985 Inflation affects literary occupations and preoccupations quite as much as it does financial scrip Starting from this premise Charles

Newman ventures forth on an irreverent wide ranging discussion of the Post Modern attitude in fiction culture and sensibility Newman questions the revolutionary claims of avant garde novelists and literary theorists but he is no less critical of the arguments of neoconservatives neorealists and advocates of moral fiction Newman argues that neither of these groups has confronted the unprecedented break with tradition entailed by an economics and culture of inflation A combination of cultural critique literary criticism economic forecast and historical jeremiad The Post Modern Aura is finally a positive statement celebrating The Act of Fiction and suggesting how the forces which have been devaluing it might be overcome
