Vertebrates and Invertebrates of European Cities:Selected Non-Avian Fauna John G. Kelcey,2015-10-19 Vertebrates and Invertebrates of European Cities Selected Non Avian Fauna is the first known account of the vertebrate and invertebrate fauna of several cities in Europe and throughout the rest of the world It excludes birds which are described in a companion volume The book contains eleven chapters about nine cities distributed throughout Europe The chapters start with the history of the cities which is followed by a description of the abiotic features such as geology climate air and water quality and then a brief account of the habitats The vertebrate chapters describe the fish amphibians reptiles and mammals that are known to occur in each city together with their status and the habitats in which they occur for example housing industrial areas parks transport routes and rivers The invertebrate chapters contain an account of the presence status and habitats occupied by 6 8 of the major invertebrate groups including butterflies dragonflies and damselflies crickets and grasshoppers beetles molluscs spiders mites and springtails This volume has been written and edited to be accessible to a wide range of interests and expertise including academic biologists urban ecologists landscape architects planners urban designers undergraduates other students and people with a general interest in natural history especially cities not only in Europe but throughout the world Non-native Species and Their Role in the Environment Radu Cornel Guiaşu,2016-08-01 The young field of invasion biology initially a branch of ecology and conservation biology has greatly expanded particularly in the last two and a half decades or so As a result the potential negative effects of introduced species have been widely advertised and sometimes perhaps overemphasized This book attempts to restore some balance to the current debate over the role of non native species by offering a broader perspective and taking a longer term evolutionary look at these species and their impact in their new environments The relatively arbitrary nature of terms such as native and non native and the rather inconsistent ways in which such terms are applied to biological species as well as the subjective boundaries of so called native ranges are analyzed The role of non native species in their new environments can be considerably more complex than the anti introduced species information would often suggest Thus the more positive and nuanced perspective on introduced species and their impact offered in this book is much needed and long overdue

Biological Control Charles Vincent, Mark Stanislaw Goettel, George Lazarovits, 2007-01-01 This book contains 45 chapters divided into four sections i e classical biocontrol programmes inundative or augmentative biocontrol programmes using nematodes bacteria fungi and viruses conservation biocontrol programmes and networking in biocontrol It describes the personal experiences of scientists from the initial search for suitable control agents against weeds and pests to the release of these biological control agents into ecosystems and finally to the beneficial outcomes demonstrating the success of biological control across diverse agroecosystems This book is intended for researchers and students interested in crop science pest management biotechnology ecology and policy analysis Great Lakes Panel on Aquatic Nuisance Species United States. Great Lakes Basin Commission, 1995
