New Wave, New Hollywood Nathan Abrams, Gregory Frame, 2023-04-20 As a period of film history The American New Wave ordinarily understood as beginning in 1967 and ending in 1980 remains a preoccupation for scholars and audiences alike In traditional accounts it is considered to be bookended by two periods of conservatism and viewed as a brief period of explosive creativity within the Hollywood system From Bonnie and Clyde to Heaven s Gate it produced films that continue to be watched discussed analysed and poured over It has however also become rigidly defined as a cinema of director auteurs who made a number of aesthetically and politically significant films This has led to marginalization and exclusion of many important artists and filmmakers as well as a temporal rigidity about what and who is considered part of the New Wave proper This collection seeks to reinvigorate debate around this area of film history It also looks in part to demonstrate the legacy of aesthetic experimentation and political radicalism after 1980 as part of the legacy of the New Wave Thanks to important new work that questions received scholarly wisdom reveals previously marginalised filmmakers and the films they made considers new genres personnel and films under the banner of New Wave New Hollywood and reevaluates the traditional approaches and perspectives on the films that have enjoyed most critical attention New Wave New Hollywood Reassessment Recovery Legacy looks to begin a new discussion about Hollywood cinema after 1967

The Hollywood Renaissance Peter Krämer, Yannis Tzioumakis, 2018-06-28 In December 1967 Time magazine put Bonnie and Clyde on its cover and proudly declared that Hollywood cinema was undergoing a renaissance For the next few years a wide range of formally and thematically challenging films were produced at the very centre of the American film industry often but by no means always combining success at the box office with huge critical acclaim both then and later This collection brings together acknowledged experts on American cinema to examine thirteen key films from the years 1966 to 1974 starting with Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? a major studio release which was in effect exempted from Hollywood's Production Code and thus helped to liberate American filmmaking from self censorship Long standing taboos to do with sex violence race relations drugs politics religion and much else could now be broken often in conjunction with extensive stylistic experimentation Whereas most previous scholarship has examined these developments through the prism of auteurism with its tight focus on film directors and their oeuvres the contributors to this collection also carefully examine production histories and processes In doing so they pay particular attention to the economic underpinnings and collaborative nature of filmmaking the influence of European art cinema as well as of exploitation experimental and underground films and the connections between cinema and other media notably publishing music and theatre Several chapters show how the innovations of the Hollywood Renaissance relate to further changes in American cinema from the mid 1970s onwards

Storytelling in the New Hollywood Kristin Thompson, 1999-11-05 Drawing on a wide range of films from the 1920s to the 1990s from Keaton's Our Hospitality to Casablanca to Terminator 2 Kristin Thompson offers the first in depth analysis of Hollywood's storytelling techniques and how they are used to make complex easily comprehensible entertaining films

New Hollywood Cinema Geoff King, 2002 Addresses the stylistic industrial and socio historical contexts of the New Hollywood cinema identifying its distinctive characteristics and its points of similarity with the Hollywood of the past Topics include the industrial context to the blockbuster format of contemporary Hollywood the frameworks of authorship genre and stardom through which New Hollywood films have been produced and consumed and the growing importance of small screen media

The Roots of Modern Hollywood Nick Smedley, 2014 In this insightful study of Hollywood cinema since 1969 film historian Nick Smedley traces the cultural and intellectual heritage of American films showing how the more thoughtful recent cinema owes a profound debt to Hollywood s traditions of liberalism first articulated in the New Deal era Although American cinema is not usually thought of as politically or socially engaged Smedley demonstrates how Hollywood can be seen as one of the most value laden of all national cinemas Drawing on a long historical view of the persistent trends and themes in Hollywood cinema Smedley illustrates how films from recent decades have continued to explore the balance between unbridled individualistic capitalism and a more socially engaged liberalism He also brings out the persistence of pacifism in Hollywood s consideration of American foreign policy in Vietnam and the Middle East His third theme concerns the treatment of women in Hollywood films and the belated acceptance by the film community of a wider role for the American post feminist woman Featuring important new interviews with four of Hollywood s most influential directors Michael Mann Peter Weir Tony Gilroy and Paul Haggis The Roots of Modern Hollywood is an incisive account of where Hollywood is today and the path it has taken to get there

Affect Poetics of the New Hollywood Hauke Lehmann,2019-12-02 How is affective experience produced in the cinema And how can we write a history of this experience By asking these questions this study by Hauke Lehmann aims at rethinking our conception of a critical period in US film history the New Hollywood as a moment of crisis that can neither be reduced to economic processes of adaption nor to a collection of masterpieces Rather the fine grained analysis of core films reveals the power of cinematic images to affect their audiences to confront them with the new The films of the New Hollywood redefine the divisions of the classical genre system in a radical way and thereby transform the way spectators are addressed affectively in the cinema The study describes a complex interplay between three modes of affectivity suspense paranoia and melancholy All three each in their own way implicate spectators in the deep seated contradictions of their own feelings and their ways of being in the world their relations to history to society and to cultural fantasy On this basis Affect Poetics of the New Hollywood projects an original conception of film history as an affective history which can be re written up to the present day
