Lagerlund, Sylvain Roudaut, Erik Åkerlund, Robert Andrews, 2025-06-10 This book presents a groundbreaking study of the Italian philosopher and scientist Blasius of Parma 1350 1416 For the first time in English it presents key elements of his commentary on Aristotle s Physics both through interpretive analysis and edited texts The main interpretive claim is that Blasius is an early mechanical philosopher It shows this by studying six carefully selected aspects of his physics These six aspects are Blasius 1 use of mechanics science of weights 2 analysis of causality 3 account of motion 4 analysis of rarefaction and condensation 5 view of artifacts and 6 the use of a new analytical language in physics Authors of the interpretive essays are Erik Åkerlund Joël Biard Henrik Lagerlund and Sylvain Roudaut The Light Ages Seb Falk, 2020-11-17 Named a Best Book of 2020 by The Telegraph The Times and BBC History Magazine An illuminating guide to the scientific and technological achievements of the Middle Ages through the life of a crusading astronomer monk Falk s bubbling curiosity and strong sense of storytelling always swept me along By the end The Light Ages didn t just broaden my conception of science even as I scrolled away on my Kindle it felt like I was sitting alongside Westwyk at St Albans abbey leafing through dusty manuscripts by candlelight Alex Orlando Discover Soaring Gothic cathedrals violent crusades the Black Death these are the dramatic forces that shaped the medieval era But the so called Dark Ages also gave us the first universities eyeglasses and mechanical clocks As medieval thinkers sought to understand the world around them from the passing of the seasons to the stars in the sky they came to develop a vibrant scientific culture In The Light Ages Cambridge science historian Seb Falk takes us on a tour of medieval science through the eyes of one fourteenth century monk John of Westwyk Born in a rural manor educated in England's grandest monastery and then exiled to a clifftop priory Westwyk was an intrepid crusader inventor and astrologer From multiplying Roman numerals to navigating by the stars curing disease and telling time with an ancient astrolabe we learn emerging science alongside Westwyk and travel with him through the length and breadth of England and beyond its shores On our way we encounter a remarkable cast of characters the clock building English abbot with leprosy the French craftsman turned spy and the Persian polymath who founded the world's most advanced observatory The Light Ages offers a gripping story of the struggles and successes of an ordinary man in a precarious world and conjures a vivid picture of medieval life as we have never seen it before An enlightening history that argues that these times weren't so dark after all The Light Ages shows how medieval ideas continue to color how we see the world today

Space Andrew Janiak, 2020-01-23 Recurrent questions about space have dogged philosophers since ancient times Can an ordinary person draw from his or her perceptions to say what space is Or is it rather a technical concept that is only within the grasp of experts Can geometry characterize the world in which we live What is God's relation to space In Ancient Greece Euclid set out to define space by devising a codified set of axioms and associated theorems that were then passed down for centuries thought by many philosophers to be the only sensible way of trying to fathom space Centuries later when Newton transformed the natural philosophy of the seventeenth century into the physics of the eighteenth century he placed the mathematical analysis of space time and motion at the center of his work When Kant began to explore modern notions of idealism and realism space played a central role But the study of space was transformed forever when in 1915 Einstein published his general theory of relativity explaining that the world is not Euclidean after all This volume chronicles the development of philosophical conceptions of space from early antiquity through the medieval period to the early modern era The chapters describe the interactions at different moments in history between philosophy and various other disciplines especially geometry optics and natural science more generally Fascinating central figures from the history of mathematics science and philosophy are discussed including Euclid Plato Aristotle Proclus Ibn al Haytham Nicole Oresme Kepler Descartes Newton Leibniz Berkeley and Kant As with other books in the series shorter essays or Reflections enrich the volume by characterizing perspectives on space found in various disciplines including ecology mathematics sculpture neuroscience cultural geography art history and the history of science

Nicolas Chuquet, Renaissance Mathematician Graham Flegg, C. Hay, B. Dedron and J. Itard trans J. Field that I noted that it was stated that the whole manuscript comprises 324 folios i.e. 648 pages and that in addition to the Triparty by which the work is generally known the manuscript includes sections on problems on the application of algebraic methods to geometry and on conunercial Scribes of Space Matthew Boyd Goldie, 2019-03-15 Scribes of Space posits that the conception of space the everyday physical areas we perceive and through which we move underwent critical transformations between the thirteenth and fifteenth centuries Matthew Boyd Goldie examines how natural philosophers theologians poets and other thinkers in late medieval Britain altered the ideas about geographical space they inherited from the ancient world In tracing the causes and nature of these developments and how geographical space was consequently understood Goldie focuses on the intersection of medieval science theology and literature deftly bringing a wide range of writings scientific works by Nicole Oresme Jean Buridan the Merton School of Oxford Calculators and Thomas Bradwardine spiritual poetic and travel writings by John Lydgate Robert Henryson Margery Kempe the Mandeville author and Geoffrey Chaucer into conversation This pairing of physics and literature uncovers how the
