Nuclear Enchantment:

Jungian Arts-Based Research and "The Nuclear Enchantment of New Mexico" Susan Rowland, Joel Weishaus, 2020-07-26 Jungian Arts Based Research and The Nuclear Enchantment of New Mexico provides clear accessible and in depth guidance both for arts based researchers using Jung s ideas and for Jungian scholars undertaking arts based research The book provides a central extended example which applies the techniques described to the full text of Joel Weishaus prose poem The Nuclear Enchantment of New Mexico published here for the first time Designed as a how to book Jungian Arts Based Research and The Nuclear Enchantment of New Mexico explores how Jung contributes to the new arts based paradigm in psychic functions such as intuition by providing an epistemology of symbols that includes the unconscious and research strategies such as active imagination Rowland examines Jung s The Red Book as an early example of Jungian arts based research and demonstrates how this practice challenges the convention of the detached researcher by providing holistic knowing Arts based researchers will find here a psychic dimension that also manifests in transdisciplinarity while those familiar with Jung s work will find in arts based research ways to foster diversity for a decolonized academy This unique project will be essential reading for Jungian and post Jungian academics and scholars arts based researchers of all backgrounds and readers interested in transdisciplinarity Land of Nuclear Enchantment Lucie Genay, 2019-04 Ground zero Land of cultural and economic survival The skeleton of a domestic nuclear empire The manifest destiny of atomic scientists The atomic sun shines over the desert The nuclear golden goose A federal sponsor Cloaked in secrecy Dangerous practices toxic legacies The sociocultural impacts of a scientific conquest Land lawsuits and waste Memory Nuclear Enchantment , 1991 Undermining Lucy R. Lippard, 2006-09-13 A marvelous slim book that weaves ideas facts images and histories into a whole about the ecology of the manmade world Rebecca Solnit In Undermining the award winning author art historian and social critic Lucy R Lippard delivers another trademark work that combines text and full color images to explore the intersection of art the environment geography and politics Kirkus Reviews Working from her own experience of life in a New Mexico village and inspired by the gravel pits in the surrounding landscape Lippard addresses a number of fascinating themes including fracking mining land art adobe buildings ruins Indian land rights the Old West tourism photography and water In her meditations she illuminates the relationship between culture industry and the land From threatened Native American sacred sites to the history of uranium mining she offers a skeptical examination of the subterranean economy Featuring more than two hundred gorgeous color images Undermining offers a provocative new perspective on the relationship between art and place in a rapidly shifting society Lippard s strength lies in the depth of her commitment her dual loyalty to tradition and modernity and her effort to restore the broken connection between the two Suzi Gablik The New York Times Book Review Under the Cap of Invisibility Lucie Genay, 2025-05-13 Pantex was built during World War II near the town of Amarillo Texas The site was converted early in the Cold War to assemble nuclear weapons and produce high explosives For nearly fifty years Pantex has been the sole assembly and disassembly plant for nuclear weapons in the United States Today most of the activities of the plant consist of the manufacture of high explosive components and the dismantlement or life extension of weapons including retrofitting aging warheads in the United States s arsenal Unlike the much more famous nuclear weapons production sites at Los Alamos Oak Ridge Hanford and Rocky Flats the Pantex plant has drawn little attention hidden under a metaphoric cap of invisibility Lucie Genay now lifts that invisibility cap to give the world its first in depth look at Pantex and the people who have spent their lives as neighbors and employees of this secretive industry The book investigates how Pantex has impacted local identity by molding elements of the past into the guaranty of its future and its concealment It further examines the multiple facets of Pantexism the reasons for embracing nuclear weapons production as a solution to economic woes the resulting dependence on this industry and the unconditional support for the facility through the voices of native and adoptive Panhandlers

Discordant Memories Alison Fields, 2020-02-06 On two separate days in August 1945 the United States dropped atomic bombs over the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki As the seventy fifth anniversary of these cataclysmic bombings draws near American and Japanese citizens are seeking new ways to memorialize these events for future generations In Discordant Memories Alison Fields explores through the lenses of multiple disciplines ongoing memories of the two bombings Enhanced by striking color and black and white images this book is an innovative contribution to the evolving fields of memory studies and nuclear humanities To reveal the layered complexities of nuclear remembrance Fields analyzes photography film and artworks offers close readings of media and testimonial accounts traces site visits to atomic museums in New Mexico and Japan and features artists who give visual form to evolving memories According to Fields such expressions of memory both inspire group healing and expose struggles with past trauma Visual forms of remembrance such as science museums peace memorials photographs and even scars on human bodies serve to contain or manage painful memories And yet the author claims distinct cultures lay claim to vastly different remembrances of nuclear history Fields analyzes a range of case studies to uncover these discordant memories and to trace the legacies of nuclear weapons production and testing Her subjects include the Bradbury Science Museum in Los Alamos New Mexico the Hiroshima Peace Memorial Museum in Japan the atomic photography of Carole Gallagher and Patrick Nagatani and artworks and experimental films by Will Wilson and Nanobah Becker In the end Fields argues the trauma caused by nuclear weapons can never be fully contained For this reason commemorations of their effects are often incomplete and insufficient Differences between individual memories and public accounts are also important to recognize Discordant Memories illuminates such disparate memories in all their rich complexity

National Imaginaries, American Identities Larry J. Reynolds, Gordon Hutner, 2021-03-09 From the American Revolution to the present the United States has enjoyed a rich and persuasive visual culture These images have constructed sustained and disseminated social values and identities but this unwieldy sometimes untidy form of cultural expression has received less systematic attention than other modes of depicting American life Recently scholars in the humanities have developed a new critical approach to reading images and the cultural work they perform This practice American cultural iconography is generating sophisticated analyses of how images organize our public life The contributions to this volume exhibit the extraordinary scope and interpretive power of this interdisciplinary study while illuminating the dark corners of the nation's psyche Drawing on such varied texts and visual media as daguerreotypes political cartoons tourist posters and religious artifacts these essays explore how pictures and words combine to teach us who we are and who we are not They examine mimesis in elegant portraits of black Freemasons industrial age representations of national parks and postwar photographs of atomic destruction They consider how visual culture has described and disclosed the politics of racialized sexuality whether subconsciously affirming it in the shadows of film noir or deliberately contesting it through the interethnic incest of John Sayles's Lone Star Students of literature film and history will find that these essays extend the frontier of American studies The contributors are Maurice Wallace Dennis Berthold Alan Trachtenberg Shirley Samuels Jenny Franchot Cecelia Tichi Eric Lott Bryan C Taylor and Jos E Lim n American Photo, 1991-09 Museum Frictions Ivan Karp, Corinne A.
