M. Stern, Jimmy Stamp, 2016-01-01 Marking the centennial of the 1916 establishment of a professional program Pedagogy and Place is the definitive text on the history of the Yale School of Architecture Robert A M Stern current dean of the school and Jimmy Stamp examine its growth and change over the years and they trace the impact of those who taught or studied there as well as the architecturally significant buildings that housed the program on the evolution of architecture education at Yale Owing to the impressive number of notable practitioners who have attended or been affiliated with the school this book also contributes a history beyond Yale of the architecture profession in the twentieth century Featuring extensive archival research and illuminating firsthand accounts from alumni faculty and administrators this well rounded and engaging narrative is richly illustrated with historic photos of the school and its studios images of student work and important architectural achievements on and off campus Copyright Law Symposium Nathan Burkan Memorial Competition,1998-03-16 Available for the first time in English this is the definitive account of the practice of sexual slavery the Japanese military perpetrated during World War II by the researcher principally responsible for exposing the Japanese government s responsibility for these atrocities The large scale imprisonment and rape of thousands of women who were euphemistically called comfort women by the Japanese military first seized public attention in 1991 when three Korean women filed suit in a Toyko District Court stating that they had been forced into sexual servitude and demanding compensation Since then the comfort stations and their significance have been the subject of ongoing debate and intense activism in Japan much if it inspired by Yoshimi s investigations How large a role did the military and by extension the government play in setting up and administering these camps What type of compensation if any are the victimized women due These issues figure prominently in the current Japanese focus on public memory and arguments about the teaching and writing of history and are central to efforts to transform Japanese ways of remembering the war Yoshimi Yoshiaki provides a wealth of documentation and testimony to prove the existence of some 2 000 centers where as many as 200 000 Korean Filipina Taiwanese Indonesian Burmese Dutch Australian and some Japanese women were restrained for months and forced to engage in sexual activity with Japanese military personnel Many of the women were teenagers some as young as fourteen To date the Japanese government has neither admitted responsibility for creating the comfort station system nor given compensation directly to former comfort women This English edition updates the Japanese edition originally published in 1995 and includes introductions by both the author and the translator placing the story in context for American readers Design Added Value Ömer Akin,2021-07-22 Design has intrinsic economic value To make this value tangible design features of buildings need to be explored measured and taken into account when initiating projects and financing their construction It is as calculable as the extrinsic value of a project However we need concepts strategies methods techniques and tools to do just that The Value Based Design approach and Design Added Value D AV methodology in this book enables architects engineers contractors and owner clients of buildings to benefit from extraordinary design and construction features It explains the rationale and motivation for D AV methodology outlines and illustrates this methodology with examples provides complete and detailed examples of how the key analysis techniques work through historical case studies and describes specific methods used in application of the D AV methodology such as Bayesian statistics cost benefit analysis pairwise comparison techniques cognitive walkthroughs and optimization Transcultural Architecture Thorsten Botz-Bornstein,2016-03-09 Critical Regionalism is a notion which gained popularity in architectural debate as a synthesis of universal modern elements and individualistic elements derived from local cultures This book shifts the focus from Critical Regionalism towards a broader concept of Transcultural Architecture and defines Critical Regionalism as a subgroup of the latter One of the benefits that this change of perspective brings about is that a large part of the political agenda of Critical

Regionalism which consists of resisting attitudes forged by typically Western experiences is softened and negotiated according to premises provided by local circumstances. A further benefit is that several responses dependent on factors that initial definitions of Critical Regionalism never took into account can now be considered. At the book's centre is an analysis of Reima and Raili Pietilä's Sief Palace Area project in Kuwait. Further cases of modern architecture in China, Korea and Saudi Arabia show that the critique which holds that Critical Regionalism is a typical western exercise is not sound in all circumstances. The book argues that there are different Critical Regionalisms and not all of them impose Western paradigms on non-Western cultures. Non-Western regionalists can also successfully participate in the Western enlightened discourse even when they do not directly and consciously act against Western models. Furthermore, the book proposes that a certain architectural rationality can be contained in architecture itself, not imposed by outside parameters like aesthetics, comfort or even tradition, but flowing out of a social game of which architecture is a part. The key concept is that of the form of life as developed by Ludwig Wittgenstein, whose thoughts are here linked to Critical Regionalism. Kenneth Frampton argues that Critical Regionalism offers something well beyond comfort and accommodation. What he has in mind are ethical precepts closely linked to a Architectural Design, Architectural Theory, History, and Criticism, Human Behavior, Professional Practice, Special Topics, Urban Design Theory and History Georgia Bizios, 1998 Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress, 2004 Architecture Reading Lists and Course Outlines: Architectural theory and criticism, Urban design theory, Architectural history Georgia Bizios, 1991 A Global History of Architecture Francis D. K. Ching, Mark M. Jarzombek, Vikramaditya Prakash, 2010-12-13. The award-winning First Edition of A Global History of Architecture was a publishing event that forever changed the way architectural history is viewed and studied. This Second Edition surpasses the first with a lavish new design illustrated throughout with drawings and photographs in full color and even more maps and diagrams detailing global interconnections. The signature drawings of Francis D. K. Ching are more informative than ever updated with scale annotation and function added where needed. This revision is sure to remain the most relevant book on the topic. Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress. Cataloging Policy and Support Office, 2006 Signs for the Times Chris Brooks, 2016-07-01. First published in 1984, Signs for the Times explores imaginative and creative relationships between three major areas of mid-Victorian arts: literature, painting and architecture. Through the detailed critical analysis of particular novels, prose writings, paintings and buildings, Chris Brooks establishes a fusion of realistic and symbolic values that he sees as central to the Victorian creative imagination. He argues that the creative achievement of the mid-nineteenth century needs to be seen far more as a whole than it has previously and that fundamental imaginative terms are common to art and architecture to major theoretical writers such as Carlyle, Ruskin and Rugin as well as to the central literary figure of Dickens. All those interested in literature, art or architecture will welcome this interpretation of symbolic realism within the mid-Victorian world. The Future University Ronald Barnett, 2012. Winner of the Comparative and International Education Society Higher Education Special Interest Group Best Book Award for 2014 As universities increasingly engage with the world beyond the classroom and the campus those who work within higher education are left to examine how the university's mission has changed Official reviews and debates often forget to inquire into the purposes and responsibilities of universities and how they are changing Where these matters are addressed they are rarely pursued in depth and rarely go beyond current circumstances Those who care about the university's role in society are left looking for a renewed sense of purpose regarding its goals and aspirations The Future University explores new avenues opening up to universities and tackles fundamental issues facing their development Contributors with interdisciplinary and international perspectives imagine ways to frame the university's future They consider the history of the university its current status as an active player in local governments cultures and markets and where these trajectories may lead What does it mean to be a university in the twenty first century What could the university become What limitations do they face and what opportunities might lie ahead This volume in the International Studies in Higher Education series offers bold and imaginative possibilities
