Harriet Beecher Stowe: Three Novels (LOA #4) Harriet Beecher Stowe, 1982-05-06 In this Library of America volume are the best and most enduring works of Harriet Beecher Stowe the little woman as Abraham Lincoln said when he met her in 1861 who wrote the book that made this great war He was referring with rueful exaggeration to Uncle Tom's Cabin 1852 which during its first year had sold over 300 000 copies Contemporary readers can still appreciate the powerful effects of its melodramatic characterizations and its unapologetic sentimentality They can also recognize in its treatment of racial violence some of the brooding imagination and realism that anticipates Faulkner's rendering of the same theme Stowe was charged with exaggerating the evils of slavery but her stay in Cincinnati Ohio where her father the formidable Lyman Beecher head of the Lane Theological Seminary gave her a close look at the miseries of the slave communities across the Ohio River People in her circle of friends were continually harboring slaves who escaped across the river from Kentucky on the way they hoped to Canada Two other novels along with Uncle Tom's Cabin show the range and variety of her literary accomplishment The Minister's Wooing 1859 is set in Newport Rhode Island after the Revolution It is a romance based in part on the life of Stowe's sister and it traces to a happy ending the conflicts in a young woman between adherence to Calvinistic rigor and her expression of preference in the choice of a marital partner The third novel Oldtown Folks 1869 confirms Stowe's genius for the realistic rendering of ordinary experience her talent for social portraiture with a keen satiric edge and her subtlety in exploring a wide group of themes from child rearing practices and religious controversy to romantic seduction and betrayal But finally it is the old town and a way of life that no longer exists that is the true subject of this elegiac novel

Early Film Noir William Hare, 2010-07-27 The name is French and it has connections to German expressionist cinema but film noir was inspired by the American Raymond Chandler whose prose was marked by the gripping realism of seedy hotels dimly lit bars main streets country clubs mansions cul de sac apartments corporate boardrooms and flop houses of America Chandler and the other writers and directors including James M Cain Dashiell Hammett Jane Greer Ken Annakin Rouben Mamoulian and Mike Mazurki who were primarily responsible for the creation of the film noir genre and its common plots and themes are the main focus of this work It correlates the rise of film noir with the new appetites of the American public after World War II and explains how it was developed by smaller studios and filmmakers as a result of the emphasis on quality within a deliberately restricted element of cities at night The author also discusses how RKO capitalized on films such as Murder My Sweet and Out of the Past two of film noir's most famous titles and film noir's connection to British noir and the great international triumph of Sir Carol Reed in The Third Man

Aristotelian virtue ethics this book makes the case that moral philosophers ought to take murder mysteries seriously seeing them as a source of ethical insight and as a tool that can be used to spark the ethical imagination Detective fiction is a literary genre that asks readers to consider questions of good and evil justice and injustice virtue and vice and is consequently a profoundly and inescapably ethical genre Moreover in the figure of the detective readers are presented with an accessible role model who demonstrates the virtues of honesty courage and a commitment to justice that are required by those who want to live well as a virtue ethicist would understand it This book also offers a critique of contemporary moral philosophy and considers what features a neo Aristotelian conception of autonomy might display Mystery and Suspense

Jacqueline Vuaille-Barcan, 2017-12-18 In Origins and Legacies of Marcel Duhamel's Série Noire Alistair Rolls Clara Sitbon and Marie Laure Vuaille Barcan counter the myths and received wisdom that are typically associated with this iconic French crime fiction series namely that it was born in Paris on a tide of postwar euphoria that it initially consisted of translations of American hard boiled classics by the likes of Dashiell Hammett and Raymond Chandler and that the translations were rushed and rather approximate Instead an alternative vision of Duhamel s translation practice is proposed one based on a French tradition of auto or original translation of ostensibly American crime fiction and one that appropriates the source text in order to create an allegory of the target culture
