Optical Impersonality Christina Walter,2014-07-08 Christina Walter brings the next offering to the Hopkins Studies in Modernism series Her work looks at the influence of the modern science of visual perception a variety of modernist writers Walter focuses in particular on the way in which writers like H D Virginia Woolf Walter Pater and T S Eliot developed an alternative conception of the self in light of the developing neuro scientific account of our inner workings Critics have long seen modernist writers as being concerned with an impersonal form of writing that rejects the earlier Romantic notion that literature was a direct expression of an author s subjective personality Walter argues that the charge of impersonality has been overblown and that the modernists did not want to entirely evacuate the self from writing Rather she argues modernist writers embraced the kind of material and embodied notion of the self that resulted from the then emerging physiological sciences This work will appeal to scholars and advanced students of modernist literature as well as scholars interested in the influence of science on literature Provided by publisher The Graphic ,1923 Melody ,1926 Atlanta Magazine
