Reading Bernstein Researching Bernstein:

Reading Bernstein, Researching Bernstein Brian Davies, Ana Morais, Johan Muller, 2004-06-24 Basil Bernstein is arguably one of the most important educational theorists of the late 20th century. Whilst most academics and students in sociology of education know of Bernstein, few can claim to fully understand the scope and power of his work which simply cannot be matched by any of his contemporaries. This book, written by a team of international contributors, offers an insight into the richness and depth of his theories. It demonstrates the growing recognition of the value of Bernstein's work to understanding unfolding developments in education systems around the world today. The volume is divided into four sections. Section 1 considers the work of the theorists that Bernstein worked through and with, from Durkheim and Marx to Bourdieu and Foucault. Section 2 focuses on teaching and learning in school contexts and draws on current issues like boys' underachievement, citizenship, system reform and language learning in varied cultural contexts. Section 3 applies Bernstein's theories to teacher education. Section 4 focuses on international and higher education. This comprehensive text will show the international academic community in education and sociology, as well as students of education, sociology, sociolinguistics and social psychology, degrees how to read and use Bernstein. Knowledge-building Karl Maton, Susan Hood, Suellen Shay, 2015-10-08 Education and knowledge have never been more important to society, yet research is segmented by approach, methodology or topic. Legitimation Code Theory or LCT extends and integrates insights from Pierre Bourdieu and Basil Bernstein to offer a framework for research and practice that overcomes segmentalism. This book shows how LCT can be used to build knowledge about education and society. Comprising original papers by an international and multidisciplinary group of scholars, Knowledge building offers the first primer in this fast-growing approach. Through case studies of major research projects, Part I provides practical insights into how LCT can be used to build knowledge by enabling dialogue between theory and data in qualitative research, bringing together quantitative and qualitative methodologies in mixed methods research, relating theory and practice in praxis, conducting interdisciplinary studies with systemic functional linguistics. Part II offers a series of studies of pressing issues facing knowledge building in education and beyond, encompassing diverse subject areas including physics, English, cultural studies, music and design, educational sites, schooling, vocational education and higher education, practices of research, curriculum, pedagogy and assessment, both education and informal learning contexts such as museums and masonic lodges. Carefully sequenced and interrelated, these chapters form a coherent collection that gives a unique insight into one of the most thought-provoking and innovative ways of building knowledge about knowledge building in education and society to have emerged this century. This book is essential reading for all serious students and scholars of education, sociology and linguistics. International Handbook of Educational Leadership and Social (In)Justice Ira Bogotch, Carolyn M. Knowledge and Identity Gabrielle Ivinson, Brian Davies, John Fitz, 2010-11-23 What in the digital era is knowledge Who has knowledge and whose knowledge has value Postmodernism has introduced a relativist flavour into educational research such that big questions about the purposes of education have tended to be eclipsed by minutiae Changes in economic and financial markets induce a sense that we are also experiencing an intellectual credit crunch Societies can no longer afford to think about the role of education merely in relation to national markets and national citizenry There is growing recognition that once again we need big thinking using big theoretical ideas in working on local problems of employability sustainability and citizenship Drawing on aspects of Bernstein s work that have attracted an international following for many years the international contributors to this book raise questions about knowledge production and subjectivity in times dominated by market forces privatisation and new forms of state regulation The book is divided into three sections Part one extends Bernstein s sociology of knowledge by revitalizing fundamental questions such as what is knowledge how is it produced and what are its functions within education and society in late modernity It demonstrates that big theory like big science provides immense resources for thinking ourselves out of crisis because in contradistinction to micro theory we are able to contemplate global transformations in ways which otherwise would remain unthinkable Part two considers the new hybrid forms of knowledge that are emerging in the gap opened up between economic markets and academic institutions across a range of countries Bernstein said in the 1970s that schools cannot compensate for society but we might now ask can universities compensate for the economy Part three adds new conceptual tools to the understanding of subjectivity within Bernstein's sociology of knowledge and elaborates conceptual developments about pedagogic regulation consciousness and embodiment This book will appeal to sociologists educationists and higher educators internationally and to students on sociology of education curriculum and policy studies courses Bilingual Learners and Social Equity Ruth Harman, 2017-08-13

Reingard Spannring, Wilfried Smidt, Christine Unterrainer, 2023-01-01 This book discusses opportunities and limitations to democratic participation in institutions and organizations across the life course It demonstrates that democratic participation is not something that is learned once and for all and applied in formal political settings but something that is lived every day throughout life in various contexts Institutions and organizations frame human lives and strongly determine the ability to participate and co determine their communities They are places for learning deliberation and the development of the common good The book conceptually and empirically analyses the potential of democratic participation within various institutions The contributions range from early childhood institutions schools youth programs workplaces and vocational education to cultural organizations and nursing homes for the elderly The book thereby provides a cross sectional and interdisciplinary knowledge base to inspire future research and practical efforts to promote democratic participation within and across institutions around the world Curriculum and the Specialization of Knowledge Michael Young, Johan

Muller, 2015-09-07 This book presents a new way for educators at all levels from early years to university to think about curriculum priorities It focuses on the curriculum as a form of specialised knowledge optimally designed to enable students to gain access to the best knowledge available in any field Papers jointly written by the authors over the last eight years are revised for this volume It draws on the sociology of knowledge and in particular the work of Emile Durkheim and Basil Bernstein opening up the possibilities for collaborative inter disciplinary enquiry with historians philosophers and psychologists Although primarily directed to researchers university teachers and graduate students its arguments about
