Research Writing Revisited:

Research Writing Revisited Pavel Zemliansky, Wendy Bishop, 2004 The time has come to brush the dust off research writing pedagogy and reimagine it into the twenty first century classroom with fresh approaches that breathe life into both the papers themselves and the instruction that supports them

English as an Additional Language in Research

Publication and Communication Sally Burgess, Pedro Martín-Martín, 2008 This book brings together a collection of selected empirical studies by researchers and English for Academic Purposes professionals working with scholars who use English as an additional language and who face barriers to publication when communicating the results of their research in the international context The contributions have their origins in papers and workshops presented at the conference Publishing and Presenting Research Internationally Issues for Speakers of English as an Additional Language PRISEAL which took place at the University of La Laguna Spain from 11 to 13 January 2007 The various issues which are addressed in this volume are grouped into three main themes 1 Descriptive studies of linguistic and rhetorical features of written and spoken academic genres 2 Contrastive studies of academic discourse with a focus on rhetorical preferences of members of scientific communities across cultures disciplines and genres 3 Studies which evaluate English for Academic Purposes courses and materials in terms of how successfully they develop the scholar s ability to communicate more effectively in English

A Dynamic Systems Theory Perspective on L2 Writing Development Shaopeng Li, 2022-03-23 From the perspective of empirical complex dynamic systems this book investigates the complex and nonlinear process of L2 writing centering on three linguistic aspects of L2 writing development vocabulary syntax and discourse Combining dynamic systems theory variation analysis as well as data and cases studies from Chinese EFL learners writing the book critically engages with the heated discussion on dynamic patterns of L2 writing development that focus heavily on the linguistic dimensions of complexity accuracy and fluency The author expands the scope of the research by integrating both linguistic and functional dimensions of L2 output and examines the interaction and co development of these dimensions This framework helps delineate a full picture of individual learners L2 writing dynamic patterns across all components of their communicative repertoire The research findings suggest the developmental path of writing system for each EFL learner may differ which is influenced by their different learning characteristics and learning environments in China The title will appeal to scholars interested in applied linguistics and second language acquisition Suggestions on pedagogy and language learning advanced in the book will also make it a useful read for L2 language learners and TESOL and TEFL teachers

Understanding Development and Proficiency in Writing Philip Durrant, Mark Brenchley, Lee McCallum, 2021-03-18 Quantitative corpus research on written language development has expanded rapidly in recent years assisted by the ever increasing power and accessibility of software capable of reliably analysing huge collections of learner writing For this work to reach its full potential it is important that researchers have a strong understanding of its methodological foundations and of the existing empirical evidence base on which it can build This book provides the most comprehensive discussion to date of research in this area Covering both first and second language learning contexts it sets out a coherent theoretical framework and systematically reviews studies published over the last seventy years in order to establish what such research has taught us about written language development what it hasn't taught us and what we should do next Timely and original this is an essential reference work for academic researchers and students of first and second language writing

Defining, Locating, and Addressing Bullying in the WPA Workplace Cristyn L. Elder, Bethany Davila, 2019-03-15 Defining Locating and Addressing Bullying in the WPA Workplace is the first volume to take up the issue of bullying in writing programs Contributors to this collection share their personal stories and analyze varieties of collegial malevolence they have experienced as WPAs with consequences in emotional mental and physical health and in personal and institutional economies Contributors of varying status in different types of programs across many kinds of institutions describe various forms of bullying including microaggressions incivility mobbing and emotional abuse They define bullying as institutional racism academic systemic incivility a crisis of insularity and faculty fundamentalism They locate bullying in institutional contexts including research institutions small liberal arts colleges community colleges and writing programs and writing centers These locations are used as points of departure to further theorize bullying and to provide clear advice about agentive responses A culture of silence discourages discussions of this behavior making it difficult to address abuse This silence also normalizes patterns and cultivates the perception that bullying arises naturally Defining Locating and Addressing Bullying in the WPA Workplace helps the field to name these patterns of behaviors as bullying and resist ideologies of normalcy encouraging and empowering readers to take an active role in defining locating and addressing bullying in their own workplaces Contributors Sarah Allen Andrea Dardello Harry Denny Dawn Fels Bre Garrett W Gary Griswold Amy C Heckathorn Aurora Matzke Staci Perryman Clark Sherry Rankins Robertson Erec Smith

Documents of Life Revisited Liz Stanley, 2016-05-13 The cultural and narrative turn has had a considerable impact upon research in the social sciences as well as in the arts and humanities with Ken Plummer's Documents of Life constituting a central text in the turn towards to narrative biographical and qualitative methodologies challenging and changing the nature of research in sociology and further afield Bringing together the latest research on autobiographical and narrative methods Documents of Life Revisited offers a sympathetic yet critical engagement with Plummer's work exploring a range of different kinds of life documents and delineating a critical humanist methodology for researching and writing about these A rich examination of the methods and methodologies associated with contemporary research in the social sciences and humanities this book will be of interest to those concerned with the use and importance of biographical and narrative sources and documents of life investigations As such it will appeal to sociologists social anthropologists and geographers as well as scholars of cultural studies and cultural history literary studies and library archive and cultural management social policy and medical studies

Theory and Practice of Writing William Grabe, Robert B.

Kaplan,2014-09-25 This book undertakes a general framework within which to consider the complex nature of the writing task in English both as a first and as a second language The volume explores varieties of writing different purposes for learning to write extended text and cross cultural variation among second language writers The volume overviews textlinguistic research explores process approaches to writing discusses writing for professional purposes and contrastive rhetoric It proposes a model for text construction as well as a framework for a more general theory of writing Later chapters organised around seventy five themes for writing instruction are devoted to the teaching of writing at the beginning intermediate and advanced levels Writing assessment and other means for responding to writing are also discussed William Grabe and Robert Kaplan summarise various theoretical strands that have been recently explored by applied linguists and other writing researchers and draw these strands together into a coherent overview of the nature of written text Finally they suggest methods for the teaching of writing consistent with the nature processes and social context of writing     A

Functional Linguistic Perspective on Developing Language Anne McCabe,2021-06-23 This volume offers a comprehensive account of language development from a Systemic Functional Linguistic SFL perspective integrating theory and data from a wide range of research studies The book begins by taking an in depth look at SFL theory and its focus on texts highlighting the metafunctional nature of language and the ways in which individuals repertoires of meaning making resources develop as they interact with the world and with others Grounded in an SFL approach the successive chapters consider in turn the key stages of language development from infancy to school settings to additional second and foreign language learning contexts Each chapter incorporates a range of SFL studies to demonstrate shifts in language development across these stages but also the discussion of other functional perspectives to examine the ways in which these different approaches inform one another A concluding chapter considers the implications of these studies for future research as well as for pedagogical practices in literacy teaching In its consideration of the relationship between SFL theory and its application to language development this book will be key reading for students and scholars in Systemic Functional Linguistics language and education and literacy studies     Teaching Multiwriting Robert L. Davis,Mark F Shadle,2007-04-23

Formulaic ways to train students in composition and rhetoric are no longer effective say authors Robert L Davis and Mark F Shadle Scholar teachers must instead reinvent the field from the inside Teaching Multiwriting Researching and Composing with Multiple Genres Media Disciplines and Cultures presents just such a reinvention with multiwriting an alternative open approach to composition Seeking to open the minds of both writers and readers to new understandings the authors argue for the supplanting of the outdated research paper assignment with research projects that use multiple forms to explore questions that cannot be fully answered This innovative volume geared to composition teachers at all levels includes sixteen helpful illustrations and provides classroom exercises and projects for each chapter     Reconnecting Reading and Writing Alice S. Horning,Elizabeth W. Kraemer,2013-09-06 Reconnecting Reading and Writing explores the ways in which reading can and should have a strong role in the teaching of writing in college Reconnecting Reading and Writing draws on broad perspectives from history and international work to show how and why reading should be reunited with writing in college and high school classrooms It presents an overview of relevant research on reading and how it can best be used to support and enhance writing instruction
