Shaw McMahon, 2020-03-09 The Black Circuit Race Performance and Spectatorship in Black Popular Theatre presents the first book length study of Chitlin Circuit theatre the most popular and controversial form of Black theatre to exist outside the purview of Broadway since the 1980s Through historical and sociological research Rashida Z Shaw McMahon links the fraught racial histories in American slave plantations and early African American cuisine to the performance sites of nineteenth century minstrelsy early twentieth century vaudeville and mid twentieth century gospel musicals The Black Circuit traces this rise of a Black theatrical popular culture that exemplifies W E B Du Bois s 1926 parameters of for us near us by us and about us with critical differences that McMahon argues complicate our understanding of performance and spectatorship in African American theatre McMahon shows how an integrated and evolving network of consumerism culture circulation exchange ideologies and meaning making has emerged in the performance environments of Chitlin Circuit theatre that is reflective of the broader influences at play in acts of minority spectatorship She labels this network the Black Circuit A History of African American Theatre Errol G. theatre Though the group folded in 1949 it continued to shape American popular culture through the creative work of its many talented artists Examining oral histories playbills scripts production stills and journalistic accounts Shandell gives us the most complete picture to date of the theatre company by analyzing well known productions alongside groundbreaking and now forgotten efforts Shedding light on this often overlooked chapter of African American history which fell between the New Negro Renaissance and the Black Arts Movement Shandell reveals how the ANT became a valued community institution for Harlem an important platform for African American artists to speak to racial issues and a trailblazer in promoting integration and interracial artistic collaboration in the U S In doing so Shandell also demonstrates how a small amateur ensemble of the 1940s succeeded in challenging expanding and transforming how African Americans were portrayed in the ensuing decades The result is a fascinating and entertaining examination that will be of interest to scholars and students of African American and American studies and theatre history as well as popular culture enthusiasts The African American Theatrical Body Soyica Diggs Colbert,2011-10-06 Presenting an innovative approach to performance studies and literary history Soyica Colbert argues for the centrality of black performance traditions to African American literature including preaching dancing blues and gospel and theatre itself showing how these performance traditions create the performative ground of African American literary texts Across a century of literary production using the physical space of the theatre and the discursive space of the page W E B Du Bois Zora Neale Hurston James Baldwin August Wilson and others deploy performances to re situate black people in time and space The study examines African American plays past and present including A Raisin in the Sun Blues for Mister Charlie and Joe Turner s Come and Gone demonstrating how African American dramatists stage black performances in their plays as acts of recuperation and restoration creating sites that have the potential to repair the damage caused by slavery and its aftermath Black Frankenstein Elizabeth Young,2008-08-10 For all the scholarship devoted to Mary Shelley s English novel Frankenstein there has been surprisingly little attention paid to its role in American culture and virtually none to its racial resonances in the United States In Black Frankenstein Elizabeth Young identifies and interprets the figure of a black American Frankenstein monster as it appears with surprising frequency throughout nineteenth and twentieth century U S culture in fiction film essays oratory painting and other media and in works by both whites and African Americans Black Frankenstein stories Young argues effect four kinds of racial critique they humanize the slave they explain if not justify black violence they condemn the slaveowner and they expose the instability of white power The black Frankenstein s monster has served as a powerful metaphor for reinforcing racial hierarchy and as an even more powerful metaphor for shaping anti racist critique Illuminating the power of parody and reappropriation Black Frankenstein tells the story of a metaphor that continues to matter to literature culture aesthetics and politics African American Entertainers in Australia and New Zealand Bill Egan,2019-12-20 Eleven African Americans including a musician were among the First Fleet of colonial settlers to Australia In the 150 plus following years African Americans
