China's Urban Space Terry McGee, George C.S. Lin, Mark Wang, Andrew Marton, Jiaping Wu, 2007-10-18 China's urban growth is unparalleled in the history of global urbanization and will undoubtedly create huge challenges to China as it modernizes its society Adopting an interdisciplinary approach this book presents an overview of the radical transformation of China's urban space since the 1970s arguing that to study the Chinese urbanization process one must recognize the distinctive political economy of China After a long period as a planned socialist economy China's rapid entry into the global economy has raised suggestions that modernization in China will inevitably result in urban patterns and features like those of cities in developed market economies This book argues that this is unlikely in the short term because processes of urban transition in China must be interpreted through the lens of a unique and unprecedented juxtaposition of socialism and the market economy which is leading to distinctive patterns of Chinese urbanization Richly illustrated with maps diagrams and in depth case studies this book will be an invaluable resource to students and scholars of urban economics and policy geography and the development of China

The Education of Migrant Children and China's Future Holly H. Ming, 2013-12-17 There are more than 225 million rural to urban migrant workers and some 20 million migrant children in Chinese cities Because of policies related to the household registration hukou system migrant students are not allowed a public high school education in the cities so their urban education stops abruptly at the end of middle school This book investigates the post middle school education and labor market decisions of migrant students in Beijing and Shanghai and provides a glimpse into the future of a crucial link in China's development The stories of how these migrant students seek upward mobility and urban citizenship also reveal one of the most intricate structural inequalities in China today Based on quantitative data collected from middle schools in Beijing and Shanghai and ethnographic data drawing on in depth interviews with migrant children their parents and teachers this book offers a portrait of the migration and educational experiences and prospects of second generation migrant youth in China today It explores the urban experience of migrant students contrasting it with that of local city youngsters examining the migrant students family backgrounds family dynamics neighborhood and school experience and interaction with locals It goes on to look at the migrant students education and career aspirations the structural obstacles preventing their fulfilment and how migrant families respond to institutional constraints on educational opportunity Finally the book concludes with a discussion of policy implications and offers proposals for resolving the dilemmas of migrant youth This book will of great interest to students and scholars of Chinese studies Asian education migration and social development
