Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis, 1984-07 Inequality and Fiscal Policy Mr. Benedict J. Clements, Ruud A. de Mooij, Mr. Sanjeev Gupta, Mr. Michael Keen, 2015-09-21 The sizeable increase in income inequality experienced in advanced economies and many parts of the world since the 1990s and the severe consequences of the global economic and financial crisis have brought distributional issues to the top of the policy agenda The challenge for many governments is to address concerns over rising inequality while simultaneously promoting economic efficiency and more robust economic growth The book delves into this discussion by analyzing fiscal policy and its link with inequality Fiscal policy is the government's most powerful tool for addressing inequality It affects households consumption directly through taxes and transfers and indirectly via incentives for work and production and the provision of public goods and individual services such as education and health An important message of the book is that growth and equity are not necessarily at odds with the appropriate mix of policy instruments and careful policy design countries can in many cases achieve better distributional outcomes and improve economic efficiency Country studies on the Netherlands China India Republic of Congo and Brazil demonstrate the diversity of challenges across countries and their differing capacity to use fiscal policy for redistribution The analysis presented in the book builds on and extends work done at the IMF and also includes contributions from leading academics East Asia

Pacific at Work World Bank, 2014-05-07 The unprecedented progress of East Asia Pacific is a triumph of working people Countries that were low income a generation ago successfully integrated into the global value chain exploiting their labor cost advantage In 1990 the region held about a third of the world's labor force Leveraging this comparative advantage the share of global GDP of emerging economies in East Asia Pacific grew from 7 percent in 1992 to 17 percent in 2011 Yet the region now finds itself at a critical juncture Work and its contribution to growth and well being can no longer be taken for granted The challenges range from high youth inactivity and rising inequality to binding skills shortages A key underlying issue is economic informality which constrains innovation and productivity limits the tax base and increases household vulnerability to shocks Informality is both a consequence of stringent labor regulations and limited enforcement capacity In several countries de jure employment regulations are more stringent than in many parts of Europe Even labor regulations set at reasonable levels but poorly implemented can aggravate the market failures they were designed to overcome This report argues that the appropriate policy responses are to ensure macroeconomic stability and in particular a regulatory framework that encourages small and medium sized enterprises where most people in the region work Mainly agrarian countries should focus on raising agricultural productivity In urbanizing countries good urban planning becomes critical Pacific island countries will need to provide youth with human capital needed to succeed abroad as migrant workers And across the region it is critical to formalize more work to increase the coverage of essential social protection and to sustain productivity To this end policies should encourage mobility of labor and human capital and not favor some forms of employment for instance full time wage employment in manufacturing over others either implicitly or explicitly Policies to increase growth and well being from employment should instead reflect and support the dynamism and diversity of work forms across the region
