Rethinking EU Law-making Policy on Confiscation of the Proceeds of Crime Ariadna H. Ochonio, 2025-05-30 The book provides a critical analysis of EU law making policy on the confiscation of the proceeds of crime using a minimalist restorative approach to justice focused on the rights of victims and communities and more proactive roles for all participants in confiscation procedures This book shows how the examined policy has been translated into the EU law standards adopted as its realisation and whether the gaps identified in these standards are reflected in the domestic law of the comparator EU jurisdictions Poland Germany and France The post conviction confiscation regime in England and Wales is also explored as an example of an alternative non EU model of value based confiscation Considering the complex juridical nature of confiscation which challenges the applicability of the civil criminal dichotomy this book recommends a twofold approach when shaping EU confiscation mechanisms focused on linking policy objectives with a restorative approach to justice and making the appropriate choice of criminal or civil routes for confiscation This book will be of key interest to scholars students and practitioners in EU policy and law criminal law EU and national law on confiscation EU criminal justice policy and more broadly to European studies criminology and international organisations

Rethinking Punishment Karol Lucken, 2017-02-10 There are visible signs that the get tough era of punishment is finally winding down A get smart agenda has emerged that aims to reduce costs and crime by reducing the incarceration of non violent drug offenders expanding use of community based corrections revising sentencing structures and supporting offender re entry into the community This change in policy affords an opportunity to re-examine and challenge certain other conventions in the study and practice of punishment Each chapter of Rethinking Punishment examines a convention and posits arguments that challenge that convention and expand the conversation These arguments are based on the prior literature existing and original data and historical documents These conventions and arguments for rethinking punishment are framed accordingly Justifying Penal Policy Defining the Attributes of Punishment Measuring the Scope and Severity of Punishment Evaluating Effectiveness in Punishment Finally the author provides specific recommendations for research and policy based on these original arguments Drawing on underlying philosophical empirical and political issues and offering a critical discussion of the relationship between research policy and practice this book makes compelling and instructive reading for students taking courses in criminal justice corrections philosophy of punishment the sociology of punishment and law and justice

Revisiting the Vietnam War and International Law Stefan Andersson,2017-12-28 This collection of scholarly and critical essays about the legal aspects of the Vietnam War explores various crimes committed by the United States against North Vietnam war of aggression war crimes in bombing civilian targets such as schools and hospitals and using napalm cluster bombs and Agent Orange crimes against humanity in moving large parts of the population to so called strategic hamlets and alleged genocide and ecocide International lawyer Richard Falk who observed these acts personally in North Vietnam in 1968 uses international law to show how they came about This book brings together essays that he has written on the Vietnam War and on its relationship to international law American foreign policy and the global world order Falk argues that only a stronger adherence to international law can save the world from such future tragedies and create a sustainable world order

Revisiting Landmark Cases in Medical Law Shaun D. Pattinson,2018-09-27 Is it lawful for a doctor to give a patient life shortening pain relief Can treatment be lawfully provided to a child under 16 on the basis of her consent alone Is it lawful to remove food and water provided by tube to a patient in a vegetative state Is a woman s refusal of a caesarean section recommended for the benefit of the fetus legally decisive These questions were central to the four focal cases revisited in this book This book revisits nine landmark cases For each a new leading judgment is attributed to an imagined judge Athena who operates within the constraints of the legal system of England and Wales Her judgments accord with an innovative legal theory referred to as modified law as integrity and are linked as a line of precedent The result is a re spinning of extant judicial threads into a web of legal principles with a greater claim to coherence and defensibility than those in the original cases The book will be of great interest to scholars and students of medical law criminal law bioethics legal theory and moral philosophy

Corruption and Criminal Justice Tina Søreide, 2016-02-26 Criminal law efficiency is a concept often referred to but seldom defined Clarity the author argues is necessary for finding practical solutions to fundamental challenges in this area of law especially with the criminal justice system itself at risk Tina Søreide offers views in contrast to mainstream ideas on optimal criminal law responses to corruption with emphasis on the fundamental role of the criminal justice system in the fight against corruption and the effect this can have on other mechanisms in society Her analysis explains the concept of criminal law efficiency through economic approaches and why many criminal law responses to corruption are at risk of becoming facade strategies that may in fact facilitate corruption Corruption and Criminal Justice offers insights into the obstacles that policymakers and government advisors cannot ignore It serves as an invaluable resource for advanced students and academics interested in law economics and large corporations

Redefining The Early And Child Marriage And Reconsidering Its Elimination In Nepal Through Absolute Criminalization Laxmi Aryal, Child marriage is prevalent in South Asia as it is estimated there are 285 million child brides At present 59% of women aged 20-24 in Bangladesh were married under the age of 18 40% in Nepal and 27% in India Child marriage is regarded as one of the harmful traditional practices existing in Nepal since time immemorial Nepal aims to end child marriage by 2030 as part of its commitment to the UN Sustainable Development Goals Moreover the government of Nepal has already sanctioned a national strategy that provides an overarching framework to end child marriage At the meantime the criminal law of Nepal considers child marriage as a crime and punishes the person who performs or causes to perform child marriage This research is a part of this consortium project which was commissioned by Women Rehabilitation Center along with International Women's Rights Action Watch Asia Pacific IRAW AP and other South Asian organizations for South Asian Initiative on FIRE from July 2019 to October 2020 Also the data collection and the law review for the research report has been conducted from March 2020 to October 2020 This report aims to find out the changing trend of child marriage like either forced or self-initiated or other forms Further it also endeavors to understand the deep-rooted causes of the child marriage and its interconnectedness with the impacts it creates to the girls and boys at different levels of their livelihood family relations reproductive health and legal consequences from adolescent perspectives Finally this report focuses on to revisit the laws on absolute criminalization of the child marriage and its effectiveness on controlling the agencies' decision making and choice of adolescents regarding marriage

Revisiting Proportionality in International and European Law Ulf Linderfalk, Eduardo Gill-Pedro, 2021-05-12 This book casts new light on the application of the principle of proportionality in international law Proportionality is claimed to play a central role in governing the exercise of public power in international law and has been presented as the ultimate rule of law It has also been the subject of fierce criticism it is argued that it leads to unreflexive and arbitrary application of the law and deprives rights of their role as a firewall protecting individuals But the debate on proportionality has tended to focus on the question of how proportionality should be carried out Much less attention has been devoted to the question of who This edited volume bring together scholars from a wide range of areas of international law to consider that question whose interests are at stake when courts and other legal authorities apply the principle of proportionality In so doing this volume casts new light on the role which proportionality can play in international law in shaping and modulating the power relations between the different entities governed by it

Revisiting the Law and Governance of Trafficking, Forced Labor and Modern Slavery Prabha Kotiswaran, 2017-05-25 In the decades following the globalization of the world economy trafficking forced labor and modern slavery have emerged as significant global problems States negotiated the Palermo Protocol in 2000 under which they agreed to criminalize trafficking primarily understood as an issue of serious organized crime Sixteen years later leading academics activists and policy makers from international organizations come together in this edited volume and adopt an inter disciplinary multi stakeholder approach to revisit trafficking through the lens of labor migration and extreme exploitation and in the process rethink the law and governance of trafficking This volume considers many key factors including the evolving international law on trafficking the relationship between trafficking slavery indenture and domestic migration law and policy as well as newly emergent techniques of governance including indicators all with a view to furthering prospects for lasting economic justice in a globalized world

Race and Sentencing Roger Hood, 1992 This is the first major study to examine whether race is a factor influencing the sentences imposed in the Crown Courts in England Based on a large sample of cases it reveals a complex and disturbing pattern of racial differences in the resort to custody the lengths of sentences and the choice of alternative punishments The findings provide a challenge for considering how to eliminate the racial factor from sentencing practices
